Probers Get Time To Finish Work

Fortune Finders

Alfred Graves (bottom) and Thomas Nowak peek into the run-down residence at Yonkers, N. Y., the day after they found $33,841.25 in paper money and coins in three cake tins while exploring the old house. The money is believed to be part of the estate of the late Mrs. Agnes Edgar Bigelow, last resident of the place.

Kefauver Says No Hearings Are Planned for Period

Washington, March 30 (AP)—Senate crime probers, given an additional 30 days to finish their work, made plain today they expect to recommend some kind of continuing investigation of the underworld.

A resolution extending the committee's life through April 30 was unanimously approved in the Senate late yesterday.

Although the resolution left the committee free to operate as it has in the past, Chairman Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) and other members said no further hearings or investigations are planned in the month ahead.

Instead, after a strenuous schedule of televised public hearings, the committee is going to catch its breath and then try to hammer out recommendations for new laws.

One of the problems promised careful consideration is what should be done in the future to keep a searchlight on organized crime. Still to be decided is the best method.

Other Developments

The 30-day extension of the committee, made at the unanimous request of Kefauver and the other four members, came amid these developments:

1. President Truman gave the committee "great credit for focusing public attention on the need for ever greater efforts to stamp out crime." He said his administration has been taking "positive steps" to combat crime.

Mr. Truman's comments were made in a statement he read at a White House news conference.

2. The crime committee voted to ask the Senate to cite Frank Costello, New York racketeer and gambler, for contempt of Congress because of his refusal to disclose his net worth.

No Second Chance

3. The committee canceled previous plans for giving five balky witnesses a last chance today to escape possible contempt charges.

The five, all of whom refused at recent hearings to answer questions, include Jacob (Greasy Thumb) Guzik, reputed money-handler for Chicago's Capone mob, and Morris Kleinman and Louis Rothkopf, former Cleveland bootleggers linked by the committee with an interstate gambling syndicate.

The other two are William G. O'Brien of Chicago, involved in the committee's investigation of race wire service to Miami Beach bookies, and John Croft, who was questioned about swank gambling

$250,000 Allocated To Finance Crime Probe for State

Will Take Care of Fiscal Year for New Group, Available From Special Fund

Albany, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Governor Dewey and Republican legislative leaders today allocated $250,000 to finance the new State Crime Commission's probe into any tieups between organized crime and units of government in New York state.

The quarter-of-a-milion dollar fund will finance the commission's operations for the fiscal year beginning Sunday.

Meanwhile, Dewey's secretary, James C. Hagerty, said the five commission members who were appointed yesterday were conferring today by telephone on the selection of a counsel for their sweeping investigation into gambling and racketeering.

Confers From Sea

Former Justice Joseph M. Proskauer of the State Supreme Court, commission chairman, was in wireless communication with the other members of the commission. He is aboard the new American liner, the S.S. Independence, which will dock in New York next Wednesday after a 54-day Mediterranean cruise.

The $250,000 for the commission was made available from a contingency fund, upon the approval of a certificate of intent by three Republican legislative leaders, at Dewey's request. They are Chairman Walter J. Mahoney of the State Senate Finance Committee; Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck, and Assembly Majority Leader Lee B. Mailler.

Two other GOP legislative chiefs, Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks of the Senate and Chairman D. Mallory Stephens of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, are vacationing out of the state.

Hagerty said office space had been reserved for the commission in a state building in New York city (270 Broadway).

Charred Debris Backs Claim Plane Burned

London, March 30 (AP)—Increasing evidence that a plane with 53 U. S. airmen aboard either blew up or plunged into the Atlantic Ocean in flames was reported by search vessels today.

The U. S. Destroyer Benner said by radio it had picked up 105 splintered pieces of debris—30 per cent of them charred—over a ten-mile-wide area 600 miles southwest of Ireland.

The Daily Express said all signs "point to sabotage." The air force refused to discuss this theory officially.

U. S. Third Air Division headquarters here said a navy reserve officer aboard the Benner "has positively identified one piece of plywood as Douglas floorboard material."

The officer is a former employe of the inspection department of the Douglas Aircraft Company, which made the missing four-engined Globemaster.

The huge transport plane vanished one week ago on a flight from Limestone, Maine, to the American air base at Mildenhall, England.

New England Gets Gambling Report

Some Officials Show Lack of Cooperation, Is Society's Story

Boston, March 30 (AP)—A sweeping report on gambling in Boston and 15 other Massachusetts and New Hampshire communities, indicating reluctance of some enforcement officials to cooperate, has been released by the New England Watch and Ward Society.

Executive Secretary Dwight S. Strong released the report last night at a meeting of the semi-private organization to form a New England crime commission.

Strong told newsmen a Kefauver crime committee investigator conferred with the society in February and subpoenas had been planned for six New England gambling figures.

"They were not served because

To Ask Bids On Housing By June 1st

Arthur A. Davis, Jr., chairman of the local housing authority, said today the authority hopes to advertise for bids for the city's low rental housing project in the Flatbush avenue area on or about June 1.

Davis also announced the appointment of Boyd Williams, 192 Pine street, as executive secretary of the project until it is completed. He will be its manager upon its completion.

Williams was formerly a physical director at a Troy high school, and more recently managed the local plant of the 7-Up Company.

Architect Progresses

The authority announced following its meeting Tuesday, that architect Harry Halverson is progressing with the project plans, and Wednesday, Davis with George E. Yerry, Jr., a member of the authority, with Williams and Halverson, had a day-long conference with state officials in New York, and it was then indicated that the local project will not be seriously affected by shortages of essential materials.

France Complains Of Her Omission From Defense Talk

Schuman Sees Acheson for 70 Minutes at Capital—Says They Agree

Washington, March 30 (AP)—France complained officially to the United States today against being left out of British-American defense meetings in the Mediterranean.

French Foreign Minister Schuman, who is here with President Auriol, personally lodged the protest during a 70-minute talk at the State Department with Secretary Acheson.

Schuman is reported to have asked for an explanation why France was excluded from a number of strategy conferences on the island of Malta. He also made it clear, officials said, France wants to be invited to all future meetings if France is to cooperate fully in other western defense plans.

No Decision Reached

Talking to reporters afterward, Schuman said "we have reached no decision but we didn't intend to at this meeting."

He described the talk with Acheson as "an exchange of views" which resulted in "complete agreement" as to the problems involved in the Mediterranean.

Schuman made it plain, however, the United States has given no promises about inviting France to Mediterranean meetings yet. He said he might talk again with Acheson before he leaves here Monday.

Two Ships Collide

New York, March 30 (AP)—Two freighters collided in dense fog and rain off the New Jersey coast near dawn today. The coast guard said the collision, about 20 miles northeast of Atlantic City, involved the 5,690-ton Isthmian freighter Steel Inventor and the 2,709-ton Danish freighter Astra. Early reports said the Astra has settled astern, and that her crew had left her, and boarded the Inventor. No injuries were reported. The coast guard cutter Tamaroa left New York for the scene. Two 36-foot motor lifeboats from the lifeboat station at Beachhaven, N. J., also are headed for the area. Efforts may be made to reboard the Astra, the coast guard said.

Senate Acts To Get Ships Deal Report

Halsey and Stettinius Are Named Among Those Profiting From Matter

Inquiry to Start

Johnson Will Begin Investigation Into Transaction

Washington, March 30 (AP)—Investigating senators moved today to air fully a profitable deal in war surplus ships into which the names of Admiral William F. (Bull) Halsey and the late former Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., have been injected.

The two and Julius C. Holmes, minister and counselor at the U. S. Embassy in London, were identified last night as members of a group which engineered the deal.

Two Senate committees promptly announced they may call Joseph E. Casey, former Democratic congressman from Massachusetts and a leader of the group, for questioning. Casey refused on Wednesday to give the names of his associates to a banking subcommittee.

Neither that group nor the Senate Commerce Committee, which is also interested, has said there was anything improper about the deal.

Senator Fulbright (D.-Ark.), who heads the banking subcommittee, said he is curious about Casey's testimony at a March 12 hearing that he could not recall the names of his associates in the transaction. Recalled Wednesday, he declined to name them.

Johnson Will Probe

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Colo.), who heads the commerce committee, said he plans to start a new and separate inquiry into the transaction. Senator Bricker (R.-Ohio) proposed yesterday that the Senate put up $50,000 to finance Johnson's committee in a searching study of all surplus ship sales by the old maritime commission.

The maritime administration, successor to the maritime commission, last night disclosed the names of 17 associates of Casey in the transaction.

The others, it said, were E. Stanley Klein, New York broker; W. N. Westerlund, president of the Maritime Transport Lines; F. Williard Bergen, F. M. Bynum, Ellis Knowles, Charles Bosak, F. A. Dwyer, J. C. Ennis, C. D. Hawthorne, W. J. Hawthorne, Harold J. Maass, Roland T. Reid, Fred Barrett and F. J. Schmitt.

Peace Justice Held For Grand Jury

Arthur Greiner, 50, Marlborough justice of the peace who was arrested March 19 on a second degree assault charge, waived examination and was ordered held for grand jury when he was araigned before Justice of the Peace Fred Woolsey of Milton Thursday afternoon. Greiner was released on $2,000 bail.

The complaint against Greiner was signed by Wilfred Minus, 29, of Marlborough, who alleged he and Mary Williams, 27, were struck in the legs by pellets from a shotgun which Minus said was fired by Greiner early Monday morning, March 19. Minus and Miss Williams were treated at St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh following the incident.

Greiner told troopers he fired the gun at the ground "to quell a disturbance" on his farm two miles west of Marlborough village. Reports indicated the pellets may have ricocheted.

The schooner Tropicair, carrying this decorative crew, was found off the coast of St. Petersburg, Fla., after being the object of a widespread search. The craft had been missing in the Caribbean since March 24. On the vessel were, front row, left to right, Dottie Sherrill; Bety Gilchrist; Myrna Bibb and Marian Hall. Back row, left to right, are Pat Fenner; Helen Hobbs, Captain Le Hederman; Janice Kaufman and Clarice Willis. (NEA Telephoto).

Mother-in-Law of Perjurer Remington Held at Airport

Charge Is She Failed to Register as Foreign Agent in America

New York, March 30 (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Moos, former mother-in-law of convicted perjurer William W. Remington, was taken into custody today on arriving here by plane from France. She is accused of failing to register as a foreign agent.

She was one of five officers of the former Peace Information Center. The four other officers have been placed under $1,000 bail each on the same charge.

Mrs. Moos was taken into custody by U. S. Marshal Eugene J. Smith as she stepped from an air France plane at International Airport.

She was to be arraigned later today before a U. S. commissioner.

Bail Is $1,000

Mrs. Moos was taken before U. S. Commissioner Edward E. Fay in Brooklyn and released in $1,000 bail pending arraignment in Washington, D. C., Federal Court on Monday.

Remington recently was sentenced to serve five years on a charge that he committed perjury in denying before a grand jury that he ever was a Communist.

His divorced wife—daughter of Mrs. Moos—was a prosecution witness.

Mrs. Moos, who lives at Croton-on-Hudson, was met at the airport by her attorney, Gloria Agren.

She said Mrs. Moos, who had been in Europe since last June, returned voluntarily to face the indictment. Miss Agren said the offense was not extraditable.

BPW Gets Reports On Land, Brewery

Florence Street Is Due for Extension; Old Building Unsafe

The Board of Public Works yesterday moved for conveyance of lands to the city as a step toward extending Florence street as proposed several months ago.

Other action by the board would correct conditions at the partly razed structure on the former Barmann brewery property and would improve the trees in Academy Green Park, if money for that purpose is found available.

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan, reporting on his investigation of the lands owned by Helen H. Garabrant which are needed for the extension of Florence street suggested that the board recommend acceptance of the deed by the Common Council.

Before his report to the board, the engineer said, he had "examined and investigated the abstract of title of 132 documents," the results of which were shown on a map submitted with his report.

A parcel owned by Mary E. Moran which is partly in the area of the proposed street extension could be acquired in the future if circumstances warrant such action, he suggested. The deed for the land is the third one offered in the effort to have the street extended. The others lacked the required details.

The board also acted favorably on the city engineer's recommendation that a deed offered by Harold and Viola Halwick for the widening of Wilson avenue and Colfax place, also be approved. The width of the 25-foot streets would be doubled.

Report on Brewery

The special committee appointed last month to investigate complaints against the former Barmann brewery property said it found that the roof and a large portion of three sides of the structure had been removed, leaving one wall with floors and structural supports standing.

The first floor and land near it is covered with debris, the report said, and there are open pits or cellars at ground level. Vegetation and small trees grow out of the remaining wall.

It was the committee's opinion that "while the remaining portion of the building is not in a state of imminent collapse, there is no certainty as to damage to the remaining portion caused by the previous removal operations, nor effect of continued weathering on exposed structural members. Some damage has occurred and the structure is weakened by some damage of tie walls and supports."

Because of the vegetation, debris and rubble, it said, the partially razed building can be classified as being in a "ruinous condition."

Although it is private property, the report said, it is dangerous to children, and it recommended that the owner be ordered to take such

Local Area Offices Can Speak Only Through Headquarters to Papers

A routine check on rainfall disclosed this morning that New York city's Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity offices have received strict orders not to give out information of any kind to the press.

Following a steady rain yesterday and today, Ulster county streams and creeks were reported swollen but not up to flood stage by noon today, according to several residents contacted.

Oliverea Man, 51, Escapes Wreck by Kicking Out Glass

Louis Combe, 51, Oliverea boarding house operator, escaped from his suburban car by kicking out its windshield after it had plunged 20 feet from the Oliverea road into the stream at 7:20 p. m. Thursday, Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police reported. Combe was apparently uninjured, Dunn said.

Combe told Cpl. Dunn that he was traveling on the road toward his boarding house when an unknown vehicle with bright headlights sideswiped his car and forced him over the side of the road and down the embankment. The Combe vehicle came to rest with its front end in the water of the stream, Dunn said.

An alarm was sent out to state police units to look for the alleged hit-run vehicle, but no trace of it was reported after an all-night alert.

30,000 Men Moved Up By Chinese

Air Spotters See 2,000 Vehicles Jamming Red Transport Lanes as Offensive Buildup

Rains Are Heavy

Korean Countryside Is Turned Into Vast Quagmire

Tokyo, March 30 (AP)—American big guns today stalled the first Chinese Red counterthrust in six weeks along the western Korean battlefront.

Doughboys spotted the Chinese moving along a mountain trail north of Uijonbu. U. S. artillery pounded the mountain and by dusk the Reds still had not pushed through the curtain of fire.

Bitter, close-range fighting flared all day throughout the area. The Americans won a commanding hill with a hand-grenade attack that rocked the Reds back on their heels.

The fury of Communist attacks forced allied troops to give ground at several points along the front just south of the Red Korean border.

The Reds have moved 30,000 fresh troops into the front. Long lines of vehicles rushed Communist troops and supplies toward the battlefront.

2,000 Vehicles Seen

Allied air spotters Thursday night tallied 2,000 Red vehicles—the largest count of the war—jamming the Red Korean transport network.

The Communists appear to be massing troops and supplies for a spring offensive. Allied commanders predict the Reds will hit during the first three weeks of April. Seasonal rains turn the Korean countryside into a vast quagmire during that period. Deep mud would bog down U.N. armor.

There was every sign the Reds had stopped their retreat and would make a stand along the Red Korean border.

American troops on the east central front moved closer to the border than they have ever been on their present drive.

They met no opposition. Censorship withheld the distance.

Pullbacks Made

Field dispatches said allied forces made fighting pullbacks in a few areas of the western and central fronts.

The Reds poured heavy artillery fire into allied lines on the central front. Patrol clashes flared all along the battleline.

About 70 American and Russian-built jet fighter planes clashed over North Korea Friday in two separate high-altitude dogfights. U. S. pilots claimed at least one Red jet destroyed and two others damaged. There was no damage to American planes.

The Red infantry was poised along a 60-mile front.

The U. S. Eighth Army command says the Reds at any moment can throw nine rested or fresh corps—some 270,000 men—into a new drive.

If they do, it would be their greatest smash of the war.

But A.P. Correspondent Leif Erickson reported that Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's Eighth Army is in the best position of the war to absorb the shock of a major Red drive.

The Eighth Army holds strong positions just south of 38 on the western and central fronts. Some of its South Korean units are eight miles north of the border on the eastern front.

South Gets Floods

(By The Associated Press)

Two days of tremendous rains have sent floodwaters swirling over thousands of acres in the Deep South and brought huge damage to highways, farms, and homes. Alabama was hit hardest. Two persons drowned in Mississippi. North Georgia braced for the impact of rampant rivers. Louisiana was soaked. In west Alabama two rivers with big-shot names—the Tombigbee and the Warrior—sent lowlanders scurrying to high ground. Much livestock was reported drowned. Far reaches of rich farmland were lapped by muddy waters, and farmers counted among their losses the certain delay in spring planting.

Government Expects to Get Balanced Budget for 1951

Washington, March 30 (AP)—The first balanced budget in three years and—better still—the second biggest surplus in history is virtually in the bag for fiscal 1951, now just three months from its end.

Some government officials said privately today fiscal 1951 shows signs of ending June 30 in a surplus approximating $2,700,000,000—the size of the deficit President Truman predicted for this year in mid-January.

That indicates a whopping $5,000,000,000 or more improvements in the budget outlook in less than three months.

Combining to produce this phenomenal turnabout are (1) a flood of tax receipts far greater than expectations and (2) lighter than expected expenditures, chiefly due to lagging deliveries on orders for military supplies.

The same factors give promise of cutting perhaps as much as $3,000,000,000 off the $16,500,000,000 deficit forecast by President Truman in January for fiscal 1952, starting next July 1, some government officials believe.

That is likely to mean the administration's tax program will find the going harder than ever in Congress, which has taken no action thus far on even the first part of a two-round tax increase President Truman suggested for this year.

Lawmakers Disagree Over Statement By President on His Plans for 1952

Washington, March 30 (AP) — President Truman's announcement that he has decided what he is going to do in 1952 left lawmakers disagreeing today on whether he will run again.

Mr. Truman told a White House news conference yesterday he has made a decision but is keeping it to himself until he is ready to let the secret out.

The way he said it and the firmness with which he indicated the decision had been made, led some influential Democratic politicians to believe that, as of now, the President won't be a candidate for reelection next year.

Republicans in Congress seemed generally to think that they have Mr. Truman's political goose cooked. Only a few of them believed he will run again.

However, Senator Murray (D.-Mont.) told a reporter "these daily attacks on the President are likely to boomerang like they did in 1948."

"The people of the country don't like to see a man persecuted," he said. "Harry Truman may or may not make mistakes in judgment but he is honest and sincere and is trying to serve his country the best he can."

Senator Bricker (R.-Ohio) said he doesn't think Mr. Truman will run. He discounted a prediction by Undersecretary of Labor Michael J. Galvin in Lancaster, Ohio, last night that Mr. Truman will win reelection next year by 56 per cent of the popular vote.

"God pity the American people if that happens," Bricker said.

The Galvin forecast, contained in a speech draft circulated by the Democratic National Committee, had no advance sanction from the White House, Mr. Truman said. He said it was a nice prediction but he couldn't comment on it, because he hadn't seen it.

When reporters asked about his plans, the President said that I know what I am going to do and in due time I'll tell you about it.

There wasn't any rush about it, Mr. Truman said, because the national nominating conventions don't meet until June or July of next year.

He added that the President will have something to say about the Democratic convention just as he did last time.

The President left up in the air the possibility that he may make a whistle stop tour this spring or summer to defend his administration, under attack now in connection with the senatorial inquiry into alleged White House influence on Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans.

The President bristled when a

Two Senate committees promptly announced they may call Joseph E. Casey, former Democratic congressman from Massachusetts and a leader of the group, for questioning. Casey refused on Wednesday to give the names of his associates to a banking subcommittee.

Neither that group nor the Senate Commerce Committee, which is also interested, has said there was anything improper about the deal.

Senator Fulbright (D.-Ark.), who heads the banking subcommittee, said he is curious about Casey's testimony at a March 12 hearing that he could not recall the names of his associates in the transaction. Recalled Wednesday, he declined to name them.

Johnson Will Probe

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Colo.), who heads the commerce committee, said he plans to start a new and separate inquiry into the transaction. Senator Bricker (R.-Ohio) proposed yesterday that the Senate put up $50,000 to finance Johnson's committee in a searching study of all surplus ship sales by the old maritime commission.

The maritime administration, successor to the maritime commission, last night disclosed the names of 17 associates of Casey in the transaction.

The others, it said, were E. Stanley Klein, New York broker; W. N. Westerlund, president of the Maritime Transport Lines; F. Williard Bergen, F. M. Bynum, Ellis Knowles, Charles Bosak, F. A. Dwyer, J. C. Ennis, C. D. Hawthorne, W. J. Hawthorne, Harold J. Maass, Roland T. Reid, Fred Barrett and F. J. Schmitt.

Peace Justice Held For Grand Jury

Arthur Greiner, 50, Marlborough justice of the peace who was arrested March 19 on a second degree assault charge, waived examination and was ordered held for grand jury when he was araigned before Justice of the Peace Fred Woolsey of Milton Thursday afternoon. Greiner was released on $2,000 bail.

The complaint against Greiner was signed by Wilfred Minus, 29, of Marlborough, who alleged he and Mary Williams, 27, were struck in the legs by pellets from a shotgun which Minus said was fired by Greiner early Monday morning, March 19. Minus and Miss Williams were treated at St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh following the incident.

Greiner told troopers he fired the gun at the ground "to quell a disturbance" on his farm two miles west of Marlborough village. Reports indicated the pellets may have ricocheted.

Mother-in-Law of Perjurer Remington Held at Airport

Charge Is She Failed to Register as Foreign Agent in America

New York, March 30 (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Moos, former mother-in-law of convicted perjurer William W. Remington, was taken into custody today on arriving here by plane from France. She is accused of failing to register as a foreign agent.

She was one of five officers of the former Peace Information Center. The four other officers have been placed under $1,000 bail each on the same charge.

Mrs. Moos was taken into custody by U. S. Marshal Eugene J. Smith as she stepped from an air France plane at International Airport.

She was to be arraigned later today before a U. S. commissioner.

Bail Is $1,000

Mrs. Moos was taken before U. S. Commissioner Edward E. Fay in Brooklyn and released in $1,000 bail pending arraignment in Washington, D. C., Federal Court on Monday.

Remington recently was sentenced to serve five years on a charge that he committed perjury in denying before a grand jury that he ever was a Communist.

His divorced wife—daughter of Mrs. Moos—was a prosecution witness.

Mrs. Moos, who lives at Croton-on-Hudson, was met at the airport by her attorney, Gloria Agren.

She said Mrs. Moos, who had been in Europe since last June, returned voluntarily to face the indictment. Miss Agren said the offense was not extraditable.

BPW Gets Reports On Land, Brewery

Florence Street Is Due for Extension; Old Building Unsafe

The Board of Public Works yesterday moved for conveyance of lands to the city as a step toward extending Florence street as proposed several months ago.

Other action by the board would correct conditions at the partly razed structure on the former Barmann brewery property and would improve the trees in Academy Green Park, if money for that purpose is found available.

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan, reporting on his investigation of the lands owned by Helen H. Garabrant which are needed for the extension of Florence street suggested that the board recommend acceptance of the deed by the Common Council.

Before his report to the board, the engineer said, he had "examined and investigated the abstract of title of 132 documents," the results of which were shown on a map submitted with his report.

A parcel owned by Mary E. Moran which is partly in the area of the proposed street extension could be acquired in the future if circumstances warrant such action, he suggested. The deed for the land is the third one offered in the effort to have the street extended. The others lacked the required details.

The board also acted favorably on the city engineer's recommendation that a deed offered by Harold and Viola Halwick for the widening of Wilson avenue and Colfax place, also be approved. The width of the 25-foot streets would be doubled.

Report on Brewery

The special committee appointed last month to investigate complaints against the former Barmann brewery property said it found that the roof and a large portion of three sides of the structure had been removed, leaving one wall with floors and structural supports standing.

The first floor and land near it is covered with debris, the report said, and there are open pits or cellars at ground level. Vegetation and small trees grow out of the remaining wall.

It was the committee's opinion that "while the remaining portion of the building is not in a state of imminent collapse, there is no certainty as to damage to the remaining portion caused by the previous removal operations, nor effect of continued weathering on exposed structural members. Some damage has occurred and the structure is weakened by some damage of tie walls and supports."

Because of the vegetation, debris and rubble, it said, the partially razed building can be classified as being in a "ruinous condition."

Although it is private property, the report said, it is dangerous to children, and it recommended that the owner be ordered to take such

Oliverea Man, 51, Escapes Wreck by Kicking Out Glass

Louis Combe, 51, Oliverea boarding house operator, escaped from his suburban car by kicking out its windshield after it had plunged 20 feet from the Oliverea road into the stream at 7:20 p. m. Thursday, Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police reported. Combe was apparently uninjured, Dunn said.

Combe told Cpl. Dunn that he was traveling on the road toward his boarding house when an unknown vehicle with bright headlights sideswiped his car and forced him over the side of the road and down the embankment. The Combe vehicle came to rest with its front end in the water of the stream, Dunn said.

An alarm was sent out to state police units to look for the alleged hit-run vehicle, but no trace of it was reported after an all-night alert.

30,000 Men Moved Up By Chinese

Rains Are Heavy

Korean Countryside Is Turned Into Vast Quagmire

Tokyo, March 30 (AP)—American big guns today stalled the first Chinese Red counterthrust in six weeks along the western Korean battlefront.

Doughboys spotted the Chinese moving along a mountain trail north of Uijonbu. U. S. artillery pounded the mountain and by dusk the Reds still had not pushed through the curtain of fire.

Bitter, close-range fighting flared all day throughout the area. The Americans won a commanding hill with a hand-grenade attack that rocked the Reds back on their heels.

The fury of Communist attacks forced allied troops to give ground at several points along the front just south of the Red Korean border.

The Reds have moved 30,000 fresh troops into the front. Long lines of vehicles rushed Communist troops and supplies toward the battlefront.

2,000 Vehicles Seen

Allied air spotters Thursday night tallied 2,000 Red vehicles—the largest count of the war—jamming the Red Korean transport network.

The Communists appear to be massing troops and supplies for a spring offensive. Allied commanders predict the Reds will hit during the first three weeks of April. Seasonal rains turn the Korean countryside into a vast quagmire during that period. Deep mud would bog down U.N. armor.

There was every sign the Reds had stopped their retreat and would make a stand along the Red Korean border.

American troops on the east central front moved closer to the border than they have ever been on their present drive.

They met no opposition. Censorship withheld the distance.

Pullbacks Made

Field dispatches said allied forces made fighting pullbacks in a few areas of the western and central fronts.

The Reds poured heavy artillery fire into allied lines on the central front. Patrol clashes flared all along the battleline.

About 70 American and Russian-built jet fighter planes clashed over North Korea Friday in two separate high-altitude dogfights. U. S. pilots claimed at least one Red jet destroyed and two others damaged. There was no damage to American planes.

The Red infantry was poised along a 60-mile front.

The U. S. Eighth Army command says the Reds at any moment can throw nine rested or fresh corps—some 270,000 men—into a new drive.

If they do, it would be their greatest smash of the war.

But A.P. Correspondent Leif Erickson reported that Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's Eighth Army is in the best position of the war to absorb the shock of a major Red drive.

The Eighth Army holds strong positions just south of 38 on the western and central fronts. Some of its South Korean units are eight miles north of the border on the eastern front.

Lawmakers Disagree Over Statement By President on His Plans for 1952

Washington, March 30 (AP) —President Truman's announcement that he has decided what he is going to do in 1952 left lawmakers disagreeing today on whether he will run again.

Mr. Truman told a White House news conference yesterday he has made a decision but is keeping it to himself until he is ready to let the secret out.

The way he said it and the firmness with which he indicated the decision had been made, led some influential Democratic politicians to believe that, as of now, the President won't be a candidate for reelection next year.

Republicans in Congress seemed generally to think that they have Mr. Truman's political goose cooked. Only a few of them believed he will run again.

However, Senator Murray (D.-Mont.) told a reporter "these daily attacks on the President are likely to boomerang like they did in 1948."

"The people of the country don't like to see a man persecuted," he said. "Harry Truman may or may not make mistakes in judgment but he is honest and sincere and is trying to serve his country the best he can."

Senator Bricker (R.-Ohio) said he doesn't think Mr. Truman will run. He discounted a prediction by Undersecretary of Labor Michael J. Galvin in Lancaster, Ohio, last night that Mr. Truman will win reelection next year by 56 per cent of the popular vote.

"God pity the American people if that happens," Bricker said.

The Galvin forecast, contained in a speech draft circulated by the Democratic National Committee, had no advance sanction from the White House, Mr. Truman said. He said it was a nice prediction but he couldn't comment on it, because he hadn't seen it.

When reporters asked about his plans, the President said that I know what I am going to do and in due time I'll tell you about it.

There wasn't any rush about it, Mr. Truman said, because the national nominating conventions don't meet until June or July of next year.

He added that the President will have something to say about the Democratic convention just as he did last time.

The President left up in the air the possibility that he may make a whistle stop tour this spring or summer to defend his administration, under attack now in connection with the senatorial inquiry into alleged White House influence on Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans.

Government Expects to Get Balanced Budget for 1951

Washington, March 30 (AP)—The first balanced budget in three years and—better still—the second biggest surplus in history is virtually in the bag for fiscal 1951, now just three months from its end.

Some government officials said privately today fiscal 1951 shows signs of ending June 30 in a surplus approximating $2,700,000,000—the size of the deficit President Truman predicted for this year in mid-January.

That indicates a whopping $5,000,000,000 or more improvements in the budget outlook in less than three months.

Combining to produce this phenomenal turnabout are (1) a flood of tax receipts far greater than expectations and (2) lighter than expected expenditures, chiefly due to lagging deliveries on orders for military supplies.

The same factors give promise of cutting perhaps as much as $3,000,000,000 off the $16,500,000,000 deficit forecast by President Truman in January for fiscal 1952, starting next July 1, some government officials believe.

That is likely to mean the administration's tax program will find the going harder than ever in Congress, which has taken no action thus far on even the first part of a two-round tax increase President Truman suggested for this year.

Probers Get Time To Finish Work

Kefauver Says No Hearings Are Planned for Period

Washington, March 30 (AP)—Senate crime probers, given an additional 30 days to finish their work, made plain today they expect to recommend some kind of continuing investigation of the underworld.

A resolution extending the committee's life through April 30 was unanimously approved in the Senate late yesterday.

Although the resolution left the committee free to operate as it has in the past, Chairman Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) and other members said no further hearings or investigations are planned in the month ahead.

Instead, after a strenuous schedule of televised public hearings, the committee is going to catch its breath and then try to hammer out recommendations for new laws.

One of the problems promised careful consideration is what should be done in the future to keep a searchlight on organized crime. Still to be decided is the best method.

Other Developments

The 30-day extension of the committee, made at the unanimous request of Kefauver and the other four members, came amid these developments:

1. President Truman gave the committee "great credit for focusing public attention on the need for ever greater efforts to stamp out crime." He said his administration has been taking "positive steps" to combat crime.

Mr. Truman's comments were made in a statement he read at a White House news conference.

2. The crime committee voted to ask the Senate to cite Frank Costello, New York racketeer and gambler, for contempt of Congress because of his refusal to disclose his net worth.

No Second Chance

3. The committee canceled previous plans for giving five balky witnesses a last chance today to escape possible contempt charges.

The five, all of whom refused at recent hearings to answer questions, include Jacob (Greasy Thumb) Guzik, reputed money-handler for Chicago's Capone mob, and Morris Kleinman and Louis Rothkopf, former Cleveland bootleggers linked by the committee with an interstate gambling syndicate.

The other two are William G. O'Brien of Chicago, involved in the committee's investigation of race wire service to Miami Beach bookies, and John Croft, who was questioned about swank gambling

$250,000 Allocated To Finance Crime Probe for State

Will Take Care of Fiscal Year for New Group, Available From Special Fund

Albany, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Governor Dewey and Republican legislative leaders today allocated $250,000 to finance the new State Crime Commission's probe into any tieups between organized crime and units of government in New York state.

The quarter-of-a-milion dollar fund will finance the commission's operations for the fiscal year beginning Sunday.

Meanwhile, Dewey's secretary, James C. Hagerty, said the five commission members who were appointed yesterday were conferring today by telephone on the selection of a counsel for their sweeping investigation into gambling and racketeering.

Confers From Sea

Former Justice Joseph M. Proskauer of the State Supreme Court, commission chairman, was in wireless communication with the other members of the commission. He is aboard the new American liner, the S.S. Independence, which will dock in New York next Wednesday after a 54-day Mediterranean cruise.

The $250,000 for the commission was made available from a contingency fund, upon the approval of a certificate of intent by three Republican legislative leaders, at Dewey's request. They are Chairman Walter J. Mahoney of the State Senate Finance Committee; Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck, and Assembly Majority Leader Lee B. Mailler.

Two other GOP legislative chiefs, Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks of the Senate and Chairman D. Mallory Stephens of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, are vacationing out of the state.

Hagerty said office space had been reserved for the commission in a state building in New York city (270 Broadway).

Charred Debris Backs Claim Plane Burned

London, March 30 (AP)—Increasing evidence that a plane with 53 U. S. airmen aboard either blew up or plunged into the Atlantic Ocean in flames was reported by search vessels today.

The U. S. Destroyer Benner said by radio it had picked up 105 splintered pieces of debris—30 per cent of them charred—over a ten-mile-wide area 600 miles southwest of Ireland.

The Daily Express said all signs "point to sabotage." The air force refused to discuss this theory officially.

U. S. Third Air Division headquarters here said a navy reserve officer aboard the Benner "has positively identified one piece of plywood as Douglas floorboard material."

The officer is a former employe of the inspection department of the Douglas Aircraft Company, which made the missing four-engined Globemaster.

The huge transport plane vanished one week ago on a flight from Limestone, Maine, to the American air base at Mildenhall, England.

New England Gets Gambling Report

Some Officials Show Lack of Cooperation, Is Society's Story

Boston, March 30 (AP)—A sweeping report on gambling in Boston and 15 other Massachusetts and New Hampshire communities, indicating reluctance of some enforcement officials to cooperate, has been released by the New England Watch and Ward Society.

Executive Secretary Dwight S. Strong released the report last night at a meeting of the semi-private organization to form a New England crime commission.

Strong told newsmen a Kefauver crime committee investigator conferred with the society in February and subpoenas had been planned for six New England gambling figures.

"They were not served because

To Ask Bids On Housing By June 1st

Arthur A. Davis, Jr., chairman of the local housing authority, said today the authority hopes to advertise for bids for the city's low rental housing project in the Flatbush avenue area on or about June 1.

Davis also announced the appointment of Boyd Williams, 192 Pine street, as executive secretary of the project until it is completed. He will be its manager upon its completion.

Williams was formerly a physical director at a Troy high school, and more recently managed the local plant of the 7-Up Company.

Architect Progresses

The authority announced following its meeting Tuesday, that architect Harry Halverson is progressing with the project plans, and Wednesday, Davis with George E. Yerry, Jr., a member of the authority, with Williams and Halverson, had a day-long conference with state officials in New York, and it was then indicated that the local project will not be seriously affected by shortages of essential materials.

France Complains Of Her Omission From Defense Talk

Schuman Sees Acheson for 70 Minutes at Capital—Says They Agree

Washington, March 30 (AP)—France complained officially to the United States today against being left out of British-American defense meetings in the Mediterranean.

French Foreign Minister Schuman, who is here with President Auriol, personally lodged the protest during a 70-minute talk at the State Department with Secretary Acheson.

Schuman is reported to have asked for an explanation why France was excluded from a number of strategy conferences on the island of Malta. He also made it clear, officials said, France wants to be invited to all future meetings if France is to cooperate fully in other western defense plans.

No Decision Reached

Talking to reporters afterward, Schuman said "we have reached no decision but we didn't intend to at this meeting."

He described the talk with Acheson as "an exchange of views" which resulted in "complete agreement" as to the problems involved in the Mediterranean.

Schuman made it plain, however, the United States has given no promises about inviting France to Mediterranean meetings yet. He said he might talk again with Acheson before he leaves here Monday.

Two Ships Collide

New York, March 30 (AP)—Two freighters collided in dense fog and rain off the New Jersey coast near dawn today. The coast guard said the collision, about 20 miles northeast of Atlantic City, involved the 5,690-ton Isthmian freighter Steel Inventor and the 2,709-ton Danish freighter Astra. Early reports said the Astra has settled astern, and that her crew had left her, and boarded the Inventor. No injuries were reported. The coast guard cutter Tamaroa left New York for the scene. Two 36-foot motor lifeboats from the lifeboat station at Beachhaven, N. J., also are headed for the area. Efforts may be made to reboard the Astra, the coast guard said.

Washington, March 30 (AP)—Investigating senators moved today to air fully a profitable deal in war surplus ships into which the names of Admiral William F. (Bull) Halsey and the late former Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., have been injected.

The two and Julius C. Holmes, minister and counselor at the U. S. Embassy in London, were identified last night as members of a group which engineered the deal.

BPW Gets Reports On Land, Brewery

Florence Street Is Due for Extension; Old Building Unsafe

The Board of Public Works yesterday moved for conveyance of lands to the city as a step toward extending Florence street as proposed several months ago.

Other action by the board would correct conditions at the partly razed structure on the former Barmann brewery property and would improve the trees in Academy Green Park, if money for that purpose is found available.

City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan, reporting on his investigation of the lands owned by Helen H. Garabrant which are needed for the extension of Florence street suggested that the board recommend acceptance of the deed by the Common Council.

Before his report to the board, the engineer said, he had "examined and investigated the abstract of title of 132 documents," the results of which were shown on a map submitted with his report.

A parcel owned by Mary E. Moran which is partly in the area of the proposed street extension could be acquired in the future if circumstances warrant such action, he suggested. The deed for the land is the third one offered in the effort to have the street extended. The others lacked the required details.

The board also acted favorably on the city engineer's recommendation that a deed offered by Harold and Viola Halwick for the widening of Wilson avenue and Colfax place, also be approved. The width of the 25-foot streets would be doubled.

Report on Brewery

The special committee appointed last month to investigate complaints against the former Barmann brewery property said it found that the roof and a large portion of three sides of the structure had been removed, leaving one wall with floors and structural supports standing.

The first floor and land near it is covered with debris, the report said, and there are open pits or cellars at ground level. Vegetation and small trees grow out of the remaining wall.

It was the committee's opinion that "while the remaining portion of the building is not in a state of imminent collapse, there is no certainty as to damage to the remaining portion caused by the previous removal operations, nor effect of continued weathering on exposed structural members. Some damage has occurred and the structure is weakened by some damage of tie walls and supports."

Because of the vegetation, debris and rubble, it said, the partially razed building can be classified as being in a "ruinous condition."

New York Boycotts Press on News of Water Conditions

Local Area Offices Can Speak Only Through Headquarters to Papers

A routine check on rainfall disclosed this morning that New York city's Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity offices have received strict orders not to give out information of any kind to the press.

Following a steady rain yesterday and today, Ulster county streams and creeks were reported swollen but not up to flood stage by noon today, according to several residents contacted.

In similar situations in the past,

Oliverea Man, 51, Escapes Wreck by Kicking Out Glass

Louis Combe, 51, Oliverea boarding house operator, escaped from his suburban car by kicking out its windshield after it had plunged 20 feet from the Oliverea road into the stream at 7:20 p. m. Thursday, Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police reported. Combe was apparently uninjured, Dunn said.

Combe told Cpl. Dunn that he was traveling on the road toward his boarding house when an unknown vehicle with bright headlights sideswiped his car and forced him over the side of the road and down the embankment. The Combe vehicle came to rest with its front end in the water of the stream, Dunn said.

An alarm was sent out to state police units to look for the alleged hit-run vehicle, but no trace of it was reported after an all-night alert.

Lawmakers Disagree Over Statement By President on His Plans for 1952

Washington, March 30 (AP)—President Truman's announcement that he has decided what he is going to do in 1952 left lawmakers disagreeing today on whether he will run again.

Mr. Truman told a White House news conference yesterday he has made a decision but is keeping it to himself until he is ready to let the secret out.

The way he said it and the firmness with which he indicated the decision had been made, led some influential Democratic politicians to believe that, as of now, the President won't be a candidate for reelection next year.

Republicans in Congress seemed generally to think that they have Mr. Truman's political goose cooked. Only a few of them believed he will run again.

However, Senator Murray (D.-Mont.) told a reporter "these daily attacks on the President are likely to boomerang like they did in 1948."

"The people of the country don't like to see a man persecuted," he said. "Harry Truman may or may not make mistakes in judgment but he is honest and sincere and is trying to serve his country the best he can."

Senator Bricker (R.-Ohio) said he doesn't think Mr. Truman will run. He discounted a prediction by Undersecretary of Labor Michael J. Galvin in Lancaster, Ohio, last night that Mr. Truman will win reelection next year by 56 per cent of the popular vote.

"God pity the American people if that happens," Bricker said.

The Galvin forecast, contained in a speech draft circulated by the Democratic National Committee, had no advance sanction from the White House, Mr. Truman said. He said it was a nice prediction but he couldn't comment on it, because he hadn't seen it.

When reporters asked about his plans, the President said that I know what I am going to do and in due time I'll tell you about it.

There wasn't any rush about it, Mr. Truman said, because the national nominating conventions don't meet until June or July of next year.

He added that the President will have something to say about the Democratic convention just as he did last time.

The President left up in the air the possibility that he may make a whistle stop tour this spring or summer to defend his administration, under attack now in connection with the senatorial inquiry into alleged White House influence on Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans.

Government Expects to Get Balanced Budget for 1951

Washington, March 30 (AP)—The first balanced budget in three years and—better still—the second biggest surplus in history is virtually in the bag for fiscal 1951, now just three months from its end.

Some government officials said privately today fiscal 1951 shows signs of ending June 30 in a surplus approximating $2,700,000,000—the size of the deficit President Truman predicted for this year in mid-January.

That indicates a whopping $5,000,000,000 or more improvements in the budget outlook in less than three months.

Combining to produce this phenomenal turnabout are (1) a flood of tax receipts far greater than expectations and (2) lighter than expected expenditures, chiefly due to lagging deliveries on orders for military supplies.

The same factors give promise of cutting perhaps as much as $3,000,000,000 off the $16,500,000,000 deficit forecast by President Truman in January for fiscal 1952, starting next July 1, some government officials believe.

That is likely to mean the administration's tax program will find the going harder than ever in Congress, which has taken no action thus far on even the first part of a two-round tax increase President Truman suggested for this year.

Trainmen Accept Arbitration to End Rule on Coupling

Washington, March 30 (AP)—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen today accepted a rail management proposal that President Truman name an arbitrator in a long-standing dispute over rules changes.

W. P. Parker, president of the Brotherhood, told the Senate Labor Committee the union's acceptance boils the two-year-old dispute down to one remaining issue.

That deals with a disagreement over a working rule covering the coupling of air hose.

There was no immediate indication whether the three other railway operating unions involved in the dispute would go along with the trainmen and agree to the carriers' proposal to have Mr. Truman name an arbitrator.

D. P. Loomis, representing the carriers, told the labor committee Wednesday the railroads were willing to let the President name an arbitrator.

Previously the railroads had insisted that the arbitrator be Dr. John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, as provided in a "memorandum of agreement" which the carriers and the union chiefs signed at the White House last Dec. 21.

Local union officials later rejected that agreement, and the Brotherhod chiefs since have insisted that someone other than Steelman be named.

New York Boycotts

figures on rainfall have been furnished for several points in the area through the courtesy of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity through its local office at Main and Fair street.

Information Banned

The department maintains rain gauges at Brown Station by the Ashokan reservoir and in several other places in its watersheds. These gauges are read every morning at 8 o'clock and the figures telephoned to the Kingston office to be relayed to New York.

From now on, all information requested by the press and all "publicity" will come directly from the department's main office in New York, it was learned.

It was learned that the ban against issuing information to newspaper representatives was stated in a letter signed by Edward J. Clark, chief engineer of the department, dated early in January. Clark attributed the order to Dominic Paduano, water commissioner, who succeeded Commissioner Stephen J. Carney.

No Explanation Given

No explanation was given for the new ruling. But figures and other official data from the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, have received wide publicity in the past year and have formed the basis for much discussion, controversy and even litigation since a year ago, when the city hired Dr. Wallace E. Howell at $100 a day in an attempt to replenish the depleted water supplies through cloud seeding.

At the present time, damage claims are on file with the New York city comptroller's office from Ulster county and several townships and other counties in connection with road and bridge damage on November 25, 1950, when flooded streams rampaged in this section. The claims are based on a trespass allegation, charging that the rainmaking attempts by the city were illegal trespass against this area.

Rainfall figures are also available from the Kingston engineer's office, but the city's gauge on the city hall roof is read only at the conclusion of each storm, instead of on a day-to-day basis as are those maintained by the New York water department.

Social Security Office Will Be Open Saturday

The Social Security offices in the Central Post Office will remain open all day Saturday to receive special claims under the new Social Security Act. People made eligible for benefits on last September 1 by the new law must claim them by March 31 if they are to get the full amount payable.

The staff at the office will be prepared to give all necessary information and assistance in connection with claiming benefits.

Orange County Probes Situation RegardingRailway

Orange county authorities this week began investigation of what was described as an apparent attempt to derail trains on the New York Central Railroad's Walden-Montgomery spur.

Crewmen of the train discovered the obstruction on the tracks after it had left Montgomery at 7:05 a. m., Tuesday. The first two ties were seen about a mile and a half southeast of Walden. A half mile closer to Walden spikes were found jammed into rail joints, the trainmen said.

Railroad officials indicated that the tracks were clear when trains moved over them late Monday night.

Corp. Jerry Dershimer, New Windsor, BCI, said boys are believed responsible, but he is continuing an intensive investigation with Sgt. Everett Schoonmaker, of the railroad police.

Officials said trains traveling on the spur move at low speed.

Ancient Occupation

Evidence from Swiss lake dwelling units indicate that men were herding sheep in 8,250 B. C. and that the occupation was ancient even then.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 30 (AP)—Rails assumed leadership of the stock market today in a general forward movement.

Prices ran up more than $3 a share among the carriers, while elsewhere in the market advances extended a little more than $1 a share. Losses were scattered widely, but they were cut off at about the 50-cent level.

While prices were advancing, interest in the market waned. The rate of trading was the slowest of the week.

The fact that volume diminished on the rise was a good indication of the general air of cautiousness that has been the rule in Wall Street for some weeks.

Even though the rails provided a good example for the remainder of the market, most sections were slow to join in. Steels and motors did better than the others, and there were scattered responses in the oils, merchandising, and radio-televisions.

Woodstock Man Escapes Injury

Donald M. Moore, 43, Woodstock contractor, escaped with no apparent injuries when the truck he was driving turned completely over and landed on its wheels on Route 28 near the Zena road intersection at 6:35 p. m. Thursday, the sheriff's office reported.

Deputy Sheriff Earl Conro learned from questioning Moore that he lost control of the vehicle as it was rounding a curve. The truck traveled about 150 feet on the shoulder of the highway, then rolled over on the highway and came to rest on its wheels. Moore described the damage to the vehicle as "total."

His own share of the profit, he said, was $250,000-earned on a $20,000 investment.

An informed source, declining to be named, told a reporter the group borrowed $9,700,000 from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. to finance the purchase.

Says Loan Involved

Casey himself, in his March 12 testimony, said a loan of approximately $10,000,000 from a large insurance company was involved, but he did not name the company.

Casey declined immediate comment on the new developments. Halsey, reached in New York, said he would have no comment now.

Fulbright told a reporter he will discuss with the subcommittee next week what next step to take. He said the group well might want to recall Casey as a witness. Casey contends the ship deal is outside the scope of the Fulbright subcommittee's authority, which embraces operations of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC).

4. Mr. Truman told his news conference he does not contemplate any change in the status of William O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico. At the crime committee's recent hearings in New York, a witness testified he had given O'Dwyer, former New York mayor, $10,000. O'Dwyer denied it.

Additional Time Needed

The resolution to continue the committee for 30 days sped through the Senate after the members of the investigating group agreed additional time was required to finish their report and frame legislation to crack down on gamblers, racketeers and other underworld operators. The group had been slated to go out of existence tomorrow midnight.

Kefauver, who said he "reluctantly" assented after previously opposing any continuation, said the extra days were "for the sole and exclusive purpose" of completing the report and legislative recommendation.

He did agree, however, when Senator Tobey (R.-N.H.) said the committe was free to go into "something very serious or extraordinary' which might come up. But both said this was not anticipated.

Tobey, who repeatedly has called for an extension of the committee's investigation, earlier had prepared a resolution to continue the probe until Jan. 15, 1952. Senator Wiley (R.-Wis.), another committee member, had joined in drafting it.

Mother-in-Law

Center was the sponsor in the United States of the so-called "Stockholm Peace Petition" which the government has described as a Communist-inspired "trick."

Officers indicted with Mrs. Moos were William E. DuBois, noted Negro educator and American Labor Party senatorial candidate in last fall's election; Kyrle Elwin, Abbott Simon and Sylvia Soloff, all of New York.

The indictment was handed down the same week Remington, a former government economist, was convicted.

Customs inspectors carefully examined the contents of Mrs. Moos' five pieces of luggage. They said her customs declaration was in error, and a new one was made out.

When the inspection was completed, Marshal Smith placed handcuffs on her.

She turned to newsphotographers, raised her hands to show the shackles, and said:

"Be sure you get this."

Mrs. Moos, a slight, gray-haired figure of 61 years, said "the shocking news of the indictment of the former peace center and its officers reached me while I was in Europe doing research in education preparatory to writing a book.

"I consider the right to speak for peace, so deeply involved in this case, the most critical issue of our time."

She said she regarded the book as of great personal importance, but that she had returned "to join my associates in defense of that right."

Mrs. Moos said she had been in countries where it was a crime to call for war but had learned back in the United States that "to call for peace is a crime."

She told of visiting Paris, Berlin, Prague, Warsaw and other European cities.

Mrs. Moos formerly was a director of the Hessian Hills School, a private institution at Croton-on-Hudson, but the board of trustees dismissed her several years ago.

New England Gets

the committee's life expired," he said.

Strong's statement was made before he learned the Senate had extended the Kefauver committee's life for 30 days.

Strong declined to name the six men.

"The Kefauver committee would have found conditions in New England clearly the subject of considerable inquiry if time had not run out on it," he added.

12 Bookies Named

The top paid official of the society named 12 alleged bookies and nine betting establishments in Boston and read copies of letters to five precinct captains demanding action against them.

He disclosed similar data in Worcester, Nashua, N. H., Peabody, North Adams, Chicopee, Lawrence, Blackstone, Spencer, Holyoke, Easthampton, Hadley, Amherst, Everett, Chelsea, Haverhill.

Strong said that in some places police or public officials had been "definitely uncooperative" in halting the illegal activities but he did not charge any officials with breaking any law.

No comment was available from city or town officials.

In some places police were definitely cooperative, Strong said. In others society investigators found the places closed for a few days then reopened with what he said was "the obvious knowledge of the police."

Highland Driver Hurt In Tractor-Trailer Crash

Francis Joseph Enright of Highland suffered lacerations to the face and right ear when the Singer Sewing Machine Company panel truck he was driving was struck by a tractor trailer on Route 9W at Highland at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, state police reported.

Enright was taken to Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie by a hospital ambulance. Vassar authorities reported today he was resting "fairly comfortably."

Troopers said Enright was driving north on 9W and was preparing to make a sharp right turn into a driveway. The tractor trailer, driven by Thomas F. Cooper, 26, of Winston-Salem, N. C., was following and swerved in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid the collision, troopers reported.

Trainmen Accept Arbitration to End Rule on Coupling

Washington, March 30 (AP)—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen today accepted a rail management proposal that President Truman name an arbitrator in a long-standing dispute over rules changes.

W. P. Parker, president of the Brotherhood, told the Senate Labor Committee the union's acceptance boils the two-year-old dispute down to one remaining issue.

That deals with a disagreement over a working rule covering the coupling of air hose.

There was no immediate indication whether the three other railway operating unions involved in the dispute would go along with the trainmen and agree to the carriers' proposal to have Mr. Truman name an arbitrator.

D. P. Loomis, representing the carriers, told the labor committee Wednesday the railroads were willing to let the President name an arbitrator.

Previously the railroads had insisted that the arbitrator be Dr. John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, as provided in a "memorandum of agreement" which the carriers and the union chiefs signed at the White House last Dec. 21.

Local union officials later rejected that agreement, and the Brotherhood chiefs since have insisted that someone other than Steelman be named.

New York Boycotts

figures on rainfall have been furnished for several points in the area through the courtesy of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity through its local office at Main and Fair street.

Information Banned

The department maintains rain gauges at Brown Station by the Ashokan reservoir and in several other places in its watersheds. These gauges are read every morning at 8 o'clock and the figures telephoned to the Kingston office to be relayed to New York.

From now on, all information requested by the press and all "publicity" will come directly from the department's main office in New York, it was learned.

It was learned that the ban against issuing information to newspaper representatives was stated in a letter signed by Edward J. Clark, chief engineer of the department, dated early in January. Clark attributed the order to Dominic Paduano, water commissioner, who succeeded Commissioner Stephen J. Carney.

No Explanation Given

No explanation was given for the new ruling. But figures and other official data from the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, have received wide publicity in the past year and have formed the basis for much discussion, controversy and even litigation since a year ago, when the city hired Dr. Wallace E. Howell at $100 a day in an attempt to replenish the depleted water supplies through cloud seeding.

At the present time, damage claims are on file with the New York city comptroller's office from Ulster county and several townships and other counties in connection with road and bridge damage on November 25, 1950, when flooded streams rampaged in this section. The claims are based on a trespass allegation, charging that the rainmaking attempts by the city were illegal trespass against this area.

Rainfall figures are also available from the Kingston engineer's office, but the city's gauge on the city hall roof is read only at the conclusion of each storm, instead of on a day-to-day basis as are those maintained by the New York water department.

Orange County Probes Situation Regarding Railway

Orange county authorities this week began investigation of what was described as an apparent attempt to derail trains on the New York Central Railroad's Walden-Montgomery spur.

Crewmen of the train discovered the obstruction on the tracks after it had left Montgomery at 7:05 a. m., Tuesday. The first two ties were seen about a mile and a half southeast of Walden. A half mile closer to Walden spikes were found jammed into rail joints, the trainmen said.

Railroad officials indicated that the tracks were clear when trains moved over them late Monday night.

Corp. Jerry Dershimer, New Windsor, BCI, said boys are believed responsible, but he is continuing an intensive investigation with Sgt. Everett Schoonmaker, of the railroad police.

Officials said trains traveling on the spur move at low speed.

Ancient Occupation

Evidence from Swiss lake dwelling units indicate that men were herding sheep in 8,250 B. C. and that the occupation was ancient even then.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 30 (AP)—Rails assumed leadership of the stock market today in a general forward movement.

Prices ran up more than $3 a share among the carriers, while elsewhere in the market advances extended a little more than $1 a share. Losses were scattered widely, but they were cut off at about the 50-cent level.

While prices were advancing, interest in the market waned. The rate of trading was the slowest of the week.

The fact that volume diminished on the rise was a good indication of the general air of cautiousness that has been the rule in Wall Street for some weeks.

Even though the rails provided a good example for the remainder of the market, most sections were slow to join in. Steels and motors did better than the others, and there were scattered responses in the oils, merchandising, and radio-televisions.

Woodstock Man Escapes Injury

Donald M. Moore, 43, Woodstock contractor, escaped with no apparent injuries when the truck he was driving turned completely over and landed on its wheels on Route 28 near the Zena road intersection at 6:35 p. m. Thursday, the sheriff's office reported.

Deputy Sheriff Earl Conro learned from questioning Moore that he lost control of the vehicle as it was rounding a curve. The truck traveled about 150 feet on the shoulder of the highway, then rolled over on the highway and came to rest on its wheels. Moore described the damage to the vehicle as "total."

as vice president and secretary of the American Overseas Tanker Corp., and the others as directors or stockholders in the firm, through which the deal was handled.

Involved was the 1947 purchase of five oil tankers from the maritime commission, Casey at the March 12 hearing testified the ships were chartered to the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey on profitable terms, and sold in 1950 for a total profit of $2,800,-000. His own share of the profit, he said, was $250,000-earned on a $20,000 investment.

An informed source, declining to be named, told a reporter the group borrowed $9,700,000 from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. to finance the purchase.

Says Loan Involved

Casey himself, in his March 12 testimony, said a loan of approximately $10,000,000 from a large insurance company was involved, but he did not name the company.

Casey declined immediate comment on the new developments. Halsey, reached in New York, said he would have no comment now.

Fulbright told a reporter he will discuss with the subcommittee next week what next step to take. He said the group well might want to recall Casey as a witness. Casey contends the ship deal is outside the scope of the Fulbright subcommittee's authority, which embraces operations of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC).

Citations Voted

The committee voted contempt citations against O'Brien and Croft yesterday. This was only a few hours after Croft had been brought in for questioning after being picked up by the FBI in a fishing shack in the Florida keys.

4. Mr. Truman told his news conference he does not contemplate any change in the status of William O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico. At the crime committee's recent hearings in New York, a witness testified he had given O'Dwyer, former New York mayor, $10,000. O'Dwyer denied it.

Additional Time Needed

The resolution to continue the committee for 30 days sped through the Senate after the members of the investigating group agreed additional time was required to finish their report and frame legislation to crack down on gamblers, racketeers and other underworld operators. The group had been slated to go out of existence tomorrow midnight.

Kefauver, who said he "reluctantly" assented after previously opposing any continuation, said the extra days were "for the sole and exclusive purpose" of completing the report and legislative recommendation.

He did agree, however, when Senator Tobey (R.-N.H.) said the committe was free to go into "something very serious or extraordinary' which might come up. But both said this was not anticipated.

Tobey, who repeatedly has called for an extension of the committee's investigation, earlier had prepared a resolution to continue the probe until Jan. 15, 1952. Senator Wiley (R.-Wis.), another committee member, had joined in drafting it.

Mother-in-Law

Center was the sponsor in the United States of the so-called "Stockholm Peace Petition" which the government has described as a Communist-inspired "trick."

Officers indicted with Mrs. Moos were William E. DuBois, noted Negro educator and American Labor Party senatorial candidate in last fall's election; Kyrle Elwin, Abbott Simon and Sylvia Soloff, all of New York.

The indictment was handed down the same week Remington, a former government economist, was convicted.

Customs inspectors carefully examined the contents of Mrs. Moos' five pieces of luggage. They said her customs declaration was in error, and a new one was made out.

When the inspection was completed, Marshal Smith placed handcuffs on her.

She turned to newsphotographers, raised her hands to show the shackles, and said:

"Be sure you get this."

Mrs. Moos, a slight, gray-haired figure of 61 years, said "the shocking news of the indictment of the former peace center and its officers reached me while I was in Europe doing research in education preparatory to writing a book.

"I consider the right to speak for peace, so deeply involved in this case, the most critical issue of our time."

She said she regarded the book as of great personal importance, but that she had returned "to join my associates in defense of that right."

Mrs. Moos said she had been in countries where it was a crime to call for war but had learned back in the United States that "to call for peace is a crime."

She told of visiting Paris, Berlin, Prague, Warsaw and other European cities.

Mrs. Moos formerly was a director of the Hessian Hills School, a private institution at Croton-on-Hudson, but the board of trustees dismissed her several years ago.

New England Gets

the committee's life expired," he said.

Strong's statement was made before he learned the Senate had extended the Kefauver committee's life for 30 days.

Strong declined to name the six men.

"The Kefauver committee would have found conditions in New England clearly the subject of considerable inquiry if time had not run out on it," he added.

12 Bookies Named

The top paid official of the society named 12 alleged bookies and nine betting establishments in Boston and read copies of letters to five precinct captains demanding action against them.

He disclosed similar data in Worcester, Nashua, N. H., Peabody, North Adams, Chicopee, Lawrence, Blackstone, Spencer, Holyoke, Easthampton, Hadley, Amherst, Everett, Chelsea, Haverhill.

Strong said that in some places police or public officials had been "definitely uncooperative" in halting the illegal activities but he did not charge any officials with breaking any law.

No comment was available from city or town officials.

In some places police were definitely cooperative, Strong said. In others society investigators found the places closed for a few days then reopened with what he said was "the obvious knowledge of the police."

Highland Driver Hurt In Tractor-Trailer Crash

Francis Joseph Enright of Highland suffered lacerations to the face and right ear when the Singer Sewing Machine Company panel truck he was driving was struck by a tractor trailer on Route 9W at Highland at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, state police reported.

Enright was taken to Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie by a hospital ambulance. Vassar authorities reported today he was resting "fairly comfortably."

Troopers said Enright was driving north on 9W and was preparing to make a sharp right turn into a driveway. The tractor trailer, driven by Thomas F. Cooper, 26, of Winston-Salem, N. C., was following and swerved in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid the collision, troopers reported.

Trainmen Accept Arbitration to End Rule on Coupling

Washington, March 30 (AP)—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen today accepted a rail management proposal that President Truman name an arbitrator in a long-standing dispute over rules changes.

W. P. Parker, president of the Brotherhood, told the Senate Labor Committee the union's acceptance boils the two-year-old dispute down to one remaining issue.

That deals with a disagreement over a working rule covering the coupling of air hose.

There was no immediate indication whether the three other railway operating unions involved in the dispute would go along with the trainmen and agree to the carriers' proposal to have Mr. Truman name an arbitrator.

D. P. Loomis, representing the carriers, told the labor committee Wednesday the railroads were willing to let the President name an arbitrator.

Previously the railroads had insisted that the arbitrator be Dr. John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, as provided in a "memorandum of agreement" which the carriers and the union chiefs signed at the White House last Dec. 21.

Local union officials later rejected that agreement, and the Brotherhod chiefs since have insisted that someone other than Steelman be named.

New York Boycotts

figures on rainfall have been furnished for several points in the area through the courtesy of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity through its local office at Main and Fair street.

Information Banned

The department maintains rain gauges at Brown Station by the Ashokan reservoir and in several other places in its watersheds. These gauges are read every morning at 8 o'clock and the figures telephoned to the Kingston office to be relayed to New York.

From now on, all information requested by the press and all "publicity" will come directly from the department's main office in New York, it was learned.

It was learned that the ban against issuing information to newspaper representatives was stated in a letter signed by Edward J. Clark, chief engineer of the department, dated early in January. Clark attributed the order to Dominic Paduano, water commissioner, who succeeded Commissioner Stephen J. Carney.

No Explanation Given

No explanation was given for the new ruling. But figures and other official data from the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, have received wide publicity in the past year and have formed the basis for much discussion, controversy and even litigation since a year ago, when the city hired Dr. Wallace E. Howell at $100 a day in an attempt to replenish the depleted water supplies through cloud seeding.

At the present time, damage claims are on file with the New York city comptroller's office from Ulster county and several townships and other counties in connection with road and bridge damage on November 25, 1950, when flooded streams rampaged in this section. The claims are based on a trespass allegation, charging that the rainmaking attempts by the city were illegal trespass against this area.

Rainfall figures are also available from the Kingston engineer's office, but the city's gauge on the city hall roof is read only at the conclusion of each storm, instead of on a day-to-day basis as are those maintained by the New York water department.

Orange County Probes Situation RegardingRailway

Orange county authorities this week began investigation of what was described as an apparent attempt to derail trains on the New York Central Railroad's Walden-Montgomery spur.

Crewmen of the train discovered the obstruction on the tracks after it had left Montgomery at 7:05 a. m., Tuesday. The first two ties were seen about a mile and a half southeast of Walden. A half mile closer to Walden spikes were found jammed into rail joints, the trainmen said.

Railroad officials indicated that the tracks were clear when trains moved over them late Monday night.

Corp. Jerry Dershimer, New Windsor, BCI, said boys are believed responsible, but he is continuing an intensive investigation with Sgt. Everett Schoonmaker, of the railroad police.

Officials said trains traveling on the spur move at low speed.

Election at St. John's

The annual election of warden and vestrymen was held in St. John's Episcopal Church, Albany avenue, on Monday evening. The election of the following was announced by the rector, the Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger who presided as judge of elections. For warden, A. Newcombe Chatfield was elected to serve two years. For vestryman to serve until 1952, an unexpired term, Charles Hungerford, was chosen. For vestrymen to serve for three years, Fred Bushnell, Wesley Hyatt, and Harry Kapreilian, Jr., were elected.

Ancient Occupation

Evidence from Swiss lake dwelling units indicate that men were herding sheep in 8,250 B. C. and that the occupation was ancient even then.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 30 (AP)—Rails assumed leadership of the stock market today in a general forward movement.

Prices ran up more than $3 a share among the carriers, while elsewhere in the market advances extended a little more than $1 a share. Losses were scattered widely, but they were cut off at about the 50-cent level.

While prices were advancing, interest in the market waned. The rate of trading was the slowest of the week.

The fact that volume diminished on the rise was a good indication of the general air of cautiousness that has been the rule in Wall Street for some weeks.

Even though the rails provided a good example for the remainder of the market, most sections were slow to join in. Steels and motors did better than the others, and there were scattered responses in the oils, merchandising, and radio-televisions.

Woodstock Man Escapes Injury

Donald M. Moore, 43, Woodstock contractor, escaped with no apparent injuries when the truck he was driving turned completely over and landed on its wheels on Route 28 near the Zena road intersection at 6:35 p. m. Thursday, the sheriff's office reported.

Deputy Sheriff Earl Conro learned from questioning Moore that he lost control of the vehicle as it was rounding a curve. The truck traveled about 150 feet on the shoulder of the highway, then rolled over on the highway and came to rest on its wheels. Moore described the damage to the vehicle as "total."

Involved was the 1947 purchase of five oil tankers from the maritime commission, Casey at the March 12 hearing testified the ships were chartered to the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey on profitable terms, and sold in 1950 for a total profit of $2,800,000. His own share of the profit, he said, was $250,000-earned on a $20,000 investment.

An informed source, declining to be named, told a reporter the group borrowed $9,700,000 from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. to finance the purchase.

Says Loan Involved

Casey himself, in his March 12 testimony, said a loan of approximately $10,000,000 from a large insurance company was involved, but he did not name the company.

Casey declined immediate comment on the new developments. Halsey, reached in New York, said he would have no comment now.

Fulbright told a reporter he will discuss with the subcommittee next week what next step to take. He said the group well might want to recall Casey as a witness. Casey contends the ship deal is outside the scope of the Fulbright subcommittee's authority, which embraces operations of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC).

Citations Voted

The committee voted contempt citations against O'Brien and Croft yesterday. This was only a few hours after Croft had been brought in for questioning after being picked up by the FBI in a fishing shack in the Florida keys.

4. Mr. Truman told his news conference he does not contemplate any change in the status of William O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico. At the crime committee's recent hearings in New York, a witness testified he had given O'Dwyer, former New York mayor, $10,000. O'Dwyer denied it.

Additional Time Needed

The resolution to continue the committee for 30 days sped through the Senate after the members of the investigating group agreed additional time was required to finish their report and frame legislation to crack down on gamblers, racketeers and other underworld operators. The group had been slated to go out of existence tomorrow midnight.

Kefauver, who said he "reluctantly" assented after previously opposing any continuation, said the extra days were "for the sole and exclusive purpose" of completing the report and legislative recommendation.

He did agree, however, when Senator Tobey (R.-N.H.) said the committe was free to go into "something very serious or extraordinary' which might come up. But both said this was not anticipated.

Tobey, who repeatedly has called for an extension of the committee's investigation, earlier had prepared a resolution to continue the probe until Jan. 15, 1952. Senator Wiley (R.-Wis.), another committee member, had joined in drafting it.

Mother-in-Law

Center was the sponsor in the United States of the so-called "Stockholm Peace Petition" which the government has described as a Communist-inspired "trick."

Officers indicted with Mrs. Moos were William E. DuBois, noted Negro educator and American Labor Party senatorial candidate in last fall's election; Kyrle Elwin, Abbott Simon and Sylvia Soloff, all of New York.

The indictment was handed down the same week Remington, a former government economist, was convicted.

Customs inspectors carefully examined the contents of Mrs. Moos' five pieces of luggage. They said her customs declaration was in error, and a new one was made out.

When the inspection was completed, Marshal Smith placed handcuffs on her.

She turned to newsphotographers, raised her hands to show the shackles, and said:

"Be sure you get this."

Mrs. Moos, a slight, gray-haired figure of 61 years, said "the shocking news of the indictment of the former peace center and its officers reached me while I was in Europe doing research in education preparatory to writing a book.

"I consider the right to speak for peace, so deeply involved in this case, the most critical issue of our time."

She said she regarded the book as of great personal importance, but that she had returned "to join my associates in defense of that right."

Mrs. Moos said she had been in countries where it was a crime to call for war but had learned back in the United States that "to call for peace is a crime."

She told of visiting Paris, Berlin, Prague, Warsaw and other European cities.

Mrs. Moos formerly was a director of the Hessian Hills School, a private institution at Croton-on-Hudson, but the board of trustees dismissed her several years ago.

Deer Bill Signed

Albany, March 30 (AP)—Buck deer may be taken with bow and arrow in Westchester county for another year, under terms of a bill signed today by Governor Dewey. The bill, setting the open season in the county from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15, was introduced by Republican Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson of Yonkers. The county has no deer season when firearms may be used.

New England Gets

the committee's life expired," he said.

Strong's statement was made before he learned the Senate had extended the Kefauver committee's life for 30 days.

Strong declined to name the six men.

"The Kefauver committee would have found conditions in New England clearly the subject of considerable inquiry if time had not run out on it," he added.

12 Bookies Named

The top paid official of the society named 12 alleged bookies and nine betting establishments in Boston and read copies of letters to five precinct captains demanding action against them.

He disclosed similar data in Worcester, Nashua, N. H., Peabody, North Adams, Chicopee, Lawrence, Blackstone, Spencer, Holyoke, Easthampton, Hadley, Amherst, Everett, Chelsea, Haverhill.

Strong said that in some places police or public officials had been "definitely uncooperative" in halting the illegal activities but he did not charge any officials with breaking any law.

No comment was available from city or town officials.

In some places police were definitely cooperative, Strong said. In others society investigators found the places closed for a few days then reopened with what he said was "the obvious knowledge of the police."

Highland Driver Hurt In Tractor-Trailer Crash

Francis Joseph Enright of Highland suffered lacerations to the face and right ear when the Singer Sewing Machine Company panel truck he was driving was struck by a tractor trailer on Route 9W at Highland at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, state police reported.

Enright was taken to Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie by a hospital ambulance. Vassar authorities reported today he was resting "fairly comfortably."

Troopers said Enright was driving north on 9W and was preparing to make a sharp right turn into a driveway. The tractor trailer, driven by Thomas F. Cooper, 26, of Winston-Salem, N. C., was following and swerved in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid the collision, troopers reported.

Separate Welfare Measure Vetoed

Albany, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—A bill to permit certain large towns to divorce themselves from county welfare systems by setting up their own welfare units was vetoed today by Governor Dewey.

The measure, introduced by Senate finance leader Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo, would have affected towns of 50,000 or more population, except in the counties of Broome, Nasau and Suffolk.

Dewey quoted State Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern to the effect that the measure would be unfair to other towns.

The comptroller said the measure would affect towns "which are heavily industrialized and have a relatively low incidence of public welfare cases."

He added:

"The result would be to increase the burden on the remainder of the county. The state now assumes 80 per cent of welfare costs. This bill is designed to enable certain favored towns to rid themselves of their fair shares of the remaining 20 per cent, at the expense of the other towns in the county."

Dewey vetoed another measure that would have permitted the buyer of a truck to use a dealer's license plates on the vehicle for 10 days after the sale. Present law limits the period to five days.

The governor approved a bill to increase the salary of the chairman of the State Workmen's Compensation Board from $14,000 to $15,000 a year, and the salaries of each of the other 12 board members from $10,375 to $10,875, effective Sunday.

Dewey signed other measures that:

1. Continue for two more years, until July 1, 1953, the authority of the State Conservation Department to close state waters to fishing when fish are endangered by low water levels.

2. Continue for another year, to March 31, 1952, provisions for payment by counties for damages to domestic animals caused by rabies.

3. Continue to March 31, 1952, authority of the state agriculture commissioner to attempt to control spread of golden memtode disease of potatoes, and reduce from $60 to $40 an acre the maximum that may be paid to an owner-operator for restricted use of land.

Women Only

According to legend, the island of Cheju off the coast of Korea was once inhabited entirely by women, men being permitted to land there only once a year and take away with them all boys who had reached the age of 13.

Denies Costello Has Tammany Hookup

New York, March 30 (AP)—Tammany Hall leader Carmine G. De Sapio has complained to the Kefauver Crime Committee that testimony taken at its hearings here pictured his organization as being controlled by gambler Frank Costello.

At a news conference yesterday—his second in two days—De Sapio again denied that Costello had influence in the New York county (Manhattan) Democratic organization.

De Sapio issued a statement saying:

"There is no Costello influence today or since I have been leader in Tammany Hall."

De Sapio became Tammany chief less than two years ago.

He said he sent a copy of his statement Wednesday to the crime committee headed by Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.).

The Tammany boss said he is fighting to wipe out an impression that "sinister underworld figures fraternize on intimate terms with Tammany leaders."

He blamed "fantastic" or "careless" construction put on testimony heard before the Senate crime probers.

De Sapio has admitted he met Costello several times, but denied ever going to the alleged racket kingpin's Manhattan apartment.

In his brief to the committee, De Sapio said, he pointed out that Costello testified he knew 14 of the 41 district leaders. Cross-examination, De Sapio said, might have disclosed that some of the leaders did not know Costello.

He said he reminded the committee that, as a result of the hearings, Costello now knows a number of U. S. senators.

Three Inspectors Are Discharged From Jobs

New York, March 30 (AP)—Three city department of hospitals inspectors have been dismissed after departmental trials charged them with incompetence in connection with a $151,552 painting contract fraud.

Dr. Marcus D. Kogel, commissioner of hospitals, yesterday announced the dismissal of the following:

Acting Chief Inspector George R. McAvoy, of Staten Island; James W. Rainey, of Brooklyn; and Joseph A. Rogoff, of the Bronx.

Charges against the three men arose from an investigation which disclosed that only one coat of paint—instead of the contracted two—were applied in paint jobs at municipal hospitals.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said the racket defrauded the city of $151,552.

Two men, named as the chief conspirators, were sentenced to terms of seven and a half to 15 years. They are: Jerry Jerome, president of the J. S. and B. Contracting Co., Inc., Brooklyn, and Sam Lemkin, chairman of Local 442, A.F.L. International Brotherhood of Painters.

Bookies Can't Collect Unemployment Pay

Albany, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Any bookies scurrying for cover from the current crime investigations cannot collect unemployment insurance benefits legally.

That's the word from the State Labor Department's Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance. And it's a safe bet that persons describing themselves ambiguously as "clerks" will be checked.

Harry Zankel, counsel to the division, explained to a reporter that "a bookie cannot collect because he would be held unavailable since his occupation is illegal."

There were unconfirmed reports of illegal bet-takers filing as "clerks" in the wake of crime hearings by the U. S. Senate's Kefauver committee and Governor Dewey's appointment of a state commission with greater power than the Kefauver group.

Assessors School Session Scheduled In City May 8th

A series of training schools for assessors of all towns and villages and cities of less than 35,000 population will be conducted by the New York State Board of Equalization and Assessment in the next three months.

Announcement about the schools came today from the Albany office of Lieutenant Governor Frank C. Moore, which specified that one would be held in Kingston on Tuesday, May 8, in the supervisors' room at the court house on Wall street.

The regional training schools, patterned after those held in 1950, will cover the entire state, with the exception of Nassau county and the larger cities. Sessions will be held in 37 communities, some serving several counties in an area.

The schools will deal with problems of assessment. Although primarily for assessors, they also will be of value to supervisors, members of the town boards, village trustees, aldermen, municipal attorneys and county officers. A model board of assessors meeting will feature the program.

The equalization board's staff for the schools will be Theodore H. Kline, chief local assessment consultant; Guy M. Raines, local assessment consultant; Arthur L. Bergren, principal local assessment examiner, and Allen W. Bratton, consulting forester.

Cooperating with the equalization board in this project are the Town and County Officers Training School of the Association of Towns, the Municipal Training Institute of the State Conference of Mayors and the Bureau of Public Service Training of the State Department of Education.

Six Children Die in Fire

South Kingston, R. I., March 30 (AP)—Six children—ranging in age from one to 12 years—perished early today in a fire which destroyed their two-room home. The bodies were recovered in the ruins by firemen. Mrs. Cora Young, the victims' mother, was taken to South County Hospital suffering from burns. Police said she was too hysterical to question. Leonard Young, the father, who was at first believed to be a victim of the fire, was found living with another son in nearby Kingston.

Separate Welfare Measure Vetoed

Albany, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—A bill to permit certain large towns to divorce themselves from county welfare systems by setting up their own welfare units was vetoed today by Governor Dewey.

The measure, introduced by Senate finance leader Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo, would have affected towns of 50,000 or more population, except in the counties of Broome, Nasau and Suffolk.

Dewey quoted State Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern to the effect that the measure would be unfair to other towns.

The comptroller said the measure would affect towns "which are heavily industrialized and have a relatively low incidence of public welfare cases."

He added:

"The result would be to increase the burden on the remainder of the county. The state now assumes 80 per cent of welfare costs. This bill is designed to enable certain favored towns to rid themselves of their fair shares of the remaining 20 per cent, at the expense of the other towns in the county."

Dewey vetoed another measure that would have permitted the buyer of a truck to use a dealer's license plates on the vehicle for 10 days after the sale. Present law limits the period to five days.

The governor approved a bill to increase the salary of the chairman of the State Workmen's Compensation Board from $14,000 to $15,000 a year, and the salaries of each of the other 12 board members from $10,375 to $10,875, effective Sunday.

Dewey signed other measures that:

1. Continue for two more years, until July 1, 1953, the authority of the State Conservation Department to close state waters to fishing when fish are endangered by low water levels.

2. Continue for another year, to March 31, 1952, provisions for payment by counties for damages to domestic animals caused by rabies.

3. Continue to March 31, 1952, authority of the state agriculture commissioner to attempt to control spread of golden memtode disease of potatoes, and reduce from $60 to $40 an acre the maximum that may be paid to an owner-operator for restricted use of land.

Women Only

According to legend, the island of Cheju off the coast of Korea was once inhabited entirely by women, men being permitted to land there only once a year and take away with them all boys who had reached the age of 13.

Denies Costello Has Tammany Hookup

New York, March 30 (AP)—Tammany Hall leader Carmine G. De Sapio has complained to the Kefauver Crime Committee that testimony taken at its hearings here pictured his organization as being controlled by gambler Frank Costello.

At a news conference yesterday—his second in two days—De Sapio again denied that Costello had influence in the New York county (Manhattan) Democratic organization.

De Sapio issued a statement saying:

"There is no Costello influence today or since I have been leader in Tammany Hall."

De Sapio became Tammany chief less than two years ago.

He said he sent a copy of his statement Wednesday to the crime committee headed by Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.).

The Tammany boss said he is fighting to wipe out an impression that "sinister underworld figures fraternize on intimate terms with Tammany leaders."

He blamed "fantastic" or "careless" construction put on testimony heard before the Senate crime probers.

De Sapio has admitted he met Costello several times, but denied ever going to the alleged racket kingpin's Manhattan apartment.

In his brief to the committee, De Sapio said, he pointed out that Costello testified he knew 14 of the 41 district leaders. Cross-examination, De Sapio said, might have disclosed that some of the leaders did not know Costello.

He said he reminded the committee that, as a result of the hearings, Costello now knows a number of U. S. senators.

Three Inspectors Are Discharged From Jobs

New York, March 30 (AP)—Three city department of hospitals inspectors have been dismissed after departmental trials charged them with incompetence in connection with a $151,552 painting contract fraud.

Dr. Marcus D. Kogel, commissioner of hospitals, yesterday announced the dismissal of the following:

Acting Chief Inspector George R. McAvoy, of Staten Island; James W. Rainey, of Brooklyn; and Joseph A. Rogoff, of the Bronx.

Charges against the three men arose from an investigation which disclosed that only one coat of paint—instead of the contracted two—were applied in paint jobs at municipal hospitals.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said the racket defrauded the city of $151,552.

Two men, named as the chief conspirators, were sentenced to terms of seven and a half to 15 years. They are: Jerry Jerome, president of the J. S. and B. Contracting Co., Inc., Brooklyn, and Sam Lemkin, chairman of Local 442, A.F.L. International Brotherhood of Painters.

NO HUFF, NO PUFF—Something new in breaking and entering was devised by bandits who fixed a timber battering ram onto the front bumper of their stolen car and pushed in the door of a Chicago currency exchange. A startled cashier fled while the crooks scooped up $5000 and left. Inset, lower right, shows a Chicago policeman examining the improvised ram.

SMOOTHER TRAVEL

Free travel between countries, without the nuisance of long waits for baggage inspection and visas, may be far in the future, but steps are at least being taken in that direction. A United Nations agency, the Transportation and Communications Commission is working on the problem.

Already less time is being spent by travelers at some frontiers in Europe, and nations are being urged to do away with complicated procedures for tourists passing between countries. For those who drive, highway markings may be made more uniform in the future, and drivers' licenses which would be valid everywhere are being considered.

These measures will undoubtedly contribute to the friendly attitude of tourists to their hosts. Such minor irritations as long, unnecessary delays have often put tourists on the defensive, or made them offensively aggressive. A smooth eventless passage into another country will tend to make future relations harmonious.

RACKET MONEY IN BUSINESS

Americans are accustomed to tucking their criminal elements into nice, neat compartments, serene in the thought that however bad they might be they don't contaminate the rest of life.

That serenity ought to be disturbed, however, by facts now accumulating as result of the Kefauver crime inquiry and other investigations.

The evidence is unmistakable that many underworld leaders in many parts of the United States have heavily invaded legitimate business.

Frank Costello, alleged by Senate investigators to be underworld king, gave the Kefauver committee some notion of his legitimate investments. He put $40,000 into a television concern, $41,000 into an oil company, thousands into real estate properties in New York and elsewhere, and still other funds into a firm making an item supposed to cook a chicken by "infra-red rays."

Other testimony suggests that mobsters have been pouring millions into hotels, liquor firms, automobile and steel-making companies, food and beverage manufacture, trucking, laundries, dressmaking.

A steel official in Detroit told the Kefauver committee a gangster helped out his firm with a $100,000 investment at a time when the company needed funds to acquire properties of another concern.

Anthony D'Anna, alleged by the committee to be Detroit head of Mafia, the Italian terrorist ring, is described as holding a half interest in the motor carrier which hauls all Ford cars from Ford plants in the area. He's also listed as director of a bank.

But why multiply the illustrations? They are more than ample to shock us into realizing that in many parts of the U. S. economy the line between legitimacy and illegitimacy is almost rubbed out.

The mobsters' purpose is clear. First, it gives a cloak of honesty to all their nefarious underworld enterprises. When questioned, they present their legitimate front, protesting heatedly that they are honest businessmen.

Secondly, it provides a lucrative investment outlet for the millions they make in gambling, vice, racketeering and such.

All this makes them richer and muddies the waters so thoroughly that it is hard for the law ever to nail them.

How can we halt this vicious invasion of legitimate enterprise? Obviously, the honest managers of honest business owe it to themselves and the public to be eternally vigilant. They need to ask searching questions of any big investor. The prime one: "Where did the money come from?"

Laxity in this field is no more admirable in the business community than in the headquarters of the RFC or among college basketball players. The moral code exempts no one.

Laws, new or old, can't do the whole job. The people who patronize the mobsters' enterprises must bear a good share of responsibility. So long as billions are paid out in tribute, the gangsters will flourish and have the money to worm into honest activity.

Feeling comfortably remote from the "wicked characters" whose faces TV and the newsreels have showed you recently? How do you know one of them doesn't own the business down the street?

LETTERS TO THE GREAT — VII

My dear Senator Kefauver:

I read and hear that it is your intention not to continue with the Kefauver Committee even if the Senate decides to go on probing into organized crime in this country.

That would be most unfortunate.

The people of this country do not want you to quit. Nor do they want Rudolph Halley to quit as counsel.

Your committee has captured the imagination of the American people. In spite of what such men as Costello, Carroll and Kleinman and their lawyers say about television and radio, it is the right of all Americans to attend open hearings of congressional committees, and these modern devices serve the excellent purpose of making that possible.

What difference can there be in the theory of congressional committees whether the open hearing is in a small room where only 100 can see and hear or on television where the whole people can see and hear? Are the people to be excluded from open sessions of Congress because television has invaded that body to show the President delivering an address on the state of the union?

If your committee were to hold its hearings in secret, you would be accused of star chamber proceedings. You hold them in the open and you are being accused of presenting these witnesses to the entire nation.

I can well understand that you are weary of meeting with the kind of people whom you have to interrogate. It must be pretty nasty work. Your compensation, and that holds for your colleagues and your staff, must be that you are uncovering a criminal empire that has grown up in our country. The danger of this dual government surely is evident to anyone who understands our structure of freedom. It becomes offensive when we see the faces of the racketeers and read the volume of wealth they have accumulated.

Your work is not completed. The people of this country want it to be carried further. If a vote were taken, you would find that they want it carried forward by the present committee and by its present staff. After the failure of the Tydings Committee, your committee and your counsel have restored confidence in the processes of congressional committees.

Do not disappoint us by quitting now. Go on! This is important work.

May I suggest this to you?

Lawyers seem to be privileged persons. They are permitted to keep secret the relations between lawyer and client. They may advise their clients in your presence not to answer questions you or your counsel ask, and they are in no manner responsible for the advice they give. Only the client goes to jail.

However, is a lawyer permitted to advise his client to subvert the United States?

We are trying to tell the people of the world that in this country, government by choice, government by the people, what some call democratic government, works. But does it really work when a dual government, consisting of bootleggers, gamblers, dope-peddlers and other criminal elements, exists with the connivance of duly elected government officials, some of whom are even beholden to the criminals for their positions?

Unless this union of crime and politics is smashed, we are in danger of this element in our population growing so rich and powerful that they can control government itself.

And that brings one back to the lawyers. What part do they play in advising their clients how to live by crime? It is one thing for a lawyer to try to rescue a client from the consequences of his own errors. It is quite a different matter when the lawyer shows a client how he can continue to pursue criminal activities, particularly such as may endanger the nation, while living in apparent respectability.

And it also comes to me that in some instances, the lawyers for the racketeers have been in the past and may now be the advocates of other clients engaged in other subversive, political and conspiratorial activities.

In a word, there is much to do that your committee has not had time to do. It should be continued by the Senate until its work is completed and you ought to remain its chairman and Mr. Halley its counsel because the people have confidence that your are serving America.

Don't let us down!

ADENOIDS, TONSILS AND ALLERGY

It would seem that the wholesale removal of tonsils comes in waves of enthusiasm to correct or prevent various defects or diseases when certain symptoms are present and no other organ is apparently at fault.

Now, despite some statistics about the value of removal of tonsils in children and adults which do not attach much importance to infection from tonsils, practically every physician has had cases in which removal of tonsils has cleared up aches and pains, rheumatic and other kinds. In cases in which the pain did not disappear within what was considered a reasonable time, the removal of the tonsils has been considered a useless operation. When the pain disappeared several months later—as long as 18 months after operation—the operation was given no credit, yet it is known that the infective organisms and their products remain in the blood and bowel for many months after the infective tonsils were removed.

In Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Monthly, Drs. Francis L. Lederer and Arnold A. Grossman, University of Illinois, state that the tonsil is now known to be a useful organ, especially in the younger child, as it plays a major role in "vaccinating" the body against various diseases. Tonsils are often called filters, separating poisons from the blood. Removal of normal tonsils can therefore prove harmful. It is a mistake to assume that all large tonsils are infected. Removal of large normal or uninfected tonsils to prevent disease of any kind (rheumatism or arthritis) is valueless and may be detrimental. "Tonsils in children under 6 or 7 should not be removed except under extreme circumstances," say Drs. Lederer and Grossman. When allergy is present, tonsils should not be removed in most cases. This is the reason that removing tonsils does not prevent "head colds."

The general rule should be that when there is no infection present or obstruction from large tonsils, neither the tonsils nor the adenoids should be removed in the child who is allergic to various substances—foods, feathers, furs, pollen. The allergy should first be corrected, if possible.

However, in severe cases of infection, of tonsils and adenoids these should be removed even if allergy is present.

Ain't It Wonderful What a Spring Moon Will Do?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Most people don't know it, but the slot-machine boys put on a terrific lobbying drive right under the noses of Capitol Hill solons to defeat the Preston bill regulating slot machines. The lobby even listed certain members of Congress to be contacted.

Operation of the slot-machine lobby gives a slight indication of the pressures exerted to kill the Kefauver crime probe.

In the case of the slot-machine bill, representatives of seven leading slot-machine manufacturers met secretly in the Chicago offices of the O.D. Jennings Co., in order to plan their wire-pulling campaign. They were out to kill legislation introduced by Congressman Prince Preston, Jr., of Georgia, for the regulation of slot machines shipped across state lines. A confidential copy of the secret minutes of this meeting has been obtained and revealing excerpts follow:

"Reliable Congressmen "

"Herb Jones of the Bally Manufacturing Company) made the following comments:

"Contacting Congressmen—This ought to be continued, but with caution. In other words, members of the House subcommittee ought to be approached, but only if the contact made with the congressman is extremely reliable. Congressman Beckworth of Texas (Democrat) and Congress Ellsworth of Oregon (Republican) will be handled by Jones. The other industry committee members ought to contact the House inter-state commerce committeemen assigned to them. Also, each industry member should speak to the Congressman of the district in which his place of business is located.

"The Senator Kefauver Investigation and Public Relations—The industry can't take the attitude that it is opposed to the Kefauver investigation. To do so would line it up with the hoodlums. However, some of the attacks to which the industry is presently being subjected could be prevented with the use of an intelligent public-relations program...Members of the industry have consistently lied by maintaining to the public that the industry does not manufacture gambling equipment. This, of course, is not true. There ought to be an honest admission of the fact that the industry does manufacture gambling equipment."

The representative of the Bell-O-Matic Corporation, Vince Shay, suggested that the industry "ought not to rest on its oars but ought to conceive a plan of operation. The committee ought to consider the possibility of employing a professional representative in Washington, D. C., who would coordinate the activities of the entire industry in doing whatever had to be done to defeat the passage of the (slot-machine control) bill."

Slot-Machine Strategy

In summary, the secret minutes report: "After discussion, it was finally determined that the course of action to be taken by the industry committee is as follows:

"1. Industry committee members should see congressmen on the House Transportation Subcommittee, providing their contacts with these congressmen are reliable and beyond question. They should also contact the congressmen of the district in which their plants are located.

"2. They should submit their arguments against the Preston bill and similar legislation in writing.

"3. Committee members should send letters to club customers, asking for information on the amount of slot-machine funds distributed to charities and charitable enterprises. The information gained from letters which the clubs return will be used in preparing statistics for the committees in Congress."

Note—Though a watered-down slot-machine control bill passed Congress anyhow, its enforcement is still held up by the Justice Department.

Slanted News

The Washington Times-Herald has demoted its crack Capitol Hill reporter, Bert Wissman—for good reporting. Wissman was assigned to cover the Senate investigation of the smear campaign against ex-Senator Tydings and the fake picture which the Times-Herald printed of Tydings and Communist Earl Browder together.

Wissman reported the hearings objectively, telling both sides of the story. But this wasn't what the Times-Herald wanted. So Wissman was given a cub reporters' rewrite job in the city room. Two substitutes were assigned to the Tydings' hearings who would write the news the way the Times-Herold wanted it.

California Crime Error

Looking over back Merry-Go-Round columns on the Kefauver probe, I ran across an error and also an indication of how difficult it was to pass the Kefauver resolution in the first place.

On April 8, 1950, this column reported: "There's more than meets the eye behind the mysterious maneuvering to block the Kefauver resolution for an investigation of organized crime in the U. S. A. It is now April. The Kefauver investigation was first proposed in January. It hasn't yet passed the Senate. . . .

"Powerful forces are at work which don't want any investigation at all. Senator Kefauver has had all sorts of personal pressure brought by friends he never dreamed were close to the gamblers asking him to side-track his probe. . ."

The April 8 column, while perhaps helping to spur passage of the crime probe, erred in further comment regarding one phase of the California crime situation, when I reported that George Rochester of Los Angeles had "whitewashed" the Guaranty Finance Company, later found to be a front for gamblers. This reference to Mr. Rochester I now find to have been an error and I want to take this opportunity to rectify any injustice that may have been done Mr. Rochester.

Merry-Go-Round

Those famous 800 letters now on President Truman's desk, which congressmen wrote to the RFC asking for loans, are only a small drop in the bucket. The President has been informed that senators and representatives have written more than 6,000 appeals to the RFC on behalf of their friends . . . A reactionary radio commentator has sent one of his assistants to Bill Boyle's home town in Missouri to see if he can dig up any dirt on the Democratic national chairman . . . Plug for the air force—the House Armed Services Committee inspected Chanute Field, Ill., last week looking for abuses. Hearings were even held behind closed doors, so witnesses wouldn't be afraid to talk. However, the committee didn't uncover a single complaint; on the contrary, it took down several pages of favorable testimony.

UN Stewing Over Parallel Crossing Must Give Communists Many Chuckles in Peiping

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 30—Way over there in Peiping where they listen to the hourly broadcasts of news from the United States, the Chinese Communists must be having many a chuckle as they learn how scared the U.N. and various American spokesmen seem to be about crossing the 38th Parallel. It certainly doesn't persuade the Red Chinese that they should quit. Rather it encourages them to keep on harassing our troops.

Just about the time that the forces of General MacArthur have inflicted considerable punishment on the Chinese divisions and the way is opened for a "cease fire" or further military movements to carry out the mission of the U.N. to liberate all of Korea, press dispatches from Washington say that the U.N. commander doesn't have this or that authority and the impression is given that the U.N. commander has been reprimanded, if not discredited.

President Truman began the present chapter of comment with the statement that General MacArthur didn't need any additional instructions about the 38th Parallel. No sooner had he said those words than he was pounced upon abroad as having said something indiscreet. It seems that whenever anybody talks publicly about fighting the Red Chinese and the Russian-inspired North Koreans and punishing them for their aggression and their atrocities in Korea, the conversation must be suppressed as indiscreet.

The next episode came when Secretary of Defense Marshall tried to explain to the press that MacArthur had orders to protect the security of his command and he could go anywhere he pleased to protect it. Anything like a general advance, however, up to the Yalu river would require further consultation by the U.N. governments with troops in Korea. The secretary did not say that such an advance would or would not be ordered. Obviously, any broad advance would require reinforcements and large-scale activity and perhaps the bombing of bases in Manchuria. It was this contingency which Secretary Marshall properly spoke of as one that would need further consideration on a political rather than a military level. When he uses the word "political," he doesn't mean "political" in the ordinary sense but high-level "policy" about which the civilian heads of government would consult.

Confirmation of the Marshall view has since come from President Truman, who told his press conference that General MacArthur has the power to go across the 38th Parallel as he sees necessary but said that this does not necessarily mean authority to go all the way to the Manchurian border on the Yalu river.

The foregoing is plain enough, but it is the very discussion of military plans which must make the Red Chinese feel that they have nothing to fear by continuing to kill American troops and their U.N. allies in Korea. Nothing more serious will happen to the enemy evidently than a patrol type of counterattack within a limited area.

On top of these impressions of weakness and hesitation among the U.N. countries comes the amazing declaration by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, a member of of the American delegation to the U.N., that U.N. troops "should not ever have crossed the 38th Parallel, and we should not cross it now."

Mrs. Roosevelt thinks that the U.N. should stabilize their defense line at the 38th Parallel and demand negotiations with Red China. The Peiping radio has just rejected our latest peace overtures, as it has repeatedly rejected past approaches. Mrs. Roosevelt thinks the U.N. should answer those rejections now by moving our forces back into South Korea and that the U.N. should then start a rehabilitation program designed to demonstrate the U.N. intentions toward North Korea. One might infer that these intentions had never before been demonstrated and that perhaps, as the Red Chinese allege, the U.N. itself has been guilty of aggression. One wonders what assurances anybody can give that South Korea will not be attacked again.

Above all the confusinon stands Mr. Truman's statement, repeated on Thursday of this week, that our goal is the establishment of a free Korea with a free government. Clearly this cannot be accomplished by recognizing any Communist authority in the north of Korea or any such boundary as the 38th Parallel again.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I have insulted the so-called Buchanan Committee of the House of Representatives. I have accused it of hounding law-abiding citizens in the interest of questionable private organizations. On the whole, I have done everything I can to goad the Democratic members of this evil inquisition to some action which would enable me to show up vicious practices of congressional committees in dealing with their masters, the citizens of the United States. Not one of these Democrats has had the confidence to accept the challenge. They know I have got them over a barrel.

I acknowledge the right of Congress to make citizens, whether good or "bad," attend committee hearings and give information which the committees believe, or pretend to believe, they require for the constitutional work of Congress, the enactment of legislation.

But the political hounding of citizens, the theft of documents, the acceptance of stolen documents from crooks with axes to grind, the extortion of private information on irrelevant matters from citizens who do not know their rights or who are afraid to stand up for their rights, have gone too far. Congress, itself now has become disreputable.

Any "investigator" bearing credentials from any committee who ever comes to me demanding "all books and papers" on any subject, without specifying exactly what books and what papers, is going to get the surprise of his life.

Robert M. La Follette, Jr., of Wisconsin, let the Communists plant as his chief counsel John Abt, who has since been named in the spy hearings of the Committee on Un-American Activities as a Communist, and Charles Kramer, who has been named as another Communist member of the same apparatus.

Years after the harm was done, Whittaker Chambers testified that Abt became leader of the Communist underground group without our government. Under oath, Abt refused to say whether he had ever been a Communist on the ground that a truthful answer might incriminate him.

Elizabeth Bentley, another reformed member of the traitorous apparatus, testified that Kramer was a Communist and that his real name was Krevitsky.

Leon Pressman, who has since admitted that he was a Communist, and Alger Hiss, who has now gone to prison for perjury, were counsel for the Nye committee. Senator Nye, be it granted, was an innocent victim of this vicious stratagem. But the citizen-victims of the inquisition are no better off for that. And the damage to men and firms in our first line of defense on the home front in producing munitions was not redressed by the belated and sideslong revelation of the truth.

A pair of Communist plants, operating under La Follette's authority, created the durable fiction that the fatal Communist riot at Republic Steel in south Chicago was a capitalist massacre organized by Tom Girdler. Girdler, to his great credit, fought them all at the time. I hope I am not immodest in saying that I

Amedeo VII, Duke of Savoia, Italy 1360-1391, was known as "Conte Rosso" (The Red Count) because during his entire lifetime he wore clothes of no other color but red. Amedeo looked at himself in the mirror and was so terrified to see that the bandage was made of green silk, that he died on the spot.

SMOOTHER TRAVEL

Free travel between countries, without the nuisance of long waits for baggage inspection and visas, may be far in the future, but steps are at least being taken in that direction. A United Nations agency, the Transportation and Communications Commission is working on the problem.

Already less time is being spent by travelers at some frontiers in Europe, and nations are being urged to do away with complicated procedures for tourists passing between countries. For those who drive, highway markings may be made more uniform in the future, and drivers' licenses which would be valid everywhere are being considered.

These measures will undoubtedly contribute to the friendly attitude of tourists to their hosts. Such minor irritations as long, unnecessary delays have often put tourists on the defensive, or made them offensively aggressive. A smooth eventless passage into another country will tend to make future relations harmonious.

RACKET MONEY IN BUSINESS

Americans are accustomed to tucking their criminal elements into nice, neat compartments, serene in the thought that however bad they might be they don't contaminate the rest of life.

That serenity ought to be disturbed, however, by facts now accumulating as result of the Kefauver crime inquiry and other investigations.

The evidence is unmistakable that many underworld leaders in many parts of the United States have heavily invaded legitimate business.

Frank Costello, alleged by Senate investigators to be underworld king, gave the Kefauver committee some notion of his legitimate investments. Other testimony suggests that mobsters have been pouring millions into hotels, liquor firms, automobile and steel-making companies, food and beverage manufacture, trucking, laundries, dressmaking.

A steel official in Detroit told the Kefauver committee a gangster helped out his firm with a $100,000 investment at a time when the company needed funds to acquire properties of another concern.

Anthony D'Anna, alleged by the committee to be Detroit head of Mafia, the Italian terrorist ring, is described as holding a half interest in the motor carrier which hauls all Ford cars from Ford plants in the area. He's also listed as director of a bank.

But why multiply the illustrations? They are more than ample to shock us into realizing that in many parts of the U. S. economy the line between legitimacy and illegitimacy is almost rubbed out.

ADENOIDS, TONSILS AND ALLERGY

It would seem that the wholesale removal of tonsils comes in waves of enthusiasm to correct or prevent various defects or diseases when certain symptoms are present and no other organ is apparently at fault.

Now, despite some statistics about the value of removal of tonsils in children and adults which do not attach much importance to infection from tonsils, practically every physician has had cases in which removal of tonsils has cleared up aches and pains, rheumatic and other kinds. In cases in which the pain did not disappear within what was considered a reasonable time, the removal of the tonsils has been considered a useless operation. When the pain disappeared several months later—as long as 18 months after operation—the operation was given no credit, yet it is known that the infective organisms and their products remain in the blood and bowel for many months after the infective tonsils were removed.

In Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Monthly, Drs. Francis L. Lederer and Arnold A. Grossman, University of Illinois, state that the tonsil is now known to be a useful organ, especially in the younger child, as it plays a major role in "vaccinating" the body against various diseases. Tonsils are often called filters, separating poisons from the blood. Removal of normal tonsils can therefore prove harmful. It is a mistake to assume that all large tonsils are infected. Removal of large normal or uninfected tonsils to prevent disease of any kind (rheumatism or arthritis) is valueless and may be detrimental. "Tonsils in children under 6 or 7 should not be removed except under extreme circumstances," say Drs. Lederer and Grossman. When allergy is present, tonsils should not be removed in most cases. This is the reason that removing tonsils does not prevent "head colds."

The general rule should be that when there is no infection present or obstruction from large tonsils, neither the tonsils nor the adenoids should be removed in the child who is allergic to various substances—foods, feathers, furs, pollen. The allergy should first be corrected, if possible.

However, in severe cases of infection, of tonsils and adenoids these should be removed even if allergy is present.

Ain't It Wonderful What a Spring Moon Will Do?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Most people don't know it, but the slot-machine boys put on a terrific lobbying drive right under the noses of Capitol Hill solons to defeat the Preston bill regulating slot machines. The lobby even listed certain members of Congress to be contacted.

Operation of the slot-machine lobby gives a slight indication of the pressures exerted to kill the Kefauver crime probe.

In the case of the slot-machine bill, representatives of seven leading slot-machine manufacturers met secretly in the Chicago offices of the O.D. Jennings Co., in order to plan their wire-pulling campaign. They were out to kill legislation introduced by Congressman Prince Preston, Jr., of Georgia, for the regulation of slot machines shipped across state lines. A confidential copy of the secret minutes of this meeting has been obtained and revealing excerpts follow:

"Reliable Congressmen "

"Herb Jones of the Bally Manufacturing Company) made the following comments:

"Contacting Congressmen—This ought to be continued, but with caution. In other words, members of the House subcommittee ought to be approached, but only if the contact made with the congressman is extremely reliable. Congressman Beckworth of Texas (Democrat) and Congress Elsworth of Oregon (Republican) will be handled by Jones. The other industry committee members ought to contact the House inter-state commerce committeemen assigned to them. Also, each industry member should speak to the Congressman of the district in which his place of business is located.

"The Senator Kefauver Investigation and Public Relations—The industry can't take the attitude that it is opposed to the Kefauver investigation. To do so would line it up with the hoodlums. However, some of the attacks to which the industry is presently being subjected could be prevented with the use of an intelligent public-relations program...Members of the industry have consistently lied by maintaining to the public that the industry does not manufacture gambling equipment. This, of course, is not true. There ought to be an honest admission of the fact that the industry does manufacture gambling equipment."

The representative of the Bell-O-Matic Corporation, Vince Shay, suggested that the industry "ought not to rest on its oars but ought to conceive a plan of operation. The committee ought to consider the possibility of employing a professional representative in Washington, D. C., who would coordinate the activities of the entire industry in doing whatever had to be done to defeat the passage of the (slot-machine control) bill."

Slot-Machine Strategy

In summary, the secret minutes report: "After discussion, it was finally determined that the course of action to be taken by the industry committee is as follows:

"1. Industry committee members should see congressmen on the House Transportation Subcommittee, providing their contacts with these congressmen are reliable and beyond question. They should also contact the congressmen of the district in which their plants are located.

"2. They should submit their arguments against the Preston bill and similar legislation in writing.

"3. Committee members should send letters to club customers, asking for information on the amount of slot-machine funds distributed to charities and charitable enterprises. The information gained from letters which the clubs return will be used in preparing statistics for the committees in Congress."

Note—Though a watered-down slot-machine control bill passed Congress anyhow, its enforcement is still held up by the Justice Department.

Slanted News

The Washington Times-Herald has demoted its crack Capitol Hill reporter, Bert Wissman—for good reporting. Wissman was assigned to cover the Senate investigation of the smear campaign against ex-Senator Tydings and the fake picture which the Times-Herald printed of Tydings and Communist Earl Browder together.

Wissman reported the hearings objectively, telling both sides of the story. But this wasn't what the Times-Herald wanted. So Wissman was given a cub reporters' rewrite job in the city room. Two substitutes were assigned to the Tydings' hearings who would write the news the way the Times-Herold wanted it.

California Crime Error

Looking over back Merry-Go-Round columns on the Kefauver probe, I ran across an error and also an indication of how difficult it was to pass the Kefauver resolution in the first place.

On April 8, 1950, this column reported: "There's more than meets the eye behind the mysterious maneuvering to block the Kefauver resolution for an investigation of organized crime in the U. S. A. It is now April. The Kefauver investigation was first proposed in January. It hasn't yet passed the Senate. . . .

"Powerful forces are at work which don't want any investigation at all. Senator Kefauver has had all sorts of personal pressure brought by friends he never dreamed were close to the gamblers asking him to side-track his probe. . ."

The April 8 column, while perhaps helping to spur passage of the crime probe, erred in further comment regarding one phase of the California crime situation, when I reported that George Rochester of Los Angeles had "whitewashed" the Guaranty Finance Company, later found to be a front for gamblers. This reference to Mr. Rochester I now find to have been an error and I want to take this opportunity to rectify any injustice that may have been done Mr. Rochester.

Merry-Go-Round

Those famous 800 letters now on President Truman's desk, which congressmen wrote to the RFC asking for loans, are only a small drop in the bucket. The President has been informed that senators and representatives have written more than 6,000 appeals to the RFC on behalf of their friends . . . A reactionary radio commentator has sent one of his assistants to Bill Boyle's home town in Missouri to see if he can dig up any dirt on the Democratic national chairman . . . Plug for the air force—the House Armed Services Committee inspected Chanute Field, Ill., last week looking for abuses. Hearings were even held behind closed doors, so witnesses wouldn't be afraid to talk. However, the committee didn't uncover a single complaint; on the contrary, it took down several pages of favorable testimony.

The Buddhas That Have Never Been Counted

Amedeo VII, Duke of Savoia, Italy 1360-1391, was known as "Conte Rosso" (The Red Count) because during his entire lifetime he wore clothes of no other color but red. When he was 31 years old he consulted a physician about his receding hairline. The doctor prescribed a salve and offered to apply the first bandage to his forehead. Amedeo looked at himself in the mirror and was so terrified to see that the bandage was made of green silk, that he died on the spot.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 30—Way over there in Peiping where they listen to the hourly broadcasts of news from the United States, the Chinese Communists must be having many a chuckle as they learn how scared the U.N. and various American spokesmen seem to be about crossing the 38th Parallel. It certainly doesn't persuade the Red Chinese that they should quit. Rather it encourages them to keep on harassing our troops.

Just about the time that the forces of General MacArthur have inflicted considerable punishment on the Chinese divisions and the way is opened for a "cease fire" or further military movements to carry out the mission of the U.N. to liberate all of Korea, press dispatches from Washington say that the U.N. commander doesn't have this or that authority and the impression is given that the U.N. commander has been reprimanded, if not discredited.

President Truman began the present chapter of comment with the statement that General MacArthur didn't need any additional instructions about the 38th Parallel. No sooner had he said those words than he was pounced upon abroad as having said something indiscreet. It seems that whenever anybody talks publicly about fighting the Red Chinese and the Russian-inspired North Koreans and punishing them for their aggression and their atrocities in Korea, the conversation must be suppressed as indiscreet.

The next episode came when Secretary of Defense Marshall tried to explain to the press that MacArthur had orders to protect the security of his command and he could go anywhere he pleased to protect it. Anything like a general advance, however, up to the Yalu river would require further consultation by the U.N. governments with troops in Korea. The secretary did not say that such an advance would or would not be ordered. Obviously, any broad advance would require reinforcements and large-scale activity and perhaps the bombing of bases in Manchuria. It was this contingency which Secretary Marshall properly spoke of as one that would need further consideration on a political rather than a military level. When he uses the word "political," he doesn't mean "political" in the ordinary sense but high-level "policy" about which the civilian heads of government would consult.

Confirmation of the Marshall view has since come from President Truman, who told his press conference that General MacArthur has the power to go across the 38th Parallel as he sees necessary but said that this does not necessarily mean authority to go all the way to the Manchurian border on the Yalu river.

The foregoing is plain enough, but it is the very discussion of military plans which must make the Red Chinese feel that they have nothing to fear by continuing to kill American troops and their U.N. allies in Korea. Nothing more serious will happen to the enemy evidently than a patrol type of counterattack within a limited area.

On top of these impressions of weakness and hesitation among the U.N. countries comes the amazing declaration by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, a member of of the American delegation to the U.N., that U.N. troops "should not ever have crossed the 38th Parallel, and we should not cross it now."

Mrs. Roosevelt thinks that the U.N. should stabilize their defense line at the 38th Parallel and demand negotiations with Red China. The Peiping radio has just rejected our latest peace overtures, as it has repeatedly rejected past approaches. Mrs. Roosevelt thinks the U.N. should answer those rejections now by moving our forces back into South Korea and that the U.N. should then start a rehabilitation program designed to demonstrate the U.N. intentions toward North Korea. One might infer that these intentions had never before been demonstrated and that perhaps, as the Red Chinese allege, the U.N. itself has been guilty of aggression. One wonders what assurances anybody can give that South Korea will not be attacked again.

Above all the confusinon stands Mr. Truman's statement, repeated on Thursday of this week, that our goal is the establishment of a free Korea with a free government. Clearly this cannot be accomplished by recognizing any Communist authority in the north of Korea or any such boundary as the 38th Parallel again.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I have insulted the so-called Buchanan Committee of the House of Representatives. I have accused it of hounding law-abiding citizens in the interest of questionable private organizations. On the whole, I have done everything I can to goad the Democratic members of this evil inquisition to some action which would enable me to show up vicious practices of congressional committees in dealing with their masters, the citizens of the United States. Not one of these Democrats has had the confidence to accept the challenge. They know I have got them over a barrel.

I acknowledge the right of Congress to make citizens, whether good or "bad," attend committee hearings and give information which the committees believe, or pretend to believe, they require for the constitutional work of Congress, the enactment of legislation.

But the political hounding of citizens, the theft of documents, the acceptance of stolen documents from crooks with axes to grind, the extortion of private information on irrelevant matters from citizens who do not know their rights or who are afraid to stand up for their rights, have gone too far. Congress, itself now has become disreputable.

Any "investigator" bearing credentials from any committee who ever comes to me demanding "all books and papers" on any subject, without specifying exactly what books and what papers, is going to get the surprise of his life.

Robert M. La Follette, Jr., of Wisconsin, let the Communists plant as his chief counsel John Abt, who has since been named in the spy hearings of the Committee on Un-American Activities as a Communist, and Charles Kramer, who has been named as another Communist member of the same apparatus.

Years after the harm was done, Whittaker Chambers testified that Abt became leader of the Communist underground group without our government. Under oath, Abt refused to say whether he had ever been a Communist on the ground that a truthful answer might incriminate him.

Elizabeth Bentley, another reformed member of the traitorous apparatus, testified that Kramer was a Communist and that his real name was Krevitsky.

Leon Pressman, who has since admitted that he was a Communist, and Alger Hiss, who has now gone to prison for perjury, were counsel for the Nye committee. Senator Nye, be it granted, was an innocent victim of this vicious stratagem. But the citizen-victims of the inquisition are no better off for that. And the damage to men and firms in our first line of defense on the home front in producing munitions was not redressed by the belated and sidelong revelation of the truth.

A pair of Communist plants, operating under La Follette's authority, created the durable fiction that the fatal Communist riot at Republic Steel in south Chicago was a capitalist massacre organized by Tom Girdler. Girdler, to his great credit, fought them all at the time. I hope I am not immodest in saying that I

Free travel between countries, without the nuisance of long waits for baggage inspection and visas, may be far in the future, but steps are at least being taken in that direction. A United Nations agency, the Transportation and Communications Commission is working on the problem.

Already less time is being spent by travelers at some frontiers in Europe, and nations are being urged to do away with complicated procedures for tourists passing between countries. For those who drive, highway markings may be made more uniform in the future, and drivers' licenses which would be valid everywhere are being considered.

These measures will undoubtedly contribute to the friendly attitude of tourists to their hosts. Such minor irritations as long, unnecessary delays have often put tourists on the defensive, or made them offensively aggressive. A smooth eventless passage into another country will tend to make future relations harmonious.

RACKET MONEY IN BUSINESS

Americans are accustomed to tucking their criminal elements into nice, neat compartments, serene in the thought that however bad they might be they don't contaminate the rest of life.

That serenity ought to be disturbed, however, by facts now accumulating as result of the Kefauver crime inquiry and other investigations.

The evidence is unmistakable that many underworld leaders in many parts of the United States have heavily invaded legitimate business.

Frank Costello, alleged by Senate investigators to be underworld king, gave the Kefauver committee some notion of his legitimate investments. He put $40,000 into a television concern, $41,000 into an oil company, thousands into real estate properties in New York and elsewhere, and still other funds into a firm making an item supposed to cook a chicken by "infra-red rays."

Other testimony suggests that mobsters have been pouring millions into hotels, liquor firms, automobile and steel-making companies, food and beverage manufacture, trucking, laundries, dressmaking.

A steel official in Detroit told the Kefauver committee a gangster helped out his firm with a $100,000 investment at a time when the company needed funds to acquire properties of another concern.

Anthony D'Anna, alleged by the committee to be Detroit head of Mafia, the Italian terrorist ring, is described as holding a half interest in the motor carrier which hauls all Ford cars from Ford plants in the area. He's also listed as director of a bank.

But why multiply the illustrations? They are more than ample to shock us into realizing that in many parts of the U. S. economy the line between legitimacy and illegitimacy is almost rubbed out.

The mobsters' purpose is clear. First, it gives a cloak of honesty to all their nefarious underworld enterprises. When questioned, they present their legitimate front, protesting heatedly that they are honest businessmen.

Secondly, it provides a lucrative investment outlet for the millions they make in gambling, vice, racketeering and such.

All this makes them richer and muddies the waters so thoroughly that it is hard for the law ever to nail them.

How can we halt this vicious invasion of legitimate enterprise? Obviously, the honest managers of honest business owe it to themselves and the public to be eternally vigilant. They need to ask searching questions of any big investor. The prime one: "Where did the money come from?"

Laxity in this field is no more admirable in the business community than in the headquarters of the RFC or among college basketball players. The moral code exempts no one.

Laws, new or old, can't do the whole job. The people who patronize the mobsters' enterprises must bear a good share of responsibility. So long as billions are paid out in tribute, the gangsters will flourish and have the money to worm into honest activity.

Feeling comfortably remote from the "wicked characters" whose faces TV and the newsreels have showed you recently? How do you know one of them doesn't own the business down the street?

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

LETTERS TO THE GREAT — VII

My dear Senator Kefauver:

I read and hear that it is your intention not to continue with the Kefauver Committee even if the Senate decides to go on probing into organized crime in this country.

That would be most unfortunate.

The people of this country do not want you to quit. Nor do they want Rudolph Halley to quit as counsel.

Your committee has captured the imagination of the American people. In spite of what such men as Costello, Carroll and Kleinman and their lawyers say about television and radio, it is the right of all Americans to attend open hearings of congressional committees, and these modern devices serve the excellent purpose of making that possible.

What difference can there be in the theory of congressional committees whether the open hearing is in a small room where only 100 can see and hear or on television where the whole people can see and hear? Are the people to be excluded from open sessions of Congress because television has invaded that body to show the President delivering an address on the state of the union?

If your committee were to hold its hearings in secret, you would be accused of star chamber proceedings. You hold them in the open and you are being accused of presenting these witnesses to the entire nation.

I can well understand that you are weary of meeting with the kind of people whom you have to interrogate. It must be pretty nasty work. Your compensation, and that holds for your colleagues and your staff, must be that you are uncovering a criminal empire that has grown up in our country. The danger of this dual government surely is evident to anyone who understands our structure of freedom. It becomes offensive when we see the faces of the racketeers and read the volume of wealth they have accumulated.

Your work is not completed. The people of this country want it to be carried further. If a vote were taken, you would find that they want it carried forward by the present committee and by its present staff. After the failure of the Tydings Committee, your committee and your counsel have restored confidence in the processes of congressional committees.

Do not disappoint us by quitting now. Go on! This is important work.

May I suggest this to you?

Lawyers seem to be privileged persons. They are permitted to keep secret the relations between lawyer and client. They may advise their clients in your presence not to answer questions you or your counsel ask, and they are in no manner responsible for the advice they give. Only the client goes to jail.

However, is a lawyer permitted to advise his client to subvert the United States?

We are trying to tell the people of the world that in this country, government by choice, government by the people, what some call democratic government, works. But does it really work when a dual government, consisting of bootleggers, gamblers, dope-peddlers and other criminal elements, exists with the connivance of duly elected government officials, some of whom are even beholden to the criminals for their positions?

Unless this union of crime and politics is smashed, we are in danger of this element in our population growing so rich and powerful that they can control government itself.

And that brings one back to the lawyers. What part do they play in advising their clients how to live by crime? It is one thing for a lawyer to try to rescue a client from the consequences of his own errors. It is quite a different matter when the lawyer shows a client how he can continue to pursue criminal activities, particularly such as may endanger the nation, while living in apparent respectability.

And it also comes to me that in some instances, the lawyers for the racketeers have been in the past and may now be the advocates of other clients engaged in other subversive, political and conspiratorial activities.

In a word, there is much to do that your committee has not had time to do. It should be continued by the Senate until its work is completed and you ought to remain its chairman and Mr. Halley its counsel because the people have confidence that your are serving America.

Don't let us down!

Faithfully yours,
GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

California Crime Error

Looking over back Merry-Go-Round columns on the Kefauver probe, I ran across an error and also an indication of how difficult it was to pass the Kefauver resolution in the first place.

On April 8, 1950, this column reported: "There's more than meets the eye behind the mysterious maneuvering to block the Kefauver resolution for an investigation of organized crime in the U. S. A. It is now April. The Kefauver investigation was first proposed in January. It hasn't yet passed the Senate. . . .

"Powerful forces are at work which don't want any investigation at all. Senator Kefauver has had all sorts of personal pressure brought by friends he never dreamed were close to the gamblers asking him to side-track his probe. . . ."

The April 8 column, while perhaps helping to spur passage of the crime probe, erred in further comment regarding one phase of the California crime situation, when I reported that George Rochester of Los Angeles had "whitewashed" the Guaranty Finance Company, later found to be a front for gamblers. This reference to Mr. Rochester I now find to have been an error and I want to take this opportunity to rectify any injustice that may have been done Mr. Rochester.

Merry-Go-Round

Those famous 800 letters now on President Truman's desk, which congressmen wrote to the RFC asking for loans, are only a small drop in the bucket. The President has been informed that senators and representatives have written more than 6,000 appeals to the RFC on behalf of their friends . . . A reactionary radio commentator has sent one of his assistants to Bill Boyle's home town in Missouri to see if he can dig up any dirt on the Democratic national chairman . . . Plug for the air force—the House Armed Services Committee inspected Chanute Field, Ill., last week looking for abuses. Hearings were even held behind closed doors, so witnesses wouldn't be afraid to talk. However, the committee didn't uncover a single complaint; on the contrary, it took down several pages of favorable testimony.

The Buddhas That Have Never Been Counted

Amedeo VII, Duke of Savoia, Italy 1360-1391, was known as "Conte Rosso" (The Red Count) because during his entire lifetime he wore clothes of no other color but red. When he was 31 years old he consulted a physician about his receding hairline. The doctor prescribed a salve and offered to apply the first bandage to his forehead. Amedeo looked at himself in the mirror and was so terrified to see that the bandage was made of green silk, that he died on the spot.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 30—Way over there in Peiping where they listen to the hourly broadcasts of news from the United States, the Chinese Communists must be having many a chuckle as they learn how scared the U.N. and various American spokesmen seem to be about crossing the 38th Parallel. It certainly doesn't persuade the Red Chinese that they should quit. Rather it encourages them to keep on harassing our troops.

Just about the time that the forces of General MacArthur have inflicted considerable punishment on the Chinese divisions and the way is opened for a "cease fire" or further military movements to carry out the mission of the U.N. to liberate all of Korea, press dispatches from Washington say that the U.N. commander doesn't have this or that authority and the impression is given that the U.N. commander has been reprimanded, if not discredited.

President Truman began the present chapter of comment with the statement that General MacArthur didn't need any additional instructions about the 38th Parallel. No sooner had he said those words than he was pounced upon abroad as having said something indiscreet. It seems that whenever anybody talks publicly about fighting the Red Chinese and the Russian-inspired North Koreans and punishing them for their aggression and their atrocities in Korea, the conversation must be suppressed as indiscreet.

The next episode came when Secretary of Defense Marshall tried to explain to the press that MacArthur had orders to protect the security of his command and he could go anywhere he pleased to protect it. Anything like a general advance, however, up to the Yalu river would require further consultation by the U.N. governments with troops in Korea. The secretary did not say that such an advance would or would not be ordered. Obviously, any broad advance would require reinforcements and large-scale activity and perhaps the bombing of bases in Manchuria. It was this contingency which Secretary Marshall properly spoke of as one that would need further consideration on a political rather than a military level. When he uses the word "political," he doesn't mean "political" in the ordinary sense but high-level "policy" about which the civilian heads of government would consult.

Confirmation of the Marshall view has since come from President Truman, who told his press conference that General MacArthur has the power to go across the 38th Parallel as he sees necessary but said that this does not necessarily mean authority to go all the way to the Manchurian border on the Yalu river.

The foregoing is plain enough, but it is the very discussion of military plans which must make the Red Chinese feel that they have nothing to fear by continuing to kill American troops and their U.N. allies in Korea. Nothing more serious will happen to the enemy evidently than a patrol type of counterattack within a limited area.

On top of these impressions of weakness and hesitation among the U.N. countries comes the amazing declaration by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, a member of of the American delegation to the U.N., that U.N. troops "should not ever have crossed the 38th Parallel, and we should not cross it now."

Mrs. Roosevelt thinks that the U.N. should stabilize their defense line at the 38th Parallel and demand negotiations with Red China. The Peiping radio has just rejected our latest peace overtures, as it has repeatedly rejected past approaches. Mrs. Roosevelt thinks the U.N. should answer those rejections now by moving our forces back into South Korea and that the U.N. should then start a rehabilitation program designed to demonstrate the U.N. intentions toward North Korea. One might infer that these intentions had never before been demonstrated and that perhaps, as the Red Chinese allege, the U.N. itself has been guilty of aggression. One wonders what assurances anybody can give that South Korea will not be attacked again.

Above all the confusinon stands Mr. Truman's statement, repeated on Thursday of this week, that our goal is the establishment of a free Korea with a free government. Clearly this cannot be accomplished by recognizing any Communist authority in the north of Korea or any such boundary as the 38th Parallel again.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I have insulted the so-called Buchanan Committee of the House of Representatives. I have accused it of hounding law-abiding citizens in the interest of questionable private organizations. On the whole, I have done everything I can to goad the Democratic members of this evil inquisition to some action which would enable me to show up vicious practices of congressional committees in dealing with their masters, the citizens of the United States. Not one of these Democrats has had the confidence to accept the challenge. They know I have got them over a barrel.

I acknowledge the right of Congress to make citizens, whether good or "bad," attend committee hearings and give information which the committees believe, or pretend to believe, they require for the constitutional work of Congress, the enactment of legislation.

But the political hounding of citizens, the theft of documents, the acceptance of stolen documents from crooks with axes to grind, the extortion of private information on irrelevant matters from citizens who do not know their rights or who are afraid to stand up for their rights, have gone too far. Congress itself now has become disreputable.

Any "investigator" bearing credentials from any committee who ever comes to me demanding "all books and papers" on any subject, without specifying exactly what books and what papers, is going to get the surprise of his life.

Robert M. La Follette, Jr., of Wisconsin, let the Communists plant as his chief counsel John Abt, who has since been named in the spy hearings of the Committee on Un-American Activities as a Communist, and Charles Kramer, who has been named as another Communist member of the same apparatus.

Years after the harm was done, Whittaker Chambers testified that Abt became leader of the Communist underground group without our government. Under oath, Abt refused to say whether he had ever been a Communist on the ground that a truthful answer might incriminate him.

Elizabeth Bentley, another reformed member of the traitorous apparatus, testified that Kramer was a Communist and that his real name was Krevitsky.

Leon Pressman, who has since admitted that he was a Communist, and Alger Hiss, who has now gone to prison for perjury, were counsel for the Nye committee. Senator Nye, be it granted, was an innocent victim of this vicious stratagem. But the citizen-victims of the inquisition are no better off for that. And the damage to men and firms in our first line of defense on the home front in producing munitions was not redressed by the belated and sidelong revelation of the truth.

A pair of Communist plants, operating under La Follette's authority, created the durable fiction that the fatal Communist riot at Republic Steel in south Chicago was a capitalist massacre organized by Tom Girdler. Girdler, to his great credit, fought them all at the time. I hope I am not immodest in saying that I

RED LIGHT IN KOREA—To keep an eye on the enemy in Korea, G.I.'s on the central sector use huge searchlights such as this one to light up the terrain and expose moving troops. Say She Slurred Pope

Chieti, Italy, March 30 (AP)—Pretty brunette Laura Diaz, glamor girl of Italy's Communist Party, goes on trial today charged with "offenses against the Pope." Carpenters and painters worked until this morning to renovate the shabby little courtroom where the 30-year-old Communist deputy to Parliament will face a board of three judges. Miss Diaz is charged with having made slurring statements about the pontiff in a speech July 13, 1948, at war-battered Ortona-a-Mare on the Adriatic coast near here.

As Pegler Sees It

was quick to challenge the fraud in general and La Follette in especial.

The documents of the La Follette committee were published at enormous expense, in addition to the cost of the proceedings. There were 78 volumes, of 33,000 printed pages. La Follette later admitted that 'Communists had "infiltrated his staff."

First of all, he will have to prove that he is neither a crook himself nor a member nor secret agent of some pro-Communist political outfit or some gestapo dedicated to the proposition that Franklin D. Roosevelt was God Almighty. I will require assurance that any private records which I do produce for the legitimate guidance of Congress will not be photographed for the use of any guttersnipe of the radio or the disgraceful Washington "press" corps, nor any blackmailer.

If I am asked to give testimony in "executive" session, a term which implies secrecy, I will insist that everybody present be put under oath to keep all my testimony confidential. Otherwise, some cheap shyster with an appetite for publicity and an affection for Soviet Russia may blab my "confidential" testimony to the claque of New Deal "columnists" who, to the shame of our free press, are widely represented as honest journalists.

And I will demand the anti-Communist oath of all concerned even in open hearings. I say that because, long after the harm was done, we were allowed to learn, quietly, that the long, lingering, phony investigation of "anti-labor" activities by the La Follette committee, and the so-called investigation of the munitions industry by the Nye committee which smeared our most useful manufacturers of military wares as "merchants of death," were Communist projects operated by the U. S. Congress.

Those were damnable crimes done by Congress. The reason why they have not been dramatized in proportion to the evil which they wrought is that history rushes on. The young citizens of today were children then. The older citizens of today are just older fools. They would not have believed the truth even if we had been able to tell it to them at the time.

Defense Letdown Will Help Russia

Washington, March 30 (AP) — Senator Ives (R.-N.Y.) said today Russia will benefit from what he described as "a decided letdown" in public support of the defense mobilization program.

But National Production Administrator Manly Fleischmann says if Russia hopes to wage a successful war against the United States, she'll have to strike this year.

And Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson has told a congressional committee a rearmament program now getting into full swing will make this nation "very strong" by the end of 1951.

Wilson and Fleischmann expressed their views on the situation in testifying March 7 before the House Appropriations Committee. They were backing up their agencies' requests for operating funds. The committee made the testimony public today.

In testifying Wednesday before Senate Appropriations Committee, Wilson said while the production program was progressing well he was not "quite as optimistic about our stabilization effort."

Ives referred to this today in telling a reporter that the turn of events in Korea is making it more difficult to sell the American people on need for continued effort and sacrifice.

"The situation regarding public support of controls and consumer goods restrictions probably is going to get worse if things continue to look up in Korea," Ives said.

He added that a specific example of the difficulty will be evident when Congress takes up extension of the defense production act, which includes wage-price control authority. The present law expires June 30.

Say She Slurred Pope

Chieti, Italy, March 30 (AP)—Pretty brunette Laura Diaz, glamor girl of Italy's Communist Party, goes on trial today charged with "offenses against the Pope." Carpenters and painters worked until this morning to renovate the shabby little courtroom where the 30-year-old Communist deputy to Parliament will face a board of three judges. Miss Diaz is charged with having made slurring statements about the pontiff in a speech July 13, 1948, at war-battered Ortona-a-Mare on the Adriatic coast near here.

Niagara Falls Boy Wins

Albany, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Robert J. Kolenkow, a Niagara Falls High School senior, won the $2,800 grand scholarship in the Westinghouse Corporation's annual search for science talent. The State Education Department reported today that New York state students won 12 of the 40 Westinghouse science scholarships. Frederick J. Ernst, Jr., of Ardsley won a $2,000 scholarship and was designated alternate for the $2,800 award.

Defense Letdown Will Help Russia

Washington, March 30 (AP) — Senator Ives (R.-N.Y.) said today Russia will benefit from what he described as "a decided letdown" in public support of the defense mobilization program.

But National Production Administrator Manly Fleischmann says if Russia hopes to wage a successful war against the United States, she'll have to strike this year.

And Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson has told a congressional committee a rearmament program now getting into full swing will make this nation "very strong" by the end of 1951.

Wilson and Fleischmann expressed their views on the situation in testifying March 7 before the House Appropriations Committee. They were backing up their agencies' requests for operating funds. The committee made the testimony public today.

In testifying Wednesday before Senate Appropriations Committee, Wilson said while the production program was progressing well he was not "quite as optimistic about our stabilization effort."

Ives referred to this today in telling a reporter that the turn of events in Korea is making it more difficult to sell the American people on need for continued effort and sacrifice.

"The situation regarding public support of controls and consumer goods restrictions probably is going to get worse if things continue to look up in Korea," Ives said.

He added that a specific example of the difficulty will be evident when Congress takes up extension of the defense production act, which includes wage-price control authority. The present law expires June 30.

was quick to challenge the fraud in general and La Follette in especial.

The documents of the La Follette committee were published at enormous expense, in addition to the cost of the proceedings. There were 78 volumes, of 33,000 printed pages. La Follette later admitted that Communists had "infiltrated his staff."

First of all, he will have to prove that he is neither a crook himself nor a member nor secret agent of some pro-Communist political outfit or some gestapo dedicated to the proposition that Franklin D. Roosevelt was God Almighty. I will require assurance that any private records which I do produce for the legitimate guidance of Congress will not be photographed for the use of any guttersnipe of the radio or the disgraceful Washington "press" corps, nor any blackmailer.

If I am asked to give testimony in "executive" session, a term which implies secrecy, I will insist that everybody present be put under oath to keep all my testimony confidential. Otherwise, some cheap shyster with an appetite for publicity and an affection for Soviet Russia may blab my "confidential" testimony to the claque of New Deal "columnists" who, to the shame of our free press, are widely represented as honest journalists.

And I will demand the anti-Communist oath of all concerned even in open hearings. I say that because, long after the harm was done, we were allowed to learn, quietly, that the long, lingering, phony investigation of "anti-labor" activities by the La Follette committee, and the so-called investigation of the munitions industry by the Nye committee which smeared our most useful manufacturers of military wares as "merchants of death," were Communist projects operated by the U. S. Congress.

Those were damnable crimes done by Congress. The reason why they have not been dramatized in proportion to the evil which they wrought is that history rushes on. The young citizens of today were children then. The older citizens of today are just older fools. They would not have believed the truth even if we had been able to tell it to them at the time.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Fla., March 30—Despite the heartbreaking casualties of the ill-fated Korean campaign, I have not been worried about the temporary successes achieved by the Russians. I am confident that the Chinese tide will turn permanently in our favor if President Truman avoids war with China.

I have been in the forefront of those who for some years have recognized that our country would one day face a Communist danger. I do not, however, believe that this Chinese threat is by any means the greatest danger facing the nation. Korea has aroused us, rudely to be sure. It has exposed in all its ugly nakedness Russian duplicity, and its threat to our future and to the peace of the world. At last, even the most stupid of our politicians can now see that Russian victory could mean world slavery.

We may never succeed entirely in making the world "safe for democracy;" but our American system is far superior to Russia's in every respect. The Reds may make us dance to their tune for a time; but, knowing them for what they are, I don't believe the American people will fall for either the intrigue or violence by which the Kremlin strives to reach its goals. We are too smart to be taken in by their harsh and false doctrines. So I do not fear America going Communistic or being conquered by Moscow's hordes, if we will invest in the soil and forget paper profits.

Enemies Within the U. S.

What very seriously disturbs me is our extremely smug assurance that the government of the United States is strong that it can resist every type of inward corrosion. I was a little heartened by the results of the November congressional elections. They indicate that Americans are not so completely sold on the bureaucratic trend in government.

I like to thing that, in addition to laying bare the evils of the Soviet system, the Korean campaign has also focused some attention on "the enemy within" our own government structure. But, I am not so sure even now that we recognize fully this enemy which is eating our substance through loose fiscal policies, make-believe money, unfair tax structures, excessive government spending for non-essential purposes and various inflationary subsidies.

Keeping Our Economic Freedom

As I see it, the final answer to the Russian challenge is a better faith and a fuller way of life. Despite its organization and the huge sums of money spent by its supporters, the Communist party has been unable to gain any substantial foothold in our nation. Why? Because here we have a better faith than communism, and a fuller way of life than prevails in Moscow or any of her satellite countries.

So long as we can preserve the religious faith which has helped so mightily to make us the great nation that we are, we need not fear either the ideology or the arms of Russia. So long as we keep government controls at a minimum and maintain intact freedom to work, to save, to invest, even to risk, in worthy ventures, we shall be safe from Russian imperialism. I believe we will do this and, hence, I am an optimist.

Why the Growth of the U.S.A.?

Our country has achieved the status of a great power more quickly than any other nation in the whole history of the world. I believe that we have progressed so quickly because, for the most part, we have been true to the ideals of our forefathers. We surely should pay more attention to those ideals now and develop good old-fashioned character and common-sense in our children. Then we will be better able to discern and root out the evils which have been creeping into our government and national life and undermining character and values.

Communism, as Russia practices it today, is no revolutionary idea. Actually, it is just plain imperialism based upon a system of slavery which is as old as the human race. We must not long sit quietly by without preaching more convincingly, and practicing more faithfully, the basic principles of our own American Revolution. One of these is that every family should—for insurance—have some land to till somewhere.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Fla., March 30—Despite the heartbreaking casualties of the ill-fated Korean campaign, I have not been worried about the temporary successes achieved by the Russians. I am confident that the Chinese tide will turn permanently in our favor if President Truman avoids war with China.

I have been in the forefront of those who for some years have recognized that our country would one day face a Communist danger. I do not, however, believe that this Chinese threat is by any means the greatest danger facing the nation. Korea has aroused us, rudely to be sure. It has exposed in all its ugly nakedness Russian duplicity, and its threat to our future and to the peace of the world. At last, even the most stupid of our politicians can now see that Russian victory could mean world slavery.

We may never succeed entirely in making the world "safe for democracy;" but our American system is far superior to Russia's in every respect. The Reds may make us dance to their tune for a time; but, knowing them for what they are, I don't believe the American people will fall for either the intrigue or violence by which the Kremlin strives to reach its goals. We are too smart to be taken in by their harsh and false doctrines. So I do not fear America going Communistic or being conquered by Moscow's hordes, if we will invest in the soil and forget paper profits.

Enemies Within the U. S.

What very seriously disturbs me is our extremely smug assurance that the government of the United States is strong that it can resist every type of inward corrosion. I was a little heartened by the results of the November congressional elections. They indicate that Americans are not so completely sold on the bureaucratic trend in government.

I like to thing that, in addition to laying bare the evils of the Soviet system, the Korean campaign has also focused some attention on "the enemy within" our own government structure. But, I am not so sure even now that we recognize fully this enemy which is eating our substance through loose fiscal policies, make-believe money, unfair tax structures, excessive government spending for non-essential purposes and various inflationary subsidies.

Keeping Our Economic Freedom

As I see it, the final answer to the Russian challenge is a better faith and a fuller way of life. Despite its organization and the huge sums of money spent by its supporters, the Communist party has been unable to gain any substantial foothold in our nation. Why? Because here we have a better faith than communism, and a fuller way of life than prevails in Moscow or any of her satellite countries.

So long as we can preserve the religious faith which has helped so

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Fla., March 30—Despite the heartbreaking casualties of the ill-fated Korean campaign, I have not been worried about the temporary successes achieved by the Russians. I am confident that the Chinese tide will turn permanently in our favor if President Truman avoids war with China.

I have been in the forefront of those who for some years have recognized that our country would one day face a Communist danger. I do not, however, believe that this Chinese threat is by any means the greatest danger facing the nation. Korea has aroused us, rudely to be sure. It has exposed in all its ugly nakedness Russian duplicity, and its threat to our future and to the peace of the world. At last, even the most stupid of our politicians can now see that Russian victory could mean world slavery.

We may never succeed entirely in making the world "safe for democracy;" but our American system is far superior to Russia's in every respect. The Reds may make us dance to their tune for a time; but, knowing them for what they are, I don't believe the American people will fall for either the intrigue or violence by which the Kremlin strives to reach its goals. We are too smart to be taken in by their harsh and false doctrines. So I do not fear America going Communistic or being conquered by Moscow's hordes, if we will invest in the soil and forget paper profits.

Enemies Within the U. S.

What very seriously disturbs me is our extremely smug assurance that the government of the United States is strong that it can resist every type of inward corrosion. I was a little heartened by the results of the November congressional elections. They indicate that Americans are not so completely sold on the bureaucratic trend in government.

I like to thing that, in addition to laying bare the evils of the Soviet system, the Korean campaign has also focused some attention on "the enemy within" our own government structure. But, I am not so sure even now that we recognize fully this enemy which is eating our substance through loose fiscal policies, make-believe money, unfair tax structures, excessive government spending for non-essential purposes and various inflationary subsidies.

Keeping Our Economic Freedom

As I see it, the final answer to the Russian challenge is a better faith and a fuller way of life. Despite its organization and the huge sums of money spent by its supporters, the Communist party has been unable to gain any substantial foothold in our nation. Why? Because here we have a better faith than communism, and a fuller way of life than prevails in Moscow or any of her satellite countries.

So long as we can preserve the religious faith which has

Today's Women

By DOROTHY ROE
(Associated Press Women's Editor)

How can you get a mink coat?

That's a question close to the heart of every woman these days, and one that has figured prominently in recent national news.

For Mrs. Average citizen the prospect is dim.

When it's a question between buying a new coat or a new family car, the car almost always wins.

Fur prices, along with the prices of almost everything else, are currently at an all-time high.

You're going to have to use a lot of influence on your husband to achieve that new mink coat next winter—or even to snare a mink-dyed muskrat.

Skins that will go into next season's fur coats were bought at the auctions of last November, December and January—and mink skins at that time brought the highest prices in history. Add to that fact the rising prices of labor and you can understand why you have to pay as much for a mink coat nowadays as it used to cost for a house and lot.

$2,500 Next Year

Adolf Lieblich, president of the Associated Fur Manufacturers, estimates the minimum cost for a mink coat next season at $2,500—and if you insist on a rare mutation mink you can pay as high as $35,000.

Lieblich insists, however, that the rise in fur prices is not out of line with other cost-of-living increases, pointing out that today's luxurious coats take 50 to 60 per cent more skins than the short, straight styles of 1940. From 65 to 85 minks must shed their skins to make one coat for the fashionable lady of 1951.

Ether Dorothy, fabulously successful fur designer who has introduced such items as fur bathing suits and slacks, has an anecdote to fit the situation:

One of her customers was criticized for extravagance in buying a $4,000 car, and reported:

"Well, the car weighs 4,000 pounds, and that makes it cost less than steak. Besides, what would I do with 4,000 pounds of sirloin?"

May Last 10 Years

A mink coat that costs $4,000, points out the exotic Esther may last ten years, thus reducing the cost to $400 a year. When its days of usefulness as a coat are over, it can be remade into a jacket or stole, worth $2,000, which will wear another ten years, bringing the long-term cost down to $200 per year. Meanwhile the warm fur coat probably has saved its wearer $200 a year in doctor bills for winter colds, Esther maintains, so that actually it costs nothing.

That kind of figuring may not be clear to the average male, but women have been using it successfully for generations.

Spectacular Example

Speaking of what women can do when they put their minds to it, Esther Dorothy is a spectacular example.

Raised by an immigrant mother on the wrong side of the tracks in Boston, she quit school before she was 12 to support the family, learned the millinery business, in time owned one of Boston's most expensive shops. At the beginning of Warld War 2 she foresaw the demand for luxury goods, invaded New York and the national market as a fur designer and manufacturer, now supplies fabulous furs to a large slice of the nation's upper-income-bracket customers.

Lillian B. Relyea Becomes the Bride Of Donald Riesland

Miss Lillian Bessie Relyea, daughter of Edward Reylea, and the late Mrs. Relyea of 342 Broadway, became the bride of Metalsmith 2/c Donald Arthur Riesland, U. S. Navy, Saturday, at 3 p. m. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Riesland of Del Mar, Calif. The double ring ceremony was held in Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, this city, with the Rev. Frank Gollnick of that parish officiating. The church was decorated with Easter lilies.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown with a French lace yoke trimmed with seed pearls. Her French lace trimmed fingertip veil was caught to a coronet headpiece, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas, with streamers.

Mrs. George S. Brown of 240 West Chestnut street was matron of honor for her sister. Mrs. Brown was dressed in a gown of pink nylon net over nylon with a matching cape, and a fan shaped headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses, sweet peas, and streamers.

George S. Brown, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Walter Purhamus of 342 Broadway, brother-in-law of the bride, and Irving Brown of 43 Abruyn street.

Following the ceremony a reception for 100 guests was held at Boice's Hall, Onteora Trail.

The couple are visiting New York and New Jersey on their wedding trip. The bride's traveling ensemble included a gray suit, with black and white accessories and a white rose corsage. Upon their return they will make their home with the bride's father.

Mrs. Riesland is a graduate of Kingston High School, and is employed at the Byrne-Ross Knitting Mills, 106 Prince street.

The groom attended Point Loma High School, Calif. For five years he has served with the U. S. Navy. He is now stationed at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

St. James W.S.C.S. Celebrates 10th Anniversary at Meeting on Wednesday

At the March 28 meeting of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of St. James Methodist Church, the group celebrated its 10th anniversary, with W.S.C.S. presidents from Saugerties, Hunter, Kripplebush, Olive Bridge, Stone Ridge, and the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church attending. Speakers during the all-day session were the Rev. Dr. Ralph M. Houston of that congregation and a guest, Mrs. Clarence W. Hunter, New York Conference president.

Speaking during the morning study hour, Dr. Houston continued his discussion of Bishop C. Bromley Oxnam's book, The Christian Vocation, covering three distinct spheres of human life.

A Christian's right to income, Dr. Houston explained, should, theoretically, be in relation to his value as a member of society. The disparity of American incomes, particularly in relation to services rendered, and attempts to deal with the problem were noted. Dr. Houston also pointed out the great dangers in the social controls set up to equalize incomes. Disparity, he felt, should be of concern to the Christian's conscience, and he should attempt to lessen disparity by raising inadequate incomes.

Dr. Houston also discussed the Christian as a consumer, and as a citizen with a vote. The uses and dangers of boycotts, and the great danger of using the boycott for unjust purposes were discussed.

Christian Votes

Dealing with the Christian as a citizen with a vote, Dr. Houston pointed out that there is little relationship between the number of churches in a city, and its cleanliness, standards of education, and recreational facilities. Dr. Houston's audience felt that Christians were too complacent about situations, as gambling, in their own communities.

During the afternoon session Mrs. Hunter spoke on Spiritual Resources for Health, referring to the work of the 236 W.S.C.S. societies in the New York Conference.

In Korea, she told the group, most of the missionaries have gone to Japan, and six missionaries who were captured have never been heard from. But, she pointed out, while the doors of China and Korea have been closed, Africa is wide open. Christian churches are still functioning in China, she added, although before long all missionaries will be recalled from that country.

Kingston Surgeon

Mrs. Hunter also mentioned the Kingston surgeon, Dr. Hilda Waters, who is working in Liberia with Bishop King, and stressed the great need for nurses, and the opportunity to explain their work to young people.

Meanwhile, the most difficult work, she said, is with the Moslems. Centuries of superstition and belief in evil spirits have made it difficult for missionaries and doctors to capture their faith and confidence.

At the anniversary tea which followed, Mrs. John MacKinnon and Mrs. Alfred Schmid were in charge of arrangements. Hostesses were the Mmes. Clifford Smith, Samuel Scudd[illegible] Robert Hudler, and Charles Wilt. Mrs. Elwood Ackerly and Mrs. James Guttridge poured. Hostesses at the noon luncheon were Mrs. Harry Reppert and Mrs. Christopher Bonesteel.

Future Plans

During the group's business meeting the following announcements were made: A rummage sale, sponsored by the Riseley class and Babcock Circle, will be held in the church dining room April 4, 5, and 6; April 18 there will be a roast beef dinner at the church with servings at 5:30 and 6:30 p. m.; April 19 a district meeting will be held in Saugerties; April 29, 100 members of the Vassar College choir will give an evening concert in the church sanctuary, sponsored by the W.S.C.S.; and a district meeting will be held May 8 at the First Lutheran Church, Poughkeepsie, instead of in the Washington Street Church, as previously planned.

THE STRAPLESS DRESS

A young girl writes me: "My mother objects to strapless gowns for high school girls. Most of my friends are wearing such evening dresses at our one big formal dance. I'd like to have one too. I think the girls look very nice in them and I can't see what difference a little strap makes across the shoulder. I wish you'd say something about this style."

I am sorry to disappoint you, but I have to agree with your mother. Having personally lived through 50 years of changing fashions, the strapless dress is, in my opinion, the most destroying to beauty of any that has gone before. A towel pinned around the chest never has been considered a beautifying line.

Who Gives Housewarming?

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to have your own housewarming? Some of my friends have given these parties and always certain others criticized.

Answer: A housewarming — meaning an afternoon tea or evening reception—given by the new owners to display their new house, is one of the oldest forms of hospitality known, and is entirely proper. Its main characteristic is that the guests are permitted to inspect as much of the house as they care to. Very light refreshments are served by the hosts.

Two Girls and One Man

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently a boy friend of mine took a girl friend of mine and me to a restaurant. We sat in a booth. I got in one side and she across from me. My boy friend got in and sat next to her. Something was said about this afterward by him because he explained he really didn't know what to do at the time and thought as she was our guest it was polite. I promised to write you.

Answer: Since she was your invited guest, he was right. Had she merely happened to join you, then he would have sat next to you.

Best Man Merely Serves

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it true that the best man pays the clergyman at the wedding? Doesn't sound right to me but my son seems to think so.

Answer: The bridegroom hands the fee to the best man; whose duty it then is to give it to the clergyman for him, following the ceremony.

B. & P. Club Is Given Song, Dance Program

A song and dance program, given by members of Lucille's Dance Studios, was enjoyed by members of the Business and Professional Girls Club of the Y.W.C.A. following the group's supper Wednesday evening. Particularly outstanding, members felt, was four-year-old Joan Murphy who sang two numbers, Peter Cottontail and Tonawanda Hay. As one member explained, "she had a charming personality."

The complete program was as follows: Bushel and a Peck, Richard Noble and Shelley Greenwald; Peter Cottontail, Tonawanda Hay, Joan Murphy; Dance of the Apache, Laurie and Marty Tirsch; Dark Town Strutters Ball, Linda and Ray Dixon; Mr. Sears (song), Judy Anderson; Balling the Jack, Joanne Whipple and Pat Prusack; Christmas in Killarney, Timmy and Glenda Fisher; If, Easter Parade (songs), Tony Amato; Easter Parade, the entire cast.

Guest oef the club next Wednesday will be Daniel Smiley of Mohonk, who will speak on a conservation subject, The Will to Survive. Guests are invited to attend the meeting, and reservations for the supper may be made by calling 1911 by Monday evening.

Personal Notes

Daniel Stephen Kelly, son of Mrs. Helen K. Kelly, 21 East Pierpont street, celebrated his third birthday March 28.

Frank H. Nowaczek, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Nowaczek, 126 Pearl street, this city, has been elected to the Cornell Radion Guild of Cornell University, Ithaca, it was announced today.

St. James W.S.C.S. Celebrates 10th Anniversary at Meeting on Wednesday

At the March 28 meeting of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of St. James Methodist Church, the group celebrated its 10th anniversary, with W.S.C.S. presidents from Saugerties, Hunter, Kripplebush, Olive Bridge, Stone Ridge, and the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church attending. Speakers during the all-day session were the Rev. Dr. Ralph M. Houston of that congregation and a guest, Mrs. Clarence W. Hunter, New York Conference president.

Speaking during the morning study hour, Dr. Houston continued his discussion of Bishop C. Bromley Oxnam's book, The Christian Vocation, covering three distinct spheres of human life.

A Christian's right to income, Dr. Houston explained, should, theoretically, be in relation to his value as a member of society. The disparity of American incomes, particularly in relation to services rendered, and attempts to deal with the problem were noted. Dr. Houston also pointed out the great dangers in the social controls set up to equalize incomes. Disparity, he felt, should be of concern to the Christian's conscience, and he should attempt to lessen disparity by raising inadequate incomes.

Dr. Houston also discussed the Christian as a consumer, and as a citizen with a vote. The uses and dangers of boycotts, and the great danger of using the boycott for unjust purposes were discussed.

Christian Votes

Dealing with the Christian as a citizen with a vote, Dr. Houston pointed out that there is little relationship between the number of churches in a city, and its cleanliness, standards of education, and recreational facilities. Dr. Houston's audience felt that Christians were too complacent about situations, as gambling, in their own communities.

During the afternoon session Mrs. Hunter spoke on Spiritual Resources for Health, referring to the work of the 236 W.S.C.S. societies in the New York Conference.

In Korea, she told the group, most of the missionaries have gone to Japan, and six missionaries who were captured have never been heard from. But, she pointed out, while the doors of China and Korea have been closed, Africa is wide open. Christian churches are still functioning in China, she added, although before long all missionaries will be recalled from that country.

Kingston Surgeon

Mrs. Hunter also mentioned the Kingston surgeon, Dr. Hilda Waters, who is working in Liberia with Bishop King, and stressed the great need for nurses, and the opportunity to explain their work to young people.

Meanwhile, the most difficult work, she said, is with the Moslems. Centuries of superstition and belief in evil spirits have made it difficult for missionaries and doctors to capture their faith and confidence.

At the anniversary tea which followed, Mrs. John MacKinnon and Mrs. Alfred Schmid were in charge of arrangements. Hostesses were the Mmes. Clifford Smith, Samuel Scud[illegible] Robert Hudler, and Charles Wilt. Mrs. Elwood Ackerly and Mrs. James Guttridge poured. Hostesses at the noon luncheon were Mrs. Harry Reppert and Mrs. Christopher Bonesteel.

Future Plans

During the group's business meeting the following announcements were made: A rummage sale, sponsored by the Riseley class and Babcock Circle, will be held in the church dining room April 4, 5, and 6; April 18 there will be a roast beef dinner at the church with servings at 5:30 and 6:30 p. m.; April 19 a district meeting will be held in Saugerties; April 29, 100 members of the Vassar College choir will give an evening concert in the church sanctuary, sponsored by the W.S.C.S.; and a district meeting will be held May 8 at the First Lutheran Church, Poughkeepsie, instead of in the Washington Street Church, as previously planned.

THE STRAPLESS DRESS

A young girl writes me: "My mother objects to strapless gowns for high school girls. Most of my friends are wearing such evening dresses at our one big formal dance. I'd like to have one too. I think the girls look very nice in them and I can't see what difference a little strap makes across the shoulder. I wish you'd say something about this style."

I am sorry to disappoint you, but I have to agree with your mother. Having personally lived through 50 years of changing fashions, the strapless dress is, in my opinion, the most destroying to beauty of any that has gone before. A towel pinned around the chest never has been considered a beautifying line.

Who Gives Housewarming?

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to have your own housewarming? Some of my friends have given these parties and always certain others criticized.

Answer: A housewarming — meaning an afternoon tea or evening reception—given by the new owners to display their new house, is one of the oldest forms of hospitality known, and is entirely proper. Its main characteristic is that the guests are permitted to inspect as much of the house as they care to. Very light refreshments are served by the hosts.

Two Girls and One Man

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently a boy friend of mine took a girl friend of mine and me to a restaurant. We sat in a booth. I got in one side and she across from me. My boy friend got in and sat next to her. Something was said about this afterward by him because he explained he really didn't know what to do at the time and thought as she was our guest it was polite. I promised to write you.

Answer: Since she was your invited guest, he was right. Had she merely happened to join you, then he would have sat next to you.

Best Man Merely Serves

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it true that the best man pays the clergyman at the wedding? Doesn't sound right to me but my son seems to think so.

Answer: The bridegroom hands the fee to the best man; whose duty it then is to give it to the clergyman for him, following the ceremony.

Today's Women

By DOROTHY ROE
(Associated Press Women's Editor)

How can you get a mink coat?

That's a question close to the heart of every woman these days, and one that has figured prominently in recent national news.

For Mrs. Average citizen the prospect is dim.

When it's a question between buying a new coat or a new family car, the car almost always wins.

Fur prices, along with the prices of almost everything else, are currently at an all-time high.

You're going to have to use a lot of influence on your husband to achieve that new mink coat next winter—or even to snare a mink-dyed muskrat.

Skins that will go into next season's fur coats were bought at the auctions of last November, December and January—and mink skins at that time brought the highest prices in history. Add to that fact the rising prices of labor and you can understand why you have to pay as much for a mink coat nowadays as it used to cost for a house and lot.

$2,500 Next Year

Adolf Lieblich, president of the Associated Fur Manufacturers, estimates the minimum cost for a mink coat next season at $2,500—and if you insist on a rare mutation mink you can pay as high as $35,000.

Lieblich insists, however, that the rise in fur prices is not out of line with other cost-of-living increases, pointing out that today's luxurious coats take 50 to 60 per cent more skins than the short, straight styles of 1940. From 65 to 85 minks must shed their skins to make one coat for the fashionable lady of 1951.

Ether Dorothy, fabulously successful fur designer who has introduced such items as fur bathing suits and slacks, has an anecdote to fit the situation:

One of her customers was criticized for extravagance in buying a $4,000 car, and reported:

"Well, the car weighs 4,000 pounds, and that makes it cost less than steak. Besides, what would I do with 4,000 pounds of sirloin?"

May Last 10 Years

A mink coat that costs $4,000, points out the exotic Esther may last ten years, thus reducing the cost to $400 a year. When its days of usefulness as a coat are over, it can be remade into a jacket or stole, worth $2,000, which will wear another ten years, bringing the long-term cost down to $200 per year. Meanwhile the warm fur coat probably has saved its wearer $200 a year in doctor bills for winter colds, Esther maintains, so that actually it costs nothing.

That kind of figuring may not be clear to the average male, but women have been using it successfully for generations.

Spectacular Example

Speaking of what women can do when they put their minds to it, Esther Dorothy is a spectacular example.

Raised by an immigrant mother on the wrong side of the tracks in Boston, she quit school before she was 12 to support the family, learned the millinery business, in time owned one of Boston's most expensive shops. At the beginning of Warld War 2 she foresaw the demand for luxury goods, invaded New York and the national market as a fur designer and manufacturer, now supplies fabulous furs to a large slice of the nation's upper-income-bracket customers.

Lillian B. Relyea Becomes the Bride Of Donald Riesland

Miss Lillian Bessie Relyea, daughter of Edward Reylea, and the late Mrs. Relyea of 342 Broadway, became the bride of Metalsmith 2/c Donald Arthur Riesland, U. S. Navy, Saturday, at 3 p. m. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Riesland of Del Mar, Calif. The double ring ceremony was held in Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, this city, with the Rev. Frank Gollnick of that parish officiating. The church was decorated with Easter lilies.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown with a French lace yoke trimmed with seed pearls. Her French lace trimmed fingertip veil was caught to a coronet headpiece, and she carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas, with streamers.

Mrs. George S. Brown of 240 West Chestnut street was matron of honor for her sister. Mrs. Brown was dressed in a gown of pink nylon net over nylon with a matching cape, and a fan shaped headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses, sweet peas, and streamers.

George S. Brown, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Walter Purhamus of 342 Broadway, brother-in-law of the bride, and Irving Brown of 43 Abruyn street.

Following the ceremony a reception for 100 guests was held at Boice's Hall, Onteora Trail.

The couple are visiting New York and New Jersey on their wedding trip. The bride's traveling ensemble included a gray suit, with black and white accessories and a white rose corsage. Upon their return they will make their home with the bride's father.

Cancer Detection In Breast Is Held Vital by Speaker

Woodstock, March 30—Following the regular monthly meeting of the Woodstock public health nursing committee at the Health Center Thursday afternoon, Dr. Habeeb Maroon spoke on the method of self-detection of breast cancer in conjunction with the showing of a film on that subject.

Dr. Maroon said that breast cancer is the most common type of cancer in women between the ages of 40 to 60. The film was produced, he said, for the purpose of educating women in the detection of the disease in the early stages when it is curable. In one of the largest hospitals specializing in the treatment of cancer, he pointed out, 98 percent of the patients who came for treatment had diagnosed it themselves. Since cancer of the breast is not symptomatic, he emphasized the importance of learning how to detect it as early as possible.

With Mrs. Joseph Marr presiding at the business meeting, the treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Clayton Harder. Owing to the absence of Mrs. Warren Hutty there was no secretary's report. Mrs. Marr announced that a recent inventory had been taken of the loan closet and that a list of available equipment would be sent to Dr. Hans Cohn and to the nurses in the village.

Card Party Successful

Mrs. Marr also thanked the members of the committee for the work done towards making the March 15 card party a success.

No transportation was required for the March clinic, according to Mrs. Charles King.

Mrs. Harry Kutzschbach, who has served ably for the past few years as publicity chairman will be succeeded by Mrs. Richard E. Thibaut, Jr. Mrs. Kutzschbach announced that the three pounds of home made candy remaining after the card party had been presented to the students at the Woodstock School who had made the posters advertising the event.

A total of nine children were reported by Mrs. Luis Bared as having attended the March clinic.

Considerable discussion took place on the refurbishing of the Health Center, the walls of which have recently been painted. A resolution was passed to make expenditures for the repair of the clinic table and to paint the furniture. It was arranged that a painting party would take place at the Center April 11, at which time committee members will contribute their services.

Miss Anne Cassidy, public health nurse, outlined briefly the plans for the dental clinic pointing out that great progress has been shown in its development.

"We started," she said, "with the kindergarten and pre-school children. Then we took care of the first three grades. Now in all probability the program will include the sixth, seventh and eighth grade pupils."

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Laws Thursday, April 26.

Consolidation Plan Discussed by School

Woodstock, March 30—At a special meeting of School District No. 3, Bearsville, Thursday night called by Birge Simmons, trustee, discussion revolved around the possibility of the district consolidating with Woodstock School District No. 2.

A resolution was finally passed that the subject of consolidation would not be again presented until July, 1952.

The meeting was attended by John Egan and Walter Van Wagenen, at the invitation of Simmons. Egan, in referring to the Woodstock School, stated that for the past year school taxes in Woodstock has been $31.34 per thousand instead of the original $32 per thousand estimated. Next year, he said, the taxes are expected to be $28.17 per thousand without state aid, and with state aid will be $25.96.

Among the Bearsville residents who spoke were Dr. Harold Rugg, educator, who said that the "brick and mortar are the least important things in a school."

Dr. Rugg stated that he was not concerned with the amount of the taxes as long as the children were assured of a good education. He suggested that a committee be formed to investigate the facilities of School District No. 2. When asked what the parents should look for in determining the value of a school, Dr. Rugg replied that they should observe the activities of the students, and make a study of instruction techniques, reading matter provided for the children, and the relations between the teachers and the children.

Efforts Redoubled To Train Persons In Red Cross Course

The local chapter of the American Red Cross is redoubling its efforts, begun last summer at government request, to train large numbers in the standard 18 hour first aid course, Harold A. Sanford, first aid chairman, announced today. Also included in the course are four hours of supplementary training in the care of injuries resulting from atomic warfare.

Four standard Red Cross first aid courses are being conducted in this city; one in Woodstock; two in New Paltz; one in Esopus; one in Walker Valley; one junior course in this city; and one junior course in Esopus, Mr. Sanford said.

The training program is designed not only to equip the individual with safe habits and attitudes for peacetime living, but through the aquisition of valuable skills and knowledge to protect himself and his family in time of emergency.

The chapter recently conducted a 15 hour training course for instructors in this city, and qualified 24 Red Cross first aid instructors. As prerequisite to enrollment in the instructor course, Mr. Sanford pointed out, each student completed, as a minimum, the required preliminary training, or 18 hour standard course in addition to a 10 hour advanced course. They are now competent to teach junior, standard, and advanced first aid.

The certificated first aid courses of instruction are offered to groups and individuals in the city and county by the local Red Cross chapter without charge.

Movie Firms Advised To Cooperate With TV

Washington, March 30 (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) gave the motion picture industry a broad hint yesterday that it would do well to cooperate with television by making new films and studio talent available for TV operations.

In a carefully worded statement, the FCC said in effect that the degree of cooperation will be considered in deciding on broadcasting grants sought by the movie industry, and in renewing radio and TV licenses held by studio interests.

The commission said it has taken note that many motion picture companies are refusing to make films available for TV, and that some are imposing restrictions on the TV appearances of their contract actors.

The statement added that while FCC expresses no opinion as to whether such practices may violate the anti-trust laws, they will certainly be considered in passing on broadcasting applications from motion picture companies.

Irish Judge Holds Up Case Involving Estate

Dublin, March 30 (AP)—A judge today adjourned a lawsuit by a wealthy American sculptress against her estranged Irish husband to allow time for a reconciliation attempt.

Mrs. Helen Hooker O'Malley, a sister-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, 3rd, is suing author Ernest O'Malley for possession of their estate in County Mayo.

She has been in New York since last spring with two of their three sons, Cahill, 13, and Etain, 10. O'Malley is living at the estate with the third boy, Cormac, 7.

O'Malley contends that he and his wife hold the estate jointly in trust for the children, although Mrs. O'Malley provided its purchase price. He asked the court to rule yesterday that she had failed to make a case against him for trespass.

Justice Gavin Duffy decided today to defer his findings until the lawyers involved have tried to bring the husband and wife together again. He said he was "particularly concerned" about the separation of the children.

Keep on Plugging For Grain for India

Washington, March 30 (AP)—Spurred by President Truman's call for "prompt action," administration leaders on Capitol Hill began plugging today for pending legislation to provide grain for India.

"Prompt action is vital," Mr. Truman said in a statement read at his news conference yesterday.

He recommended that Congress provide one-half of the 2,000,000 tons required as an outright grant immediately, and "then explore in great detail the situation with respect to the remaining million tons."

Chairman Kee (D-W.Va.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee told a reporter he had "great hopes" the House Rules Committee would clear the committee's bill for action soon after Congress members return Monday from an Easter recess.

Across the capitol, Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) said the Senate Foreign Relations Committee would begin consideration of a Senate measure shortly after the troops-to-Europe issue is decided. Voting on the troops resolutions starts Monday.

Population of Japan Increases 1,448,055

Tokyo, March 30 (AP)—Despite widespread circulation of information for family planning (birth control), the population of Japan increased 1,448,055 in 1950 — reaching a record high of 83,525,000.

These figures were announced yesterday by the Japanese Welfare Ministry after a population survey.

The ministry held that family planning information was a factor in reducing the number of births. There were 340,000 fewer births than in 1949.

Per 1,000 persons, there were 28.3 births in 1950. In 1949 the rate was 32.9. Since 1934, the lowest rate had been 30.1.

Deaths declined to the lowest percentage per 1,000 population since 1900. This percentage was 19.9, for a total of 908,801, compared with 945,444 in 1949.

Efforts Redoubled To Train Persons In Red Cross Course

The local chapter of the American Red Cross is redoubling its efforts, begun last summer at government request, to train large numbers in the standard 18 hour first aid course, Harold A. Sanford, first aid chairman, announced today. Also included in the course are four hours of supplementary training in the care of injuries resulting from atomic warfare.

Four standard Red Cross first aid courses are being conducted in this city; one in Woodstock; two in New Paltz; one in Esopus; one in Walker Valley; one junior course in this city; and one junior course in Esopus, Mr. Sanford said.

The training program is designed not only to equip the individual with safe habits and attitudes for peacetime living, but through the aquisition of valuable skills and knowledge to protect himself and his family in time of emergency.

The chapter recently conducted a 15 hour training course for instructors in this city, and qualified 24 Red Cross first aid instructors. As prerequisite to enrollment in the instructor course, Mr. Sanford pointed out, each student completed, as a minimum, the required preliminary training, or 18 hour standard course in addition to a 10 hour advanced course. They are now competent to teach junior, standard, and advanced first aid.

The certificated first aid courses of instruction are offered to groups and individuals in the city and county by the local Red Cross chapter without charge.

Movie Firms Advised To Cooperate With TV

Washington, March 30 (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) gave the motion picture industry a broad hint yesterday that it would do well to cooperate with television by making new films and studio talent available for TV operations.

In a carefully worded statement, the FCC said in effect that the degree of cooperation will be considered in deciding on broadcasting grants sought by the movie industry, and in renewing radio and TV licenses held by studio interests.

The commission said it has taken note that many motion picture companies are refusing to make films available for TV, and that some are imposing restrictions on the TV appearances of their contract actors.

The statement added that while FCC expresses no opinion as to whether such practices may violate the anti-trust laws, they will certainly be considered in passing on broadcasting applications from motion picture companies.

Justice Gavin Duffy decided today to defer his findings until the lawyers involved have tried to bring the husband and wife together again. He said he was "particularly concerned" about the separation of the children.

Population of Japan Increases 1,448,055

Tokyo, March 30 (AP)—Despite widespread circulation of information for family planning (birth control), the population of Japan increased 1,448,055 in 1950 — reaching a record high of 83,525,000.

These figures were announced yesterday by the Japanese Welfare Ministry after a population survey.

Per 1,000 persons, there were 28.3 births in 1950. In 1949 the rate was 32.9. Since 1934, the lowest rate had been 30.1.

Deaths declined to the lowest percentage per 1,000 population since 1900. This percentage was 19.9, for a total of 908,801, compared with 945,444 in 1949.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Cancer Detection In Breast Is Held Vital by Speaker

Woodstock, March 30—Following the regular monthly meeting of the Woodstock public health nursing committee at the Health Center Thursday afternoon, Dr. Habeeb Maroon spoke on the method of self-detection of breast cancer in conjunction with the showing of a film on that subject.

Dr. Maroon said that breast cancer is the most common type of cancer in women between the ages of 40 to 60. The film was produced, he said, for the purpose of educating women in the detection of the disease in the early stages when it is curable. In one of the largest hospitals specializing in the treatment of cancer, he pointed out, 98 percent of the patients who came for treatment had diagnosed it themselves. Since cancer of the breast is not symptomatic, he emphasized the importance of learning how to detect it as early as possible.

With Mrs. Joseph Marr presiding at the business meeting, the treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Clayton Harder. Owing to the absence of Mrs. Warren Hutty there was no secretary's report. Mrs. Marr announced that a recent inventory had been taken of the loan closet and that a list of available equipment would be sent to Dr. Hans Cohn and to the nurses in the village.

Card Party Successful

Mrs. Marr also thanked the members of the committee for the work done towards making the March 15 card party a success.

No transportation was required for the March clinic, according to Mrs. Charles King.

Mrs. Harry Kutzschbach, who has served ably for the past few years as publicity chairman will be succeeded by Mrs. Richard E. Thibaut, Jr. Mrs. Kutzschbach announced that the three pounds of home made candy remaining after the card party had been presented to the students at the Woodstock School who had made the posters advertising the event.

A total of nine children were reported by Mrs. Luis Bared as having attended the March clinic.

Considerable discussion took place on the refurbishing of the Health Center, the walls of which have recently been painted. A resolution was passed to make expenditures for the repair of the clinic table and to paint the furniture. It was arranged that a painting party would take place at the Center April 11, at which time committee members will contribute their services.

Miss Anne Cassidy, public health nurse, outlined briefly the plans for the dental clinic pointing out that great progress has been shown in its development.

"We started," she said, "with the kindergarten and pre-school children. Then we took care of the first three grades. Now in all probability the program will include the sixth, seventh and eighth grade pupils."

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Laws Thursday, April 26.

Consolidation Plan Discussed by School

Woodstock, March 30—At a special meeting of School District No. 3, Bearsville, Thursday night called by Birge Simmons, trustee, discussion revolved around the possibility of the district consolidating with Woodstock School District No. 2.

A resolution was finally passed that the subject of consolidation would not be again presented until July, 1952.

The meeting was attended by John Egan and Walter Van Wagenen, at the invitation of Simmons. Egan, in referring to the Woodstock School, stated that for the past year school taxes in Woodstock has been $31.34 per thousand instead of the original $32 per thousand estimated. Next year, he said, the taxes are expected to be $28.17 per thousand without state aid, and with state aid will be $25.96.

Among the Bearsville residents who spoke were Dr. Harold Rugg, educator, who said that the "brick and mortar are the least important things in a school."

Dr. Rugg stated that he was not concerned with the amount of the taxes as long as the children were assured of a good education. He suggested that a committee be formed to investigate the facilities of School District No. 2. When asked what the parents should look for in determining the value of a school, Dr. Rugg replied that they should observe the activities of the students, and make a study of instruction techniques, reading matter provided for the children, and the relations between the teachers and the children.

Canada Gets Skilled Men

Toronto (AP) — A heavy movement of technical and skilled workers from England to Ontario is under way by sea and air and is expected to be in high gear by mid-April. Ontario officials dealing with immigration said eight ocean liners have been mustered to bring the immigrants across the Atlantic Ocean in groups of 400 and 500.

Population of Japan Increases 1,448,055

Tokyo, March 30 (AP)—Despite widespread circulation of information for family planning (birth control), the population of Japan increased 1,448,055 in 1950 — reaching a record high of 83,525,000.

These figures were announced yesterday by the Japanese Welfare Ministry after a population survey.

The ministry held that family planning information was a factor in reducing the number of births. There were 340,000 fewer births than in 1949.

Per 1,000 persons, there were 28.3 births in 1950. In 1949 the rate was 32.9. Since 1934, the lowest rate had been 30.1.

Deaths declined to the lowest percentage per 1,000 population since 1900. This percentage was 19.9, for a total of 908,801, compared with 945,444 in 1949.

Colonials Start Spring Training Drills April 15 at Municipal Stadium

Area Players Invited to Try For Local Squad

Half Dozen Stars Already in Fold

Spring training for the Kingston Colonials will be held at the municipal stadium starting on April 15, Manager Hank Camelli announced yesterday.

The former major league catcher said he expected about 30 candidates for the first few days and also extended an invitation to all area players to attend the workouts.

The Kingston baseball club will pay the travelling expenses of all players who are signed to a Canadian-American League contract.

During a two-day stay in Kingston, Camelli appeared before the Rotary Club and was a guest at the Church Basketball League banquet Wednesday night at the Stuyvesant.

Half Dozen Signed

"I have already tentatively signed a half dozen players around whom we can build the 1951 roster," Camelli told a sports writer. "I will be in a position to start naming names early next week, after I have talked with Tom McCaffrey of the Albany Senators and Harry Jenkins, the Boston Braves farm system director."

Camelli said he was highly pleased with reaction of the Boston Braves and believes he might be able to land a couple of players from Perini's tribe.

"Of the half dozen players I have practically signed up," Camelli continued, "two of them have played Class A ball or better. A couple of them served short stints in the Pacific Coast League."

On the subject of local or area players, Camelli explained that it was his desire to sign one or two such players if they can make the grade.

"We're interested in looking over all players in this section who think they can play Class C ball," he said. "We'll give them a through looking over, particularly if they are draft proof."

"Many of the players we are now interested in have already started working out in gymnasiums and Y.M.C.A.'s and they will be in fair shape when they arrive in Kingston I think we'll be ready for the opener on May 1."

The Can-Am schedule opens on May 1 with Kingston host to the Pittsfield, Mass., club.

DuBois, Dempsey Win Foul Shoot

William DuBois and Joseph Dempsey won the Junior and Cadet foul shooting titles in the special competition Thursday at the Y. DuBois hitting with a brilliant 82 percent in the regular round and averaging 76 percent in the shootoff with George Telepas.

Dempsey finished two shots ahead of John McEntee in the Cadet division and completed 66 percent of his tries, with 23 conversions in 35 attempts.

DuBois and George Telepas each hit 41 out of 50 tries for a spectacular 82 percent to tie for first place in the Junior section.

A 25-shot playoff was decided. DuBois lost the toss and shot first and made 19 out of 25. Telepas fell one short with 18. DuBois' high runs were 8, 9 and 10, while Telepas had skeins of 11 and 14.

Fourteen In Row

Telepas made a gallant bid after a ragged start in the playoff, reeling off the last 14 points in succession. Al fourteen shots split the center of the hoop.

Donald Smith, with 37 out of 50, was third in the Junior division. Anthony Altamore with 36 and Jack Graney 31 took fourth and fifth places respectively.

John Smith's 20 shots gave him third place in the Cadet group. Other high shooters were Otto Saluste 18 and Skippy Brodhead 17.

Open Meeting Sunday On State Tournament

Court House Scene Of Important Confab

An open meeting designed to explore all phases of Kingston's proposed bid for the 1952 New York state bowling championships has been called for 2 p. m. Sunday at the county court house.

Invitations have been extended to all bowlers in the city, officers and directors of the Chamber of Commerce, the hotel men and liquor and restaurant dealers.

President Louis G. Bruhn of the Kingston Bowling Association pointed out in a letter of invitation that:

"All persons interested in this project (the 1952 state championships) and all individuals, organizations and establishments that will benefit from such a tournament, either directly or indirectly are invited to attend."

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, who rendered invaluable assistance to the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association in its successful bid for the 1950 women's tourney, is expected to attend the meeting.

In speeches before several post-season league banquets, President Bruhn has emphasized the fact that, while Kingston's chances of receiving the 1952 tournament are considered excellent, many problems must be considered before formal action can be taken.

Meeting April 20

The New York State Bowling Association convention is scheduled on Friday, April 20, in Elmira.

The 1951 state tournament has attracted 1,556 teams to Elmira. A 12-team Kingston delegation is scheduled to bowl in the championships on April 7 and 8.

"If Kingston is successful in getting the tournament in 1952, we would be the smallest city ever to be host to such a tournament," President Bruhn pointed. "This in itself is indicative of the magnitude of such an operation.

"There is considerable enthusiasm among the bowlers and business men of the city for such a tournament," The K.B.A. president said, "and we are anxious to learn how much support the K.B.A. can marshal for such a project. The responsibility for such an undertaking must be shared by the entire city and that is the primary reason for Sunday's meeting."

Hydroplanes Only In Outboard Race

New York, March 31 (AP) — The 130-mile Albany-to-New York outboard marathon race scheduled for Sept. 16 will be held exclusively for outboard hydroplanes for the first time since the end of the war.

Lou Eppel of Cedar Grove, N. J., president of the Albany-New York Outboard Association, said the race on the Hudson River would be open to seven clases of outboard craft. They are the A, B, and D stock hydroplanes, and the A, B, C and F racing hydroplanes.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Miami, March 30 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers were down to 30 players today after Manager Charley Dressen consigned five Brooks to the minors, all on a 24-hour recall.

Outfielder George Shuba and pitcher Ray Moore went to Montreal; catcher Dick Teed and outfielder Bill Antonello to St. Paul, and outfielder Bill Sharman, University of Southern California product and former basketball star, to Fort Worth for a second season.

Allie Works Out

Phoenix, Ariz., March 30 (AP)—Allie Reynolds, a mainstay of the New York Yankees hurling staff, threw the ball lightly for five minutes yesterday.

It was the first time he had seen any action in several weeks.

The Yankees casualty list numbers a new recruit—Billy Johnson. The third baseman is expected to be out 10 days with a fractured rib, suffered while fielding a bunt in the first inning of Wednesday's game with the Chicago White Sox.

Newhouser Ready

Lakeland, Fla., March 30 (AP)—The veteran Hal Newhouser is ready, and confident, to pitch Detroit's American League opener against Cleveland April 17.

"I could go nine innings right now, if necessary. My arm is in shape for the full distance," says Lefty Hal.

For years now the Tiger opener has been Newhouser's plum.

Giants Face Lefty

Sarasota, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Lefty Maurice McDermott and righthander Bill Evans will be on the pitching mound today for the Boston Red Sox as they try to make it three exhibition victories over the New York Giants here.

Dom DiMaggio and Bobby Doerr, who were excused from yesterday's contest with the Washington Senators, will be back in the lineup.

Two Concord, N. C., boys, Boston's Billy Goodman and the Nats' rookie second baseman Gene Verble, were the standouts in the Washington 8-7 win. Each had three hits in five trips; both were brilliant defensively.

Braves Head North

Bradentown, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Boston's Braves break camp today with the varsity or "plane" squad heading for Miami and tonights' game with Brooklyn and the "B" or train group en route to Atlanta, Ga., for a series with the Crackers.

Billy Southworth has named veteran lefthander Warren Spahn and Dick Donovan — who has pitched 15 consecutive scoreless innings so far—to hurl the opener of a three game series with the Dodgers. The "B" forces open with Atlanta tomorrow.

Attendance for the 10 grapefruit games here was 15,835, a big hike over last year's 11,707 for 10 contests.

Case High on Chisox

Alpine, Tex., March 30 (AP)—Casey Stengel, bossman of the New York Yankees, had some praise for the Chicago White Sox before they left Phoenix for Texas and a series with the St. Louis Browns.

He said the Sox have a vastly improved team and might bring about a few surprises in the pennant race. He was especially high on the Sox hustle and defensive work. Stengel's Yankees lost two out of three games to the Sox.

Phil Masi, Palehose catcher, says the Sox are 50 per cent better than last year.

"Our outfield is better, we have a little more power and the infield looks pretty good," said the veteran. "We need a little more hitting, but we do have some fairly good-looking pitchers."

Gavilan 7-5 Over Hairston

New York, March 30 (AP)—Two of the ring's busiest fighters, welterweight contender Kid Gavilan and Gene Hairston, rising young middleweight, clash in the main ten-rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight. Gavilan, the kid from Cuba, is the 7 to 5 choice to avenge an old defeat and run his current winning streak to seven. Hairston, a 22-year-old deaf-mute, hasn't lost in 13 months. A 12 win, one draw, streak has boosted the strong New York Negro into the No. 6 spot in the middleweight division.

This probably will be the 25-year-old Cuban's last fight before he takes on Johnny Bratton, the NBA welterweight champion, in a title scrap in the Garden May 18. Matchmaker Al Weill of the International Boxing Club will seek New York's title sanction for the fight today. He probably will get it.

That makes it doubly important for Gavilan to win.

"People seeing title fight expect to see a winner," said the practical Cuban. "More people come see me fight if I beat Hairston. Hairston good fighter, but maybe I not in best shape when I lose to him. Now I'm in best shape of last couple of years. I win."

Furgol Paces Azalea Tourney

Wilmington, N. C., March 30 (AP)—Marty Furgol, for the second straight week, nurses a slender lead going into the second round of a $10,000 open golf tournament.

The Long Beach, Calif., pro, who has won more than $4,800 this year for fifth money honors, was working on a five-under par 67 as the second round of the Azalea Open got under way today. Last week-end he shot an opening 68 at Greensboro, fell off to a 76 the second day and recovered with a pair of pars for seventh money.

His work was cut out for him here as 15 players, all under par, were at his heels, no more than four strokes away.

Furgol dropped two 25-foot birdie putts and another from 20 feet yesterday. Only the last hole marred his performance. There he hit a tree with his drive, chipped short and took a one-over five.

A stroke back of Furgol were professionals Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, and Mike Homa of West Hartford, Conn., and amateur Harvie Ward of Southern Pines, N. C.

Army to Cooperate With Montauk Fishing

Montauk, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Commercial and sports fishermen, worried that Army gunnery practice would interfere with their activities off Montauk Point, had assurance today that ample warning of gun fire would be given.

Col. E. P. Ketchum, Army district engineer, gave the assurance last night at a hearing attended by 200 persons.

The hearing was called to consider modification of the original Army announcement that anti-aircraft guns at Fort Hero would use 16 miles of water between Montauk and Block Island for firing grounds next month, making the area "out of bounds" for fishing.

The original order was for firing every clear day between 7:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m., but not in bad weather.

Those at the hearing appealed for an order of firing which would give the fishing interests a fair opportunity to carry out their pursuits in the area without interfering with the Army.

Col. Ketchum said that the Army "always has and will continue to get along with civilian interests whenever and wherever possible."

...The Light That Failed...

Newport News, Va., March 30 (AP)—Basketball Coach Clair Bee of the Long Island University told a group here last night that he would coach "if I have to crawl to school on my knees to do it."

Bee told how the infamous basketball bribings had hurt him, "hurt desperately."

"We—you and I—have flunked! We have not done the job that was expected of us in training the young people," he said at a testimonial banquet honoring Julie Conn's 25th anniversary as basketball coach of Newport News High School.

In referring directly to the scandal as it touched him, Bee said:

"I am not bitter. I am hurt, hurt desperately. When I was told that three of my boys had sold themselves it was a deep bereavement for me, as much as if a member of my family had died. I am not ashamed to say that I wept."

Bee told of the vigil he kept the night the LIU stars (Captain Adolph Biggs, Sherman White and LeRoy Smith) were called to the office of District Attorney Frank S. Hogan for questioning.

"That afternoon I had spoken to a gathering of sports writers and was angry enough to fight. They had hinted that my boys were involved in the scandal. I defended them with all my heart. I trusted my kids and could not believe they were mixed up in the mess.

"I went back to my office and at 4 o'clock was told that the three had been called in for questioning. I sat and waited. I didn't leave my office for a second. At a quarter of six the next morning a writer called to tell me they had confessed.

"It was then that something died within me. I had placed a lamp in the window of my office so that they could see it as they turned the corner when they came back. But I went to the window and put out the light.

"They weren't coming back."

Open Meeting Sunday On State Tournament

Court House Scene Of Important Confab

An open meeting designed to explore all phases of Kingston's proposed bid for the 1952 New York state bowling championships has been called for 2 p. m. Sunday at the county court house.

Invitations have been extended to all bowlers in the city, officers and directors of the Chamber of Commerce, the hotel men and liquor and restaurant dealers.

President Louis G. Bruhn of the Kingston Bowling Association pointed out in a letter of invitation that:

"All persons interested in this project (the 1952 state championships) and all individuals, organizations and establishments that will benefit from such a tournament, either directly or indirectly are invited to attend."

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, who rendered invaluable assistance to the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association in its successful bid for the 1950 women's tourney, is expected to attend the meeting.

In speeches before several postseason league banquets, President Bruhn has emphasized the fact that, while Kingston's chances of receiving the 1952 tournament are considered excellent, many problems must be considered before formal action can be taken.

Meeting April 20

The New York State Bowling Association convention is scheduled on Friday, April 20, in Elmira.

The 1951 state tournament has attracted 1,556 teams to Elmira. A 12-team Kingston delegation is scheduled to bowl in the championships on April 7 and 8.

"If Kingston is successful in getting the tournament in 1952, we would be the smallest city ever to be host to such a tournament," President Bruhn pointed. "This in itself is indicative of the magnitude of such an operation.

"There is considerable enthusiasm among the bowlers and business men of the city for such a tournament," The K.B.A. president said, "and we are anxious to learn how much support the K.B.A. can marshal for such a project. The responsibility for such an undertaking must be shared by the entire city and that is the primary reason for Sunday's meeting."

Hydroplanes Only In Outboard Race

New York, March 31 (AP) — The 130-mile Albany-to-New York outboard marathon race scheduled for Sept. 16 will be held exclusively for outboard hydroplanes for the first time since the end of the war.

Lou Eppel of Cedar Grove, N. J., president of the Albany-New York Outboard Association, said the race on the Hudson River would be open to seven clases of outboard craft. They are the A, B, and D stock hydroplanes, and the A, B, C and F racing hydroplanes.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Miami, March 30 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers were down to 30 players today after Manager Charley Dressen consigned five Brooks to the minors, all on a 24-hour recall.

Outfielder George Shuba and pitcher Ray Moore went to Montreal; catcher Dick Teed and outfielder Bill Antonello to St. Paul, and outfielder Bill Sharman, University of Southern California product and former basketball star, to Fort Worth for a second season.

Allie Works Out

Phoenix, Ariz., March 30 (AP)—Allie Reynolds, a mainstay of the New York Yankees hurling staff, threw the ball lightly for five minutes yesterday.

It was the first time he had seen any action in several weeks.

The Yankees casualty list numbers a new recruit—Billy Johnson. The third baseman is expected to be out 10 days with a fractured rib, suffered while fielding a bunt in the first inning of Wednesday's game with the Chicago White Sox.

Newhouser Ready

Lakeland, Fla., March 30 (AP)—The veteran Hal Newhouser is ready, and confident, to pitch Detroit's American League opener against Cleveland April 17.

"I could go nine innings right now, if necessary. My arm is in shape for the full distance," says Lefty Hal.

For years now the Tiger opener has been Newhouser's plum.

Giants Face Lefty

Sarasota, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Lefty Maurice McDermott and righthander Bill Evans will be on the pitching mound today for the Boston Red Sox as they try to make it three exhibition victories over the New York Giants here.

Dom DiMaggio and Bobby Doerr, who were excused from yesterday's contest with the Washington Senators, will be back in the lineup.

Two Concord, N. C., boys, Boston's Billy Goodman and the Nats' rookie second baseman Gene Verble, were the standouts in the Washington 8-7 win. Each had three hits in five trips; both were brilliant defensively.

Braves Head North

Bradentown, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Boston's Braves break camp today with the varsity or "plane" squad heading for Miami and tonights' game with Brooklyn and the "B" or train group en route to Atlanta, Ga., for a series with the Crackers.

Billy Southworth has named veteran lefthander Warren Spahn and Dick Donovan — who has pitched 15 consecutive scoreless innings so far—to hurl the opener of a three game series with the Dodgers. The "B" forces open with Atlanta tomorrow.

Attendance for the 10 grapefruit games here was 15,835, a big hike over last year's 11,707 for 10 contests.

Case High on Chisox

Alpine, Tex., March 30 (AP)—Casey Stengel, bossman of the New York Yankees, had some praise for the Chicago White Sox before they left Phoenix for Texas and a series with the St. Louis Browns.

He said the Sox have a vastly improved team and might bring about a few surprises in the pennant race. He was especially high on the Sox hustle and defensive work. Stengel's Yankees lost two out of three games to the Sox.

Phil Masi, Palehose catcher, says the Sox are 50 per cent better than last year.

"Our outfield is better, we have a little more power and the infield looks pretty good," said the veteran. "We need a little more hitting, but we do have some fairly good-looking pitchers."

Gavilan 7-5 Over Hairston

New York, March 30 (AP)—Two of the ring's busiest fighters, welterweight contender Kid Gavilan and Gene Hairston, rising young middleweight, clash in the main ten-rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight. Gavilan, the kid from Cuba, is the 7 to 5 choice to avenge an old defeat and run his current winning streak to seven. Hairston, a 22-year-old deaf-mute, hasn't lost in 13 months. A 12 win, one draw, streak has boosted the strong New York Negro into the No. 6 spot in the middleweight division.

This probably will be the 25-year-old Cuban's last fight before he takes on Johnny Bratton, the NBA welterweight champion, in a title scrap in the Garden May 18. Matchmaker Al Weill of the International Boxing Club will seek New York's title sanction for the fight today. He probably will get it.

That makes it doubly important for Gavilan to win.

"People seeing title fight expect to see a winner," said the practical Cuban. "More people come see me fight if I beat Hairston. Hairston good fighter, but maybe I not in best shape when I lose to him. Now I'm in best shape of last couple of years. I win."

Furgol Paces Azalea Tourney

Wilmington, N. C., March 30 (AP)—Marty Furgol, for the second straight week, nurses a slender lead going into the second round of a $10,000 open golf tournament.

The Long Beach, Calif., pro, who has won more than $4,800 this year for fifth money honors, was working on a five-under par 67 as the second round of the Azalea Open got under way today. Last week-end he shot an opening 68 at Greensboro, fell off to a 76 the second day and recovered with a pair of pars for seventh money.

His work was cut out for him here as 15 players, all under par, were at his heels, no more than four strokes away.

Furgol dropped two 25-foot birdie putts and another from 20 feet yesterday. Only the last hole marred his performance. There he hit a tree with his drive, chipped short and took a one-over five.

A stroke back of Furgol were professionals Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, and Mike Homa of West Hartford, Conn., and amateur Harvie Ward of Southern Pines, N. C.

Army to Cooperate With Montauk Fishing

Montauk, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Commercial and sports fishermen, worried that Army gunnery practice would interfere with their activities off Montauk Point, had assurance today that ample warning of gun fire would be given.

Col. E. P. Ketchum, Army district engineer, gave the assurance last night at a hearing attended by 200 persons.

The hearing was called to consider modification of the original Army announcement that anti-aircraft guns at Fort Hero would use 16 miles of water between Montauk and Block Island for firing grounds next month, making the area "out of bounds" for fishing.

The original order was for firing every clear day between 7:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m., but not in bad weather.

Those at the hearing appealed for an order of firing which would give the fishing interests a fair opportunity to carry out their pursuits in the area without interfering with the Army.

Col. Ketchum said that the Army "always has and will continue to get along with civilian interests whenever and wherever possible."

...The Light That Failed...

Newport News, Va., March 30 (AP)—Basketball Coach Clair Bee of the Long Island University told a group here last night that he would coach "if I have to crawl to school on my knees to do it."

Bee told how the infamous basketball bribings had hurt him, "hurt desperately."

"We—you and I—have flunked! We have not done the job that was expected of us in training the young people," he said at a testimonial banquet honoring Julie Conn's 25th anniversary as basketball coach of Newport News High School.

In referring directly to the scandal as it touched him, Bee said:

"I am not bitter. I am hurt, hurt desperately. When I was told that three of my boys had sold themselves it was a deep bereavement for me, as much as if a member of my family had died. I am not ashamed to say that I wept."

Bee told of the vigil he kept the night the LIU stars (Captain Adolph Biggs, Sherman White and LeRoy Smith) were called to the office of District Attorney Frank S. Hogan for questioning.

"That afternoon I had spoken to a gathering of sports writers and was angry enough to fight. They had hinted that my boys were involved in the scandal. I defended them with all my heart. I trusted my kids and could not believe they were mixed up in the mess.

"I went back to my office and at 4 o'clock was told that the three had been called in for questioning. I sat and waited. I didn't leave my office for a second. At a quarter of six the next morning a writer called to tell me they had confessed.

"It was then that something died within me. I had placed a lamp in the window of my office so that they could see it as they turned the corner when they came back. But I went to the window and put out the light.

"They weren't coming back."

Area Players Invited to Try For Local Squad

Half Dozen Stars Already in Fold

Spring training for the Kingston Colonials will be held at the municipal stadium starting on April 15, Manager Hank Camelli announced yesterday.

The former major league catcher said he expected about 30 candidates for the first few days and also extended an invitation to all area players to attend the workouts.

The Kingston baseball club will pay the travelling expenses of all players who are signed to a Canadian-American League contract.

During a two-day stay in Kingston, Camelli appeared before the Rotary Club and was a guest at the Church Basketball League banquet Wednesday night at the Stuyvesant.

Half Dozen Signed

"I have already tentatively signed a half dozen players around whom we can build the 1951 roster," Camelli told a sports writer. "I will be in a position to start naming names early next week, after I have talked with Tom McCaffrey of the Albany Senators and Harry Jenkins, the Boston Braves farm system director."

Camelli said he was highly pleased with reaction of the Boston Braves and believes he might be able to land a couple of players from Perini's tribe.

"Of the half dozen players I have practically signed up," Camelli continued, "two of them have played Class A ball or better. A couple of them served short stints in the Pacific Coast League."

On the subject of local or area players, Camelli explained that it was his desire to sign one or two such players if they can make the grade.

"We're interested in looking over all players in this section who think they can play Class C ball," he said. "We'll give them a through looking over, particularly if they are draft proof."

"Many of the players we are now interested in have already started working out in gymnasiums and Y.M.C.A.'s and they will be in fair shape when they arrive in Kingston I think we'll be ready for the opener on May 1."

The Can-Am schedule opens on May 1 with Kingston host to the Pittsfield, Mass., club.

DuBois, Dempsey Win Foul Shoot

William DuBois and Joseph Dempsey won the Junior and Cadet foul shooting titles in the special competition Thursday at the Y. DuBois hitting with a brilliant 82 percent in the regular round and averaging 76 percent in the shootoff with George Telepas.

Dempsey finished two shots ahead of John McEntee in the Cadet division and completed 66 percent of his tries, with 23 conversions in 35 attempts.

DuBois and George Telepas each hit 41 out of 50 tries for a spectacular 82 percent to tie for first place in the Junior section.

A 25-shot playoff was decided. DuBois lost the toss and shot first and made 19 out of 25. Telepas fell one short with 18. DuBois' high runs were 8, 9 and 10, while Telepas had skeins of 11 and 14.

Fourteen In Row

Telepas made a gallant bid after a ragged start in the playoff, reeling off the last 14 points in succession. Al fourteen shots split the center of the hoop.

Donald Smith, with 37 out of 50, was third in the Junior division. Anthony Altamore with 36 and Jack Graney 31 took fourth and fifth places respectively.

John Smith's 20 shots gave him third place in the Cadet group. Other high shooters were Otto Saluste 18 and Skippy Brodhead 17.

Army to Cooperate With Montauk Fishing

Montauk, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Commercial and sports fishermen, worried that Army gunnery practice would interfere with their activities off Montauk Point, had assurance today that ample warning of gun fire would be given.

Col. E. P. Ketchum, Army district engineer, gave the assurance last night at a hearing attended by 200 persons.

The hearing was called to consider modification of the original Army announcement that anti-aircraft guns at Fort Hero would use 16 miles of water between Montauk and Block Island for firing grounds next month, making the area "out of bounds" for fishing.

The original order was for firing every clear day between 7:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m., but not in bad weather.

Those at the hearing appealed for an order of firing which would give the fishing interests a fair opportunity to carry out their pursuits in the area without interfering with the Army.

Col. Ketchum said that the Army "always has and will continue to get along with civilian interests whenever and wherever possible."

...The Light That Failed...

Newport News, Va., March 30 (AP)—Basketball Coach Clair Bee of the Long Island University told a group here last night that he would coach "if I have to crawl to school on my knees to do it."

Bee told how the infamous basketball bribings had hurt him, "hurt desperately."

"We—you and I—have flunked! We have not done the job that was expected of us in training the young people," he said at a testimonial banquet honoring Julie Conn's 25th anniversary as basketball coach of Newport News High School.

In referring directly to the scandal as it touched him, Bee said:

"I am not bitter. I am hurt, hurt desperately. When I was told that three of my boys had sold themselves it was a deep bereavement for me, as much as if a member of my family had died. I am not ashamed to say that I wept."

Bee told of the vigil he kept the night the LIU stars (Captain Adolph Biggs, Sherman White and LeRoy Smith) were called to the office of District Attorney Frank S. Hogan for questioning.

"That afternoon I had spoken to a gathering of sports writers and was angry enough to fight. They had hinted that my boys were involved in the scandal. I defended them with all my heart. I trusted my kids and could not believe they were mixed up in the mess.

"I went back to my office and at 4 o'clock was told that the three had been called in for questioning. I sat and waited. I didn't leave my office for a second. At a quarter of six the next morning a writer called to tell me they had confessed.

"It was then that something died within me. I had placed a lamp in the window of my office so that they could see it as they turned the corner when they came back. But I went to the window and put out the light.

"They weren't coming back."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Cut the Deck, Not This Class

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"What are you going to teach people at your Charm School?" I asked my friend Sam Fry the other day.

"It's not a charm school," he replied, with dignity. "It's a Card School, and we're going to teach all card games. Nationally known experts will do the teaching. If you're a good boy, we might even ask you to do some of the teaching."

I managed to duck that invitation, but agreed to serve on the board of directors. So far as I know, this is the first card school that has ever made use of champions to do the teaching. Today's hand shows the sort of lesson they teach to experienced bridge players.

If South is the average good player, he will draw trumps fairly early. If he misguesses the location of the queen of trumps, he will be set (since he will almost surely lose one trick in each of the other suits).

The expert plan, as Sam Fry points out to his pupils, is not to draw trumps until the last possible moment. As you go along, you may have to guess the queen of hearts, but it is quite possible that the opponents will do the guessing for you.

At the first trick the queen of clubs is finessed, losing to East's king. East returns the queen of diamonds, whereupon South takes the ace of diamonds and all the top cards in the side suits; the ace of clubs, the ace of spades, and the king of spades. South then gives up a spade trick and lets the opponents carry the ball for a while.

They can take their third defensive trick, a diamond, but then must hand control back to declarer. One way or another, South ruffs a diamond in dummy and a club in his own hand. In the process, he should find out that East has length in both diamonds and clubs. It is therefore clear that East is quite short in trumps, and South can take the trump finesse through West on the basis of knowledge rather than guesswork.

As a matter of fact, when this type of hand is actually played, the opponents will often lead trumps in the hope of stopping a non-existent cross-ruff. Experts are very lazy people, according to Sam Fry, and they enjoy making the opponents do all the work.

Personal Finance Co. Has 18th Anniversary

The Kingston office of the Personal Finance Company of New York observed its 18th anniversary on March 23.

The local office has remained in its original location, 319 Wall street above the J. J. Newberry Company store, during its entire 18 years. From that office, the company serves a territory that includes Ulster and Greene counties and parts of Delaware and Sullivan counties.

The business has grown steadily and at the present time the local office reports more than $500,000 in loans outstanding, making it the third largest in volume of the Personal Finance Company offices between New York and Albany.

A certificate of "outstanding accomplishment" for building the volume of the business was awarded to George M. Carpenter, local manager, by Charles Watts, chairman of the board of Personal Finance, at a dinner conference of 22 office managers at Garden City last month. Carpenter and the manager of the Yonkers office were the only two recipients of the certificate from among the managers in offices including Long Island, Westchester county and the Hudson Valley.

A Personal Finance Company employe for 13 years, Carpenter came to Kingston as manager in 1947, following a five-year term as manager of the firm's Tarrytown office. Other employes at the Kingston office are Vincent Berardi, assistant manager; Fred Suppies; Miss Alice Hannweber, cashier; Miss Janet Roesler and Evelyn Van Laer.

Romance Blooms in Parade

Pasadena, Calif., March 30 (AP) —Romance bloomed in the rose parade. Marine Corp. Robert Gray, 22, Korea veteran who was grand marshal of the tournament of roses parade last New Year's Day, announced his engagement yesterday to Betsy Josi, 18, who was a princess in the celebration. They met at the rose queen's breakfast a few days before the event. They said it was love at first sight.

Mosconi Hot

Philadelphia, March 30 (AP) — World Champion Willie Mosconi last night won his ninth victory in the Ralph Greenleaf memorial pocket billiards tournament, defeating U. S. titlist Joe Canton, 125-71. Earlier George Chenier, Toronto, defeated Irving Crane, Binghamton, N. Y., former U. S. titlist, 125-78, and Ben Allen, Kansas City, beat Onofrio Lauri, New York, 125-38. Allen then lost to Al Coslosky, Philadelphia, 125-115.

Dark Hurt

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Shortstop Al Dark of the New York Giants is out of action with a split little finger on his throwing hand.

The injury was received yesterday.

Another casualty is catcher Wes Westrum, with a blister on his throwing hand.

Old Construction Found in House

Cellar walls of stone several feet thick, rough hewn timbers, large fireplaces and other evidences of century-old construction have been uncovered during demolition work on the frame building at 70 Pearl street, corner of Wall street.

Work of razing the building with its additions extending along Wall street is in charge of Christy Everett, contractor, of Route 2, Kingston. Everett confirms the fact that the building was well constructed after the substantial but crude methods of its day.

Present owner of the building is listed on the city's tax rolls as Martha F. Childs, care of Allan R. L. Erskine, 24 State street, New York. Future plans for the property could not be learned.

The demolition work is proceeding unhurriedly, since materials are being sold from the premises.

Block From Stockade

Located one block from the old stockade wall, the building is identified closely with the history of Kingston. First building on the site was a small stone house, which on April 29, 1846, was sold by the estate of William Cockburn to Jeremiah Smith and his wife, Maria.

The stone house was removed to make room for a much larger frame building, which is the same building now being razed. Smith conducted a livery stable on Fair street on the site of the present Standard Furniture Company store.

When Smith had built the frame home at the Pearl and Wall street corner, he built a stable on the property in the rear, ample to house about 30 horses and carriages. This building in later years became Kingston's first automobile sales and service garage, operated by Adelbert H. Chambers and became the first home of Stuyvesant Garage.

The building, unoccupied in recent years, has finally succumbed to the ravages of time, but evidences of its former grace and its solid construction are being uncovered as workmen progress with its dismantling.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Cut the Deck, Not This Class

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"What are you going to teach people at your Charm School?" I asked my friend Sam Fry the other day.

"It's not a charm school," he replied, with dignity. "It's a Card School, and we're going to teach all card games. Nationally known experts will do the teaching. If you're a good boy, we might even ask you to do some of the teaching."

I managed to duck that invitation, but agreed to serve on the board of directors. So far as I know, this is the first card school that has ever made use of champions to do the teaching. Today's hand shows the sort of lesson they teach to experienced bridge players.

If South is the average good player, he will draw trumps fairly early. If he misguesses the location of the queen of trumps, he will be set (since he will almost surely lose one trick in each of the other suits).

The expert plan, as Sam Fry points out to his pupils, is not to draw trumps until the last possible moment. As you go along, you may have to guess the queen of hearts, but it is quite possible that the opponents will do the guessing for you.

At the first trick the queen of clubs is finessed, losing to East's king. East returns the queen of diamonds, whereupon South takes the ace of diamonds and all the top cards in the side suits; the ace of clubs, the ace of spades, and the king of spades. South then gives up a spade trick and lets the opponents carry the ball for a while.

They can take their third defensive trick, a diamond, but then must hand control back to declarer. One way or another, South ruffs a diamond in dummy and a club in his own hand. In the process, he should find out that East has length in both diamonds and clubs. It is therefore clear that East is quite short in trumps, and South can take the trump finesse through West on the basis of knowledge rather than guesswork.

As a matter of fact, when this type of hand is actually played, the opponents will often lead trumps in the hope of stopping a non-existent cross-ruff. Experts are very lazy people, according to Sam Fry, and they enjoy making the opponents do all the work.

Personal Finance Co. Has 18th Anniversary

The Kingston office of the Personal Finance Company of New York observed its 18th anniversary on March 23.

The local office has remained in its original location, 319 Wall street above the J. J. Newberry Company store, during its entire 18 years. From that office, the company serves a territory that includes Ulster and Greene counties and parts of Delaware and Sullivan counties.

The business has grown steadily and at the present time the local office reports more than $500,000 in loans outstanding, making it the third largest in volume of the Personal Finance Company offices between New York and Albany.

A certificate of "outstanding accomplishment" for building the volume of the business was awarded to George M. Carpenter, local manager, by Charles Watts, chairman of the board of Personal Finance, at a dinner conference of 22 office managers at Garden City last month. Carpenter and the manager of the Yonkers office were the only two recipients of the certificate from among the managers in offices including Long Island, Westchester county and the Hudson Valley.

A Personal Finance Company employe for 13 years, Carpenter came to Kingston as manager in 1947, following a five-year term as manager of the firm's Tarrytown office. Other employes at the Kingston office are Vincent Berardi, assistant manager; Fred Suppies; Miss Alice Hannweber, cashier; Miss Janet Roesler and Evelyn Van Laer.

Romance Blooms in Parade

Pasadena, Calif., March 30 (AP) —Romance bloomed in the rose parade. Marine Corp. Robert Gray, 22, Korea veteran who was grand marshal of the tournament of roses parade last New Year's Day, announced his engagement yesterday to Betsy Josi, 18, who was a princess in the celebration. They met at the rose queen's breakfast a few days before the event. They said it was love at first sight.

Mosconi Hot

Philadelphia, March 30 (AP) — World Champion Willie Mosconi last night won his ninth victory in the Ralph Greenleaf memorial pocket biliards tournament, defeating U. S. titlist Joe Canton, 125-71. Earlier George Chenier, Toronto, defeated Irving Crane, Binghamton, N. Y., former U. S. titlist, 125-78, and Ben Allen, Kansas City, beat Onofrio Lauri, New York, 125-38. Allen then lost to Al Coslosky, Philadelphia, 125-115.

Dark Hurt

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Shortstop Al Dark of the New York Giants is out of action with a split little finger on his throwing hand.

The injury was received yesterday.

Another casualty is catcher Wes Westrum, with a blister on his throwing hand.

Old Construction Found in House

Cellar walls of stone several feet thick, rough hewn timbers, large fireplaces and other evidences of century-old construction have been uncovered during demolition work on the frame building at 70 Pearl street, corner of Wall street.

Work of razing the building with its additions extending along Wall street is in charge of Christy Everett, contractor, of Route 2, Kingston. Everett confirms the fact that the building was well constructed after the substantial but crude methods of its day.

Present owner of the building is listed on the city's tax rolls as Martha F. Childs, care of Allan R. L. Erskine, 24 State street, New York. Future plans for the property could not be learned.

The demolition work is proceeding unhurriedly, since materials are being sold from the premises.

Block From Stockade

Located one block from the old stockade wall, the building is identified closely with the history of Kingston. First building on the site was a small stone house, which on April 29, 1846, was sold by the estate of William Cockburn to Jeremiah Smith and his wife, Maria.

The stone house was removed to make room for a much larger frame building, which is the same building now being razed. Smith conducted a livery stable on Fair street on the site of the present Standard Furniture Company store.

When Smith had built the frame home at the Pearl and Wall street corner, he built a stable on the property in the rear, ample to house about 30 horses and carriages. This building in later years became Kingston's first automobile sales and service garage, operated by Adelbert H. Chambers and became the first home of Stuyvesant Garage.

The building, unoccupied in recent years, has finally succumbed to the ravages of time, but evidences of its former grace and its solid construction are being uncovered as workmen progress with its dismantling.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Cut the Deck, Not This Class

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"What are you going to teach people at your Charm School?" I asked my friend Sam Fry the other day.

"It's not a charm school," he replied, with dignity. "It's a Card School, and we're going to teach all card games. Nationally known experts will do the teaching. If you're a good boy, we might even ask you to do some of the teaching."

I managed to duck that invitation, but agreed to serve on the board of directors. So far as I know, this is the first card school that has ever made use of champions to do the teaching. Today's hand shows the sort of lesson they teach to experienced bridge players.

If South is the average good player, he will draw trumps fairly early. If he misguesses the location of the queen of trumps, he will be set (since he will almost surely lose one trick in each of the other suits).

The expert plan, as Sam Fry points out to his pupils, is not to draw trumps until the last possible moment. As you go along, you may have to guess the queen of hearts, but it is quite possible that the opponents will do the guessing for you.

Opening lead—♣ 10

At the first trick the queen of clubs is finessed, losing to East's king. East returns the queen of diamonds, whereupon South takes the ace of diamonds and all the top cards in the side suits; the ace of clubs, the ace of spades, and the king of spades. South then gives up a spade trick and lets the opponents carry the ball for a while.

They can take their third defensive trick, a diamond, but then must hand control back to declarer. One way or another, South ruffs a diamond in dummy and a club in his own hand. In the process, he should find out that East has length in both diamonds and clubs. It is therefore clear that East is quite short in trumps, and South can take the trump finesse through West on the basis of knowledge rather than guesswork.

As a matter of fact, when this type of hand is actually played, the opponents will often lead trumps in the hope of stopping a non-existent cross-ruff. Experts are very lazy people, according to Sam Fry, and they enjoy making the opponents do all the work.

Personal Finance Co. Has 18th Anniversary

The Kingston office of the Personal Finance Company of New York observed its 18th anniversary on March 23.

The local office has remained in its original location, 319 Wall street above the J. J. Newberry Company store, during its entire 18 years. From that office, the company serves a territory that includes Ulster and Greene counties and parts of Delaware and Sullivan counties.

The business has grown steadily and at the present time the local office reports more than $500,000 in loans outstanding, making it the third largest in volume of the Personal Finance Company offices between New York and Albany.

A certificate of "outstanding accomplishment" for building the volume of the business was awarded to George M. Carpenter, local manager, by Charles Watts, chairman of the board of Personal Finance, at a dinner conference of 22 office managers at Garden City last month. Carpenter and the manager of the Yonkers office were the only two recipients of the certificate from among the managers in offices including Long Island, Westchester county and the Hudson Valley.

A Personal Finance Company employe for 13 years, Carpenter came to Kingston as manager in 1947, following a five-year term as manager of the firm's Tarrytown office. Other employes at the Kingston office are Vincent Berardi, assistant manager; Fred Suppies; Miss Alice Hannweber, cashier; Miss Janet Roesler and Evelyn Van Laer.

Romance Blooms in Parade

Pasadena, Calif., March 30 (AP) —Romance bloomed in the rose parade. Marine Corp. Robert Gray, 22, Korea veteran who was grand marshal of the tournament of roses parade last New Year's Day, announced his engagement yesterday to Betsy Josi, 18, who was a princess in the celebration. They met at the rose queen's breakfast a few days before the event. They said it was love at first sight.

Mosconi Hot

Philadelphia, March 30 (AP) — World Champion Willie Mosconi last night won his ninth victory in the Ralph Greenleaf memorial pocket biliards tournament, defeating U. S. titlist Joe Canton, 125-71. Earlier George Chenier, Toronto, defeated Irving Crane, Binghamton, N. Y., former U. S. titlist, 125-78, and Ben Allen, Kansas City, beat Onofrio Lauri, New York, 125-38. Allen then lost to Al Coslosky, Philadelphia, 125-115.

Dark Hurt

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 30 (AP)—Shortstop Al Dark of the New York Giants is out of action with a split little finger on his throwing hand.

The injury was received yesterday.

Another casualty is catcher Wes Westrum, with a blister on his throwing hand.

Old Construction Found in House

Cellar walls of stone several feet thick, rough hewn timbers, large fireplaces and other evidences of century-old construction have been uncovered during demolition work on the frame building at 70 Pearl street, corner of Wall street.

Work of razing the building with its additions extending along Wall street is in charge of Christy Everett, contractor, of Route 2, Kingston. Everett confirms the fact that the building was well constructed after the substantial but crude methods of its day.

Present owner of the building is listed on the city's tax rolls as Martha F. Childs, care of Allan R. L. Erskine, 24 State street, New York. Future plans for the property could not be learned.

The demolition work is proceeding unhurriedly, since materials are being sold from the premises.

Block From Stockade

Located one block from the old stockade wall, the building is identified closely with the history of Kingston. First building on the site was a small stone house, which on April 29, 1846, was sold by the estate of William Cockburn to Jeremiah Smith and his wife, Maria.

The stone house was removed to make room for a much larger frame building, which is the same building now being razed. Smith conducted a livery stable on Fair street on the site of the present Standard Furniture Company store.

When Smith had built the frame home at the Pearl and Wall street corner, he built a stable on the property in the rear, ample to house about 30 horses and carriages. This building in later years became Kingston's first automobile sales and service garage, operated by Adelbert H. Chambers and became the first home of Stuyvesant Garage.

The building, unoccupied in recent years, has finally succumbed to the ravages of time, but evidences of its former grace and its solid construction are being uncovered as workmen progress with its dismantling.

Judy Holliday Is Awarded Oscar; Ferrer Top Male

Hollywood, March 30 (AP) — Judy Holliday, the junk dealer's squeaky-voiced babe in "Born Yesterday" won the Academy Award last night from two mature actresses, Gloria Swanson and Bette Davis.

Jose Ferrer was given the top male Oscar for his swaggering performance as the bulbnosed "Cyrano De Bergerac." For the first time in motion picture academy history, neither winner was present. Both Miss Holliday and Ferrer are in New York.

Statuettes for the best supporting roles in 1950 were bestowed on Josephine Hull, the fluttering sister in "Harvey" and George Sanders, acid-tongued critic of "All About Eve."

"All About Eve" captured honors for the best film of 1950, winning five other awards as well. Its writer-director, Joseph L. Mankiewicz, walked off the platform with two Oscars, duplicating his feat of last year (for writing and directing "A Letter to Three Wives.")

It was a stunning victory for Miss Holliday. In her second important picture, the shapely New Yorker captured the honors away from the highly touted performances of Miss Swanson in "Sunset Boulevard" and Miss Davis in "All About Eve."

Nearly Missed Role

Miss Holliday nearly missed playing the role of Billie Dawn, which she created in the New York stage play. Columbia Studios tested many other actresses before selecting her. Ethel Barrymore accepted the award in her absence, lauding a "radiant performance."

Ferrer, another newcomer to films, spoke his acceptance from a New York party: "This means more to me than the honor to an actor. I consider it a vote of confidence and an act of faith, and believe me, I'll not let you down."

Ferrer himself had thrown the party at a small Spanish night club and invited both Miss Holliday and Miss Swanson.

Miss Holliday broke into sobs and could only say: "I'm beside myself with excitement."

Miss Swanson, currently appearing in a Broadway play with Ferrer, was a smiling loser.

Climax of Career

For Miss Hull, it was the climax of a theatrical career that began in her native Boston in 1902. The 66-year-old comedienne won the warmest applause from the 2,800 spectators at the Pantages Theatre.

"How wonderful of you!" she remarked. "I must thank that six foot, four inch Harvey."

Sanders, usually stoical, was moved to tears by his award. He made no acceptance speech, merely grabbing his Oscar and rushing off-stage.

Other important awards: Motion picture story, "Panic in the Streets" by Edna and Edward Anhalt; story and screenplay (by same writers)—"Sunset Boulevard," Charles Brackett, Billy Wilder and D. M. Marshman, Jr.; Irving Thalberg Memorial for high-quality production, Darryl Zanuck of 20th Century-Fox; best musical score, "Sunset Boulevard," Franz Waxman; best song, "Mona Lisa," by Mack David, Al Hoffman and Jerry Livingston, from "Captain Carey, U. S. A."

The event was one of the least exciting in the academy's 23-year history. The crowd of 2,000 lining Hollywood Boulevard made only one outburst—when TV star Bill (Hopalong Cassidy) Boyd arrived and tossed away good-luck coins.

Bunche Is Selected

New York, March 30 (AP)—Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations Palestine mediator and winner of the 1950 Nobel Peace Prize, has been selected to receive the 1951 Four Freedoms Award. The award to Bunche was announced yesterday by former State Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora, chairman of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Four Freedoms Award Committee. Bunche will be presented with the award at a dinner April 11 by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who won it last year. Bunche, an American Negro, was chosen by nationwide balloting for contributions to the four freedoms which he made as "top-ranking director of the trusteeship department of the United Nations."

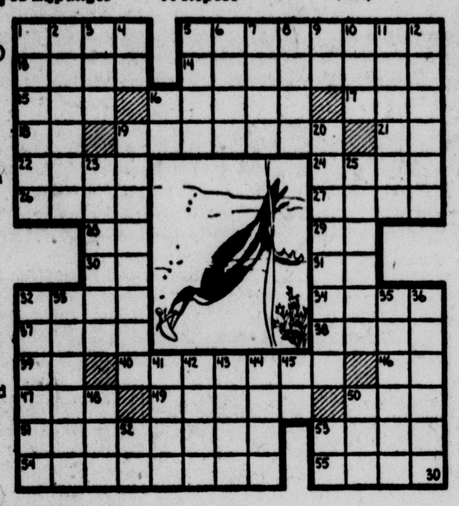
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Diseases Are Killing Thousands of Reds

Tokyo, March 30 (AP)—An informed military source said today soldiers and civilians in Red Korea are dying by the thousands of smallpox, typhus and typhoid.

They said the diseases are putting far more Red soldiers out of action than United Nations shells and bombs. The situation is said to be worst among civilians.

The Communists don't have enough doctors. Most medical men and nurses have been drafted for military service. The few left reportedly are not even making a pretense of treating the civilian population.

Lawmakers . . .

reporter asked if he intends to fire Donald Dawson, White House aide who has been accused of exerting such influence.

No, Mr. Truman said, he isn't going to fire Dawson. Turning to point to the official, the President said he's here now. Dawson smiled.

On other topics Mr. Truman said:

His administration is taking "positive steps" to fight crime and is carefully studying new anti-crime measures.

Denied any intention of firing Ambassador William O'Dwyer, who has figured in Senate investigation of crime.

The world situation is just as critical as it has been, and the need for high production is greater than ever.

Secretary of Defense Marshall was perfectly correct in his statement Wednesday on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's authority to cross the 38th Parallel in Korea, Marshall said U. S. movements will be determined by military necessity. Marshall added, however, that any general advance across the north-south boundary would depend on a political decision.

He (the President) hopes prices can be brought back below pre-Korea levels, but he's making no predictions. It's a gigantic job, the President said, and it requires the cooperation of every branch of the economy.

Prompt action is vital on his proposal to give India 1,000,000 tons of grain at once. Then there'll be time to explore in greater detail India's request for an additional 1,000,000 tons, he said.

Dewey Approves Licensing System

Albany, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Governor Dewey approved today a new horse race licensing system to replace the jockey club setup killed by the State Court of Appeals.

His action means that New York's rich racing season will open on schedule, Monday at Jamaica track.

Dewey signed a bill giving to the State Racing Commission all licensing powers for running tracks, although the measure leaves the door wide open for recommendations by the Jockey Club, a private association.

Formerly, the state law delegated to the Jockey Club power to issue licenses to horse owners, trainers and jockeys. The state's highest court declared the system unconstitutional on March 8.

The seven judges were agreed that it constituted an unlawful delegation of authority by the Legislature.

Commission Has Charge

Under the new law, drafted and hastily approved by the Legislature shortly before its adjournment March 16, the Racing Commission will handle all track licensing directly but has authority to employ expert consultants for advice on license applications.

This latter provision makes it possible for the Jockey Club to retain a voice in the field.

Moreover, the new act specifically states that before any racing rules are adopted "the commission shall give the Jockey Club . . . an opportunity to submit recommendations . . ."

The Jockey Club's racing rules govern the sport on a nationwide basis.

The legislation setting up the new system was bitterly assailed in the state Senate by Democratic Leader Elmer F. Quinn.

He said the plan would permit the Jockey Club to "steal in through the skylight" to exercise continued control over racing in New York.

Quinn described the exclusive membership of 50 persons in the Jockey Club as "the most arrogant crowd that ever existed in America."

An offshoot of the Court of Appeals decision was the creation of a legislative committee to study racing laws and other phases of the sport.

Upward Trend Continues

Chicago, March 30 (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths continued their upward trend in February, for the 15th consecutive month, the National Safety Council said. The February toll of 2,300 was four per cent above February, 1950, the smallest increase since December, 1949. Virtually all the increase was in the Rocky Mountain and Pacific coast states. A partial cause of the steady increase in traffic fatalities, the council said, was a continuing increase in motor vehicle travel. Traffic accidents killed 5,190 persons in the first two months this year, an increase of 11 per cent over the corresponding period last year. The council said 227 cities have reported no deaths up to March 1.

About 70 per cent of U. S. farms have at least one passenger car.

Judy Holliday Is Awarded Oscar; Ferrer Top Male

Hollywood, March 30 (AP) — Judy Holliday, the junk dealer's squeaky-voiced babe in "Born Yesterday" won the Academy Award last night from two mature actresses, Gloria Swanson and Bette Davis.

Jose Ferrer was given the top male Oscar for his swaggering performance as the bulbnosed "Cyrano De Bergerac." For the first time in motion picture academy history, neither winner was present. Both Miss Holliday and Ferrer are in New York.

Statuettes for the best supporting roles in 1950 were bestowed on Josephine Hull, the fluttering sister in "Harvey" and George Sanders, acid-tongued critic of "All About Eve."

"All About Eve" captured honors for the best film of 1950, winning five other awards as well. Its writer-director, Joseph L. Mankiewicz, walked off the platform with two Oscars, duplicating his feat of last year (for writing and directing "A Letter to Three Wives.")

It was a stunning victory for Miss Holliday. In her second important picture, the shapely New Yorker captured the honors away from the highly touted performances of Miss Swanson in "Sunset Boulevard" and Miss Davis in "All About Eve."

Nearly Missed Role

Miss Holliday nearly missed playing the role of Billie Dawn, which she created in the New York stage play. Columbia Studios tested many other actresses before selecting her. Ethel Barrymore accepted the award in her absence, lauding a "radiant performance."

Ferrer, another newcomer to films, spoke his acceptance from a New York party: "This means more to me than the honor to an actor. I consider it a vote of confidence and an act of faith, and believe me, I'll not let you down."

Ferrer himself had thrown the party at a small Spanish night club and invited both Miss Holliday and Miss Swanson.

Miss Holliday broke into sobs and could only say: "I'm beside myself with excitement."

Miss Swanson, currently appearing in a Broadway play with Ferrer, was a smiling loser.

Climax of Career

For Miss Hull, it was the climax of a theatrical career that began in her native Boston in 1902. The 66-year-old comedienne won the warmest applause from the 2,800 spectators at the Pantages Theatre.

"How wonderful of you!" she remarked. "I must thank that six foot, four inch Harvey."

Sanders, usually stoical, was moved to tears by his award. He made no acceptance speech, merely grabbing his Oscar and rushing off-stage.

Other important awards: Motion picture story, "Panic in the Streets" by Edna and Edward Anhalt; story and screenplay (by same writers)—"Sunset Boulevard," Charles Brackett, Billy Wilder and D. M. Marshman, Jr.; Irving Thalberg Memorial for high-quality production, Darryl Zanuck of 20th Century-Fox; best musical score, "Sunset Boulevard," Franz Waxman; best song, "Mona Lisa," by Mack David, Al Hoffman and Jerry Livingston, from "Captain Carey, U. S. A."

The event was one of the least exciting in the academy's 23-year history. The crowd of 2,000 lining Hollywood Boulevard made only one outburst—when TV star Bill (Hopalong Cassidy) Boyd arrived and tossed away good-luck coins.

Bunche Is Selected

New York, March 30 (AP)—Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations Palestine mediator and winner of the 1950 Nobel Peace Prize, has been selected to receive the 1951 Four Freedoms Award. The award to Bunche was announced yesterday by former State Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora, chairman of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Four Freedoms Award Committee. Bunche will be presented with the award at a dinner April 11 by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who won it last year. Bunche, an American Negro, was chosen by nationwide balloting for contributions to the four freedoms which he made as "top-ranking director of the trusteeship department of the United Nations."

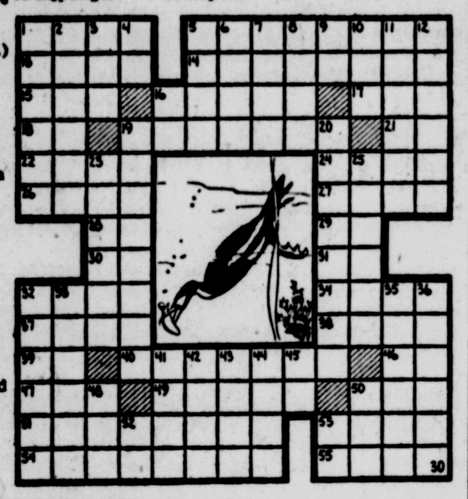
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Diseases Are Killing Thousands of Reds

Tokyo, March 30 (AP)—An informed military source said today soldiers and civilians in Red Korea are dying by the thousands of smallpox, typhus and typhoid.

They said the diseases are putting far more Red soldiers out of action than United Nations shells and bombs. The situation is said to be worst among civilians.

The Communists don't have enough doctors. Most medical men and nurses have been drafted for military service. The few left reportedly are not even making a pretense of treating the civilian population.

Lawmakers . . .

reporter asked if he intends to fire Donald Dawson, White House aide who has been accused of exerting such influence.

No, Mr. Truman said, he isn't going to fire Dawson. Turning to point to the official, the President said he's here now. Dawson smiled.

On other topics Mr. Truman said:

His administration is taking "positive steps" to fight crime and is carefully studying new anti-crime measures.

Denied any intention of firing Ambassador William O'Dwyer, who has figured in Senate investigation of crime.

The world situation is just as critical as it has been, and the need for high production is greater than ever.

Secretary of Defense Marshall was perfectly correct in his statement Wednesday on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's authority to cross the 38th Parallel in Korea, Marshall said U. S. movements will be determined by military necessity. Marshall added, however, that any general advance across the north-south boundary would depend on a political decision.

He (the President) hopes prices can be brought back below pre-Korea levels, but he's making no predictions. It's a gigantic job, the President said, and it requires the cooperation of every branch of the economy.

Prompt action is vital on his proposal to give India 1,000,000 tons of grain at once. Then there'll be time to explore in greater detail India's request for an additional 1,000,000 tons, he said.

Dewey Approves Licensing System

Albany, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Governor Dewey approved today a new horse race licensing system to replace the jockey club setup killed by the State Court of Appeals.

His action means that New York's rich racing season will open on schedule, Monday at Jamaica track.

Dewey signed a bill giving to the State Racing Commission all licensing powers for running tracks, although the measure leaves the door wide open for recommendations by the Jockey Club, a private association.

Formerly, the state law delegated to the Jockey Club power to issue licenses to horse owners, trainers and jockeys. The state's highest court declared the system unconstitutional on March 8.

The seven judges were agreed that it constituted an unlawful delegation of authority by the Legislature.

Commission Has Charge

Under the new law, drafted and hastily approved by the Legislature shortly before its adjournment March 16, the Racing Commission will handle all track licensing directly but has authority to employ expert consultants for advice on license applications.

This latter provision makes it possible for the Jockey Club to retain a voice in the field.

Moreover, the new act specifically states that before any racing rules are adopted "the commission shall give the Jockey Club . . . an opportunity to submit recommendations . . ."

The Jockey Club's racing rules govern the sport on a nationwide basis.

The legislation setting up the new system was bitterly assailed in the state Senate by Democratic Leader Elmer F. Quinn.

He said the plan would permit the Jockey Club to "steal in through the skylight" to exercise continued control over racing in New York.

Quinn described the exclusive membership of 50 persons in the Jockey Club as "the most arrogant crowd that ever existed in America."

An offshoot of the Court of Appeals decision was the creation of a legislative committee to study racing laws and other phases of the sport.

Upward Trend Continues

Chicago, March 30 (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths continued their upward trend in February, for the 15th consecutive month, the National Safety Council said. The February toll of 2,300 was four per cent above February, 1950, the smallest increase since December, 1949. Virtually all the increase was in the Rocky Mountain and Pacific coast states. A partial cause of the steady increase in traffic fatalities, the council said, was a continuing increase in motor vehicle travel. Traffic accidents killed 5,190 persons in the first two months this year, an increase of 11 per cent over the corresponding period last year. The council said 227 cities have reported no deaths up to March 1.

About 70 per cent of U. S. farms have at least one passenger car.

Judy Holliday Is Awarded Oscar; Ferrer Top Male

Hollywood, March 30 (AP) — Judy Holliday, the junk dealer's squeaky-voiced babe in "Born Yesterday" won the Academy Award last night from two mature actresses, Gloria Swanson and Bette Davis.

Jose Ferrer was given the top male Oscar for his swaggering performance as the bulbnosed "Cyrano De Bergerac." For the first time in motion picture academy history, neither winner was present. Both Miss Holliday and Ferrer are in New York.

Statuettes for the best supporting roles in 1950 were bestowed on Josephine Hull, the fluttering sister in "Harvey" and George Sanders, acid-tongued critic of "All About Eve."

"All About Eve" captured honors for the best film of 1950, winning five other awards as well. Its writer-director, Joseph L. Mankiewicz, walked off the platform with two Oscars, duplicating his feat of last year (for writing and directing "A Letter to Three Wives.")

It was a stunning victory for Miss Holliday. In her second important picture, the shapely New Yorker captured the honors away from the highly touted performances of Miss Swanson in "Sunset Boulevard" and Miss Davis in "All About Eve."

Nearly Missed Role

Miss Holliday nearly missed playing the role of Billie Dawn, which she created in the New York stage play. Columbia Studios tested many other actresses before selecting her. Ethel Barrymore accepted the award in her absence, lauding a "radiant performance."

Ferrer, another newcomer to films, spoke his acceptance from a New York party: "This means more to me than the honor to an actor. I consider it a vote of confidence and an act of faith, and believe me, I'll not let you down."

Ferrer himself had thrown the party at a small Spanish night club and invited both Miss Holliday and Miss Swanson.

Miss Holliday broke into sobs and could only say: "I'm beside myself with excitement."

Miss Swanson, currently appearing in a Broadway play with Ferrer, was a smiling loser.

Climax of Career

For Miss Hull, it was the climax of a theatrical career that began in her native Boston in 1902. The 66-year-old comedienne won the warmest applause from the 2,800 spectators at the Pantages Theatre.

"How wonderful of you!" she remarked. "I must thank that six foot, four inch Harvey."

Sanders, usually stoical, was moved to tears by his award. He made no acceptance speech, merely grabbing his Oscar and rushing off-stage.

Other important awards: Motion picture story, "Panic in the Streets" by Edna and Edward Anhalt; story and screenplay (by same writers)—"Sunset Boulevard," Charles Brackett, Billy Wilder and D. M. Marshman, Jr.; Irving Thalberg Memorial for high-quality production, Darryl Zanuck of 20th Century-Fox; best musical score, "Sunset Boulevard," Franz Waxman; best song, "Mona Lisa," by Mack David, Al Hoffman and Jerry Livingston, from "Captain Carey, U. S. A."

The event was one of the least exciting in the academy's 23-year history. The crowd of 2,000 lining Hollywood Boulevard made only one outburst—when TV star Bill (Hopalong Cassidy) Boyd arrived and tossed away good-luck coins.

Bunche Is Selected

New York, March 30 (AP)—Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations Palestine mediator and winner of the 1950 Nobel Peace Prize, has been selected to receive the 1951 Four Freedoms Award. The award to Bunche was announced yesterday by former State Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora, chairman of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Four Freedoms Award Committee. Bunche will be presented with the award at a dinner April 11 by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who won it last year. Bunche, an American Negro, was chosen by nationwide balloting for contributions to the four freedoms which he made as "top-ranking director of the trusteeship department of the United Nations."

Diseases Are Killing Thousands of Reds

Tokyo, March 30 (AP)—An informed military source said today soldiers and civilians in Red Korea are dying by the thousands of smallpox, typhus and typhoid.

They said the diseases are putting far more Red soldiers out of action than United Nations shells and bombs. The situation is said to be worst among civilians.

The Communists don't have enough doctors. Most medical men and nurses have been drafted for military service. The few left reportedly are not even making a pretense of treating the civilian population.

Lawmakers . . .

reporter asked if he intends to fire Donald Dawson, White House aide who has been accused of exerting such influence.

No, Mr. Truman said, he isn't going to fire Dawson. Turning to point to the official, the President said he's here now. Dawson smiled.

On other topics Mr. Truman said:

His administration is taking "positive steps" to fight crime and is carefully studying new anti-crime measures.

Denied any intention of firing Ambassador William O'Dwyer, who has figured in Senate investigation of crime.

The world situation is just as critical as it has been, and the need for high production is greater than ever.

Secretary of Defense Marshall was perfectly correct in his statement Wednesday on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's authority to cross the 38th Parallel in Korea, Marshall said U. S. movements will be determined by military necessity. Marshall added, however, that any general advance across the north-south boundary would depend on a political decision.

He (the President) hopes prices can be brought back below pre-Korea levels, but he's making no predictions. It's a gigantic job, the President said, and it requires the cooperation of every branch of the economy.

Prompt action is vital on his proposal to give India 1,000,000 tons of grain at once. Then there'll be time to explore in greater detail India's request for an additional 1,000,000 tons, he said.

Dewey Approves Licensing System

Albany, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Governor Dewey approved today a new horse race licensing system to replace the jockey club setup killed by the State Court of Appeals.

His action means that New York's rich racing season will open on schedule, Monday at Jamaica track.

Dewey signed a bill giving to the State Racing Commission all licensing powers for running tracks, although the measure leaves the door wide open for recommendations by the Jockey Club, a private association.

Formerly, the state law delegated to the Jockey Club power to issue licenses to horse owners, trainers and jockeys. The state's highest court declared the system unconstitutional on March 8.

The seven judges were agreed that it constituted an unlawful delegation of authority by the Legislature.

Commission Has Charge

Under the new law, drafted and hastily approved by the Legislature shortly before its adjournment March 16, the Racing Commission will handle all track licensing directly but has authority to employ expert consultants for advice on license applications.

This latter provision makes it possible for the Jockey Club to retain a voice in the field.

Moreover, the new act specifically states that before any racing rules are adopted "the commission shall give the Jockey Club . . . an opportunity to submit recommendations . . ."

The Jockey Club's racing rules govern the sport on a nationwide basis.

The legislation setting up the new system was bitterly assailed in the state Senate by Democratic Leader Elmer F. Quinn.

He said the plan would permit the Jockey Club to "steal in through the skylight" to exercise continued control over racing in New York.

Quinn described the exclusive membership of 50 persons in the Jockey Club as "the most arrogant crowd that ever existed in America."

An offshoot of the Court of Appeals decision was the creation of a legislative committee to study racing laws and other phases of the sport.

Upward Trend Continues

Chicago, March 30 (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths continued their upward trend in February, for the 15th consecutive month, the National Safety Council said. The February toll of 2,300 was four per cent above February, 1950, the smallest increase since December, 1949. Virtually all the increase was in the Rocky Mountain and Pacific coast states. A partial cause of the steady increase in traffic fatalities, the council said, was a continuing increase in motor vehicle travel. Traffic accidents killed 5,190 persons in the first two months this year, an increase of 11 per cent over the corresponding period last year. The council said 227 cities have reported no deaths up to March 1.

About 70 per cent of U. S. farms have at least one passenger car.

necessary steps as will place the building and its site in a safe condition. The property is owned by V. J. Costanzi, Inc., of Poughkeepsie, a contracting firm.

Owner Gets 30 Days

The board moved that the owner be notified of its action and of the law authorizing it, and that he be given 30 days to remedy the condition, and if none is taken by then, the board will take the necessary steps to correct it.

The board's action follows a resolution offered in the Common Council by Tenth Ward Alderman James J. Carroll, and Alderman Charles Cole, 13th Ward, asking that the condition of the property be corrected.

The B.P.W. investigating committee was composed of Commissioners Ray Whitbeck, Joseph Honig, Kenneth Hyatt, City Engineer A. F. Hallinan and Ernest A. Steuding, public works superintendent.

The F. A. Bartlett Tree Expert Co., Stamford, Conn., acting on request of Superintendent Steuding, submitted a report on steps necessary to improve the condition of trees in Academy Green Park. The estimate on necessary work ranged between $855 and $954, depending upon the amount of work done by city forces in conjunction with the project.

An examination of deciduous trees in the park was made by the company, it said, in its letter to the board, and it found them to be "in very poor condition."

Trees Need Nourishment

Pruning and other work is needed, elm leaf beetles have defoliated the trees for several years, and aphids were so numerous that park benches were sticky from their secretions. One elm has been infested with bark beetles and should be taken down, and it recommended spraying of the elms and soft maples and grub proofing the lawn against the Japanese beetle larvae. The trees are also dying "of slow starvation" because of deficient ground conditions, the report said.

A letter from Attorney Kirtland F. Snyder in behalf of Frank J. Walter, owner of a property between Westbrook Place and Plymouth avenue, and asking for information on steps necessary to remove dirt and stone from the end of Plymouth avenue, was referred to the city engineer.

Singer Asks for Sewers

A petition for the construction of sewers on the Singer development on the former Coykendall property on West Chestnut street, was also referred to the city engineer. A deed was offered with the petition filed by Attorney Harry Gold. The development contains 17 building lot.

The board voted to forward to the Pennington Studio, 74 Main street, a copy of the city regulation, following its application for the erection of a canopy from the studio door to the curb. The city regulation prohibits the erection of any new canopies.

The board granted a leave of absence to C. Joseph Styles, 57 Park street, an engineer's aide, because of his induction into the U. S. Army and it accepted the resignation of John J. Johnston, Jr., as a B.P.W. laborer.

New York Central Safety Meeting

The annual safety meeting in this area of the maintenance, track and signal departments of the New York Central System was held Thursday. There were 140 Central men in attendance and dinner was served in Cuneo's. Speakers at the safety council, shown above left to right, were F. W. Constable, signal supervisor, John G. Heybruck, chief clerk; F. L. Vault, Jr., supervisor of tracks, who presided; H. E. Keator, assistant superintendent of bridges and buildings; Louis R. Netter, managing editor of The Freeman; George L. Barnes, supervising safety agent of the New York Central System, who gave the principal address; F. T. Vernon, assistant superintendent of signals; Stephen J. Keating, train master. (Freeman Photo)

New York Central Employes Attend Sessions on Safety

The great progress made in the preservation of life in recent years among the employes of the New York Central System was emphasized by George L. Barnes, supervising safety agent of the New York Central, at the annual safety meeting of employes of the railroad held here Thursday.

Sessions were held in both the morning and afternoon and were attended by 140 men of the maintenance, track and signal departments operating in this area. Dinner was served at Cuneo's.

In a forceful address, the supervising safety agent pointed out that the New York Central System had the best safety record of any railroad in this country, Canada or Mexico and gave statistical accounts to prove his assertion.

In recent years, the New York Central Railroad has reduced the accident fatalities among its employes approximately 80 per cent, a record, the speaker said, which was one to be proud of and rarely equalled among industries employing large numbers of men. The New York Central System employs some 120,000. The reduction in the accident death toll in the past 30 years has ranged from a high mark of 137 a year down to 22 a year.

The great strides toward the preservation of human life in the decreasing accident toll, he credited to the alertness and the great spirit of cooperation among the supervisors, the foreman and the general workers. Other major contributing factors were the addition of the most modern equipment and the safety educational program being carried on constantly and continuously among the employes.

The speaker told the employes that although the record of safety was outstanding they should strive for further reductions. He exhorted the Central men to continue their alertness and vigilance while on the job, because the accidents that have occurred were due primarily to human failings, carelessness and complacency upon the part of the workers.

He re-emphasized that the manual of safety rules issued by the New York Central System were very implicit and if followed out to the letter, the year 1951 would show even a greater reduction in the accident toll.

Interspersed throughout his address, the safety director cited cases showing where failure to comply with the rules had resulted in the death of employes.

The New York Central System for some time has been conducting a campaign to enlighten not only its employes but the general public to the cause of safety.

A local Home Safety Committee, comprised of employes of the railroad system, has distributed circulars and secured moving pictures for screening in the schools and at public gatherings all stressing the elimination of hazards and accident prevention.

Other speakers at the sessions stressed the urgency of safety programs, such as were being conducted by the New York Central, since accidents are the leading cause of death.

Warren A. Russell, director of visual education in the Kingston schools, screened several pictures on safety, one of which was of New York Central employes working out of the local departments.

Saxville Store Sold To New York Man

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Glass of Saxeville, town of Hurley, recently sold their store and residence to Robert Cella of 43 West 85th street, New York. Mr. Cella took possession on Tuesday and expects to reside in the apartment located over the store.

The property, in what is known as Riverside Park, is a sub-division of the so-called Maple Arch Farm located in the town of Hurley. In 1926 this tract of land was conveyed by the estate of the late Howard Myer to John H. Saxe. Myer for a number of years conducted a cigar store and cigar factory at 39 John street, Kingston, and manufactured two brands of cigars which were popular and well known to Kingstonians, the Chief Judge, named in honor of Chief Judge Alton B. Parker who in 1904 was Democratic Presidential nominee, and the Billy D., named after Myer's salesman, William Dugan. Dugan later went into the hardware and harness business on Wall street with John Costello, under the name of Costello and Dugan. A papier-mache horse standing in front of the store advertised the harness end of that business.

Sale of the property by Mr. and Mrs. Glass was negotiated through William Engelen, real estate broker of 68 Main street and the attorneys were Walter J. Miller for Glass and Henry Klein for Cella.

Youths Ask for Aspirin

New York, March 30 (AP)—Two youths asked for aspirin in a Brooklyn drug store and informed the clerk he was the one who was "getting the headache." They fled with $70 from the cash register. A few minutes later police picked up two 18-year-olds a mile from the J. L. Smith drug store last night and charged them with the robbery. Police said the clerk, Ben R. Wagner, 65, identified both of them. The two were booked as Dominick Centrone and John Wieczerzak, both of Brooklyn. Police said they had an imitation pistol that had been drilled so it could be fired. The two youths were charged with assault, robbery and illegal possession of weapons.

An examination of deciduous trees in the park was made by the company, it said, in its letter to the board, and it found them to be "in very poor condition."

Trees Need Nourishment

Pruning and other work is needed, elm leaf beetles have defoliated the trees for several years, and aphids were so numerous that park benches were sticky from their secretions. One elm has been infested with bark beetles and should be taken down, and it recommended spraying of the elms and soft maples and grub proofing the lawn against the Japanese beetle larvae. The trees are also dying "of slow starvation" because of deficient ground conditions, the report said.

A letter from Attorney Kirtland F. Snyder in behalf of Frank J. Walter, owner of a property between Westbrook Place and Plymouth avenue, and asking for information on steps necessary to remove dirt and stone from the end of Plymouth avenue, was referred to the city engineer.

Singer Asks for Sewers

A petition for the construction of sewers on the Singer development on the former Coykendall property on West Chestnut street, was also referred to the city engineer. A deed was offered with the petition filed by Attorney Harry Gold. The development contains 17 building lot.

The board voted to forward to the Pennington Studio, 74 Main street, a copy of the city regulation, following its application for the erection of a canopy from the studio door to the curb. The city regulation prohibits the erection of any new canopies.

The board granted a leave of absence to C. Joseph Styles, 57 Park street, an engineer's aide, because of his induction into the U. S. Army and it accepted the resignation of John J. Johnston, Jr., as a B.P.W. laborer.

New York Central Employes Attend Sessions on Safety

The great progress made in the preservation of life in recent years among the employes of the New York Central System was emphasized by George L. Barnes, supervising safety agent of the New York Central, at the annual safety meeting of employes of the railroad held here Thursday.

Sessions were held in both the morning and afternoon and were attended by 140 men of the maintenance, track and signal departments operating in this area. Dinner was served at Cuneo's.

In a forceful address, the supervising safety agent pointed out that the New York Central System had the best safety record of any railroad in this country, Canada or Mexico and gave statistical accounts to prove his assertion.

In recent years, the New York Central Railroad has reduced the accident fatalities among its employes approximately 80 per cent, a record, the speaker said, which was one to be proud of and rarely equalled among industries employing large numbers of men. The New York Central System employs some 120,000. The reduction in the accident death toll in the past 30 years has ranged from a high mark of 137 a year down to 22 a year.

The great strides toward the preservation of human life in the decreasing accident toll, he credited to the alertness and the great spirit of cooperation among the supervisors, the foreman and the general workers. Other major contributing factors were the addition of the most modern equipment and the safety educational program being carried on constantly and continuously among the employes.

The speaker told the employes that although the record of safety was outstanding they should strive for further reductions. He exhorted the Central men to continue their alertness and vigilance while on the job, because the accidents that have occurred were due primarily to human failings, carelessness and complacency upon the part of the workers.

He re-emphasized that the manual of safety rules issued by the New York Central System were very implicit and if followed out to the letter, the year 1951 would show even a greater reduction in the accident toll.

Interspersed throughout his address, the safety director cited cases showing where failure to comply with the rules had resulted in the death of employes.

The New York Central System for some time has been conducting a campaign to enlighten not only its employes but the general public to the cause of safety.

A local Home Safety Committee, comprised of employes of the railroad system, has distributed circulars and secured moving pictures for screening in the schools and at public gatherings all stressing the elimination of hazards and accident prevention.

Other speakers at the sessions stressed the urgency of safety programs, such as were being conducted by the New York Central, since accidents are the leading cause of death.

Warren A. Russell, director of visual education in the Kingston schools, screened several pictures on safety, one of which was of New York Central employes working out of the local departments.

Saxville Store Sold To New York Man

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Glass of Saxeville, town of Hurley, recently sold their store and residence to Robert Cella of 43 West 85th street, New York. Mr. Cella took possession on Tuesday and expects to reside in the apartment located over the store.

The property, in what is known as Riverside Park, is a sub-division of the so-called Maple Arch Farm located in the town of Hurley. In 1926 this tract of land was conveyed by the estate of the late Howard Myer to John H. Saxe. Myer for a number of years conducted a cigar store and cigar factory at 39 John street, Kingston, and manufactured two brands of cigars which were popular and well known to Kingstonians, the Chief Judge, named in honor of Chief Judge Alton B. Parker who in 1904 was Democratic Presidential nominee, and the Billy D., named after Myer's salesman, William Dugan. Dugan later went into the hardware and harness business on Wall street with John Costello, under the name of Costello and Dugan. A papier-mache horse standing in front of the store advertised the harness end of that business.

Sale of the property by Mr. and Mrs. Glass was negotiated through William Engelen, real estate broker of 68 Main street and the attorneys were Walter J. Miller for Glass and Henry Klein for Cella.

Youths Ask for Aspirin

New York, March 30 (AP)—Two youths asked for aspirin in a Brooklyn drug store and informed the clerk he was the one who was "getting the headache." They fled with $70 from the cash register. A few minutes later police picked up two 18-year-olds a mile from the J. L. Smith drug store last night and charged them with the robbery. Police said the clerk, Ben R. Wagner, 65, identified both of them. The two were booked as Dominick Centrone and John Wieczerzak, both of Brooklyn. Police said they had an imitation pistol that had been drilled so it could be fired. The two youths were charged with assault, robbery and illegal possession of weapons.
